Ring Supplying Los Angeles With Dope

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—(United Press)—Negotiations for the return of Clara Phillips, fugitive hammer murderess, reported in hiding in Chihuahua City, were under way Saturday night, Thomas Leo Woolwine, district attorney, announced. Phillips, the "liger woman," slayer of Alberto Meadows, lurked in the Mexican city, every movement was reported vatched by agents of J. R. Uribe, whose two sons are in jail here. Woolwine promised not to prosecute Herbert and Ferdinand Uribe, held on charges of joy riding in an automobile which did not belong to them, if their father gave the house and street address in Chihuahua City where the slayer of Mrs. Meadows was reported hiding, which he has promised to do.

Woolwine said he and his associates have harbored Mrs. Phillips. While she was surrounded by gunmen from the underworld, officers never dared to kidnap her and bring her across the boundary, but she left for Chihuahua City where the Mexicans were ready to aid in her capture.

"I know the house she is in in Chihuahua City and all I ask is the word of Mr. Woolwine that he will let my sons go if he tells me where Clara is," said Uribe. "It will be up to the officials to open negotiations with the president of Mexico for her return."

Woolwine said: "I accept Dr. Uribe's offer and I am taking the matter up with the Mexican government, asking her apprehension and arrest."

Woolwine said he was taking it up with the under-secretary of the interior, Valenzuela. Dr. Uribe's offer to reveal Clara's hiding place in Chihuahua City was largely responsible for the deportation of "Liger" Phillips from Mexico.

Woolwine said: "The fighting district attorney of Los Angeles has been determined to locate and capture Clara ever since her escape, and all the efforts of his office in securing her conviction to date."

For over two weeks, Woolwine has known of Clara's whereabouts and was cooperating in efforts to effect her capture. He had agreed not to prosecute Dr. Uribe's sons in case she was put across the border.

Then under the eyes of a half dozen private detectives, the Mexican secret service and several soldiers of fortune, Clara was spirited away from her stronghold in the home of a powerful citizen of Juarez and taken by her underworld friends to Chihuahua City where she is now reported hiding.

The Mexican government has already taken action according to dispatches received by Sheriff Trager from El Paso. Operations from there have been sent to Chihuahua City to cooperate with Mexican police in bringing about the "liger woman's" capture.

Sheriff Trager scouted Clara's statement made by John Fritzger, a. of the San Francisco Post, the little doctor informed the United Press, who first located her and informed the United Press of her presence in Juarez that she had no much influence in the underworld and, especially in the "liger" fingers that she could "keep all of the bulls in Mexico and the United States from bringing her back."

"If we can locate her, I am sure we can hold her and arrange for her return," Sheriff Trager said.

READY TO TELL.
But let the little Dr. Uribe "the most powerful influence in the state of Chihuahua," as he is called in El Paso tell his tale:
Immediately after my boys are assured of release, and I know the trap that has been pledged me will be kept, I will tell a representative of District Attorney Woolwine, the street and house number in Chihuahua City where Clara Phillips may be found. It is then up to him to act thru President Obregon, the little doctor informed the United Press, when interviewed at Juarez.

Dr. Uribe is one of the most respected and esteemed citizens of Juarez, a man of high education who is known as a deadly foe of the criminal element which centers in the border city. He is actively engaged in a war on "drug addicts and drug smuggling" and is considered the best informed man in the city in underworld affairs, holding a "ruler" like position as sanitary inspector and also head of the "liberalized hospital" where many wounded criminals go for treatment.

"I have nothing to gain by this," Dr. Uribe declared. "The freedom of my boys is already promised by chief of Police Oaks of Los An-

Dancer Scorns
U. S. Freedom,
Goes To RussiaIsadora Duncan Declares
Her Career Wrecked by Americans

(BY H. E. CAYLOR.)

NEW YORK.—(United Press).—Isadora Duncan, who came to America to dance with her soul but got "the bird" because she didn't wear enough clothes, while doing it, sailed on her return to Russia Saturday, after an "interview of hate" for everything American, including moonshine liquor. Serge Isine, her Russian husband, stood by her side approvingly as, waving ends of a bright red scarf about her neck, Isadora declared she is a "revolutionary," poured verbal vitriol upon newspaper men and scornfully laughed at "American freedom."

"Freedom in America?" Miss Duncan exclaimed, echoing the question of a reporter. "I would rather live in Russia on black bread and vodka than in the United States at the best hotels. We have freedom in Russia."

"Every morning here when I got up or went to bed, the people wanted to know what I ate, what I drank and where I slept. Why, I got up the other morning to find in the newspaper a story that my beloved Serge had given me a black eye. It was a damned lie."

"I don't know whether I will come back here or not. No prohibition in mine. Some of the liquor I drank here would kill an elephant. It might have killed me if I'd stayed much longer. Maybe it's a good thing I am going back to Russia."

Still, lambasting the red scarf in the face of the newspaper men who saw her off, she declared that the "people and capitalist newspapers, because I came here to teach them freedom and art, ruined my prosperous tour."

"When I started this tour, I intended to go to California but I only got as far as Chicago, and had to borrow money to get back from there."

Isadora declared she is against prohibition. Newspapers, their photographers and reporters.

The world west of Paris and Moscow.

"The newspapers have wrecked my career," she said in consenting to be interviewed after sending a sarcastic message out refusing to see the reporter. When she did consent to talk she did it with a determination to "not even" with America in general.

ART NOT WANTED.
"The people in the country do not want art," she declared, forgetting her Russo-Panish brogue for the moment.

"They don't know what art is. I came here to tell them and they put me on Ellis Island. This government of yours tries to persecute those who speak with freedom, but it can't stop me from thinking."

"If I came to you Americans as a European banker to borrow money I would get a great reception, but as a recognized artist, I landed on Ellis Island. When I arrived there they treated me as a dangerous revolutionist."

Well, yes, I am a revolutionist.

"No," she said, "I am an artist, not a Bolshevik, but revolutionaries at heart because they have to be."

With this ultimatum she took a last hostile look at the New York skyline and went below decks of the liner George Washington, just before the ship pulled out of its harbor.

She will return to Paris and Moscow, she said, to resume charge of her schools of classical dancing for children.

Mrs. Kavanaugh declared her husband deserted her six weeks ago and refused her pleas for reconciliation.

Kavanaugh will probably die, hospital attendants stated.

LAUSANNE.—(United Press).—Richard Washburn Child, American observer at the Lausanne conference, Saturday night offered mediation between Turks and allies on points of dispute that threaten to end the peace and possibly precipitate war in the Near East.

It was reported by a trustworthy source that the Turks will propose that the United States supreme court be invited to arbitrate the Mosul dispute, in which both Britain and Turkey claim possession of rich oil lands in Mesopotamia.

LONDON.—(United Press).—Mustapha Kemal, Turkish war lord, in a fighting speech at Smyrna, said Turkey will never yield on the Mosul question, according to a Central News dispatch.

AIDES TO LODGE
APPOINTEDWadsworth And Lenroot Named
As Party Leader Assistants

WASHINGTON.—(United Press).—Two assistants have been appointed to help Senator Lodge, Republican majority leader of the senate, repel attacks upon the administration's foreign policy.

Senator Lodge, Republican whip, and Lodge's chief aide, is not a ready debater. Lenroot and Wadsworth, both of them much younger than Lodge, are rough and tumble debaters. Lodge appointed them to "sit in" on the senate floor for him from now on, and repel anti-administration assaults.

Lenroot was appointed as representative of the progressive wing of the party, "and the middle west," it was announced. Wadsworth was named to represent "the more conservative wing, and the east."

The new arrangement is to continue only until the end of the present session, which will end March 3.

Senator Curtis, who made public the addition to the ranks of senatorial leadership emphasized the fact that it should not be construed as in any sense depriving Lodge of his leadership power.

Nevertheless, the appointments were considered to make certain consideration of the entire leadership question when the new congress will need all the leadership, brains and aggressiveness it can command, senators said, because of the slight margin of Republican control and only because some new senators, listed as Republicans, will in reality be independents.

Zero weather general throughout middle west.

CHICAGO.—A cold wave gradually enveloped the entire country Saturday night and weather bureaus predicted the spell would last for several days.

Minneapolis reported the "lowest" temperature of the winter, 25 below zero. At Denver it was 21 below.

Texas and the southwest were swept with blizzards and snow. The worst snow storm was raging in the Pan Handle.

Snow fell in western states followed by brisk winds and low temperatures. New Orleans, where reported ideal weather with the temperature at 71 degrees.

HARDING TO SEEK
RENOMINATIONDesires To Vindicate Principles
Of Administration

CHANGES MIND IN MATTER

Had Previously Decided Not To Enter Race

(BY PAUL R. MALLON.)
WASHINGTON.—(United Press).—A campaign to insure the re-election of President Harding for the presidency in 1924 is now being undertaken, with his own consent—by his friends here, it was learned Saturday night.

The president has decided to accede to the request of his friends to desire a second term in the White House.

Unwilling himself to seek re-nomination, Mr. Harding has agreed to an active campaign in his behalf, because of criticism which has arisen in some quarters over the conduct of his administration. He advises this criticism is entirely unjust and due to lack of knowledge among the people as to the true motives involved.

Up to a few weeks ago, Mr. Harding held to his decision that he does not desire a second term in the White House. The physical strain of the office and the illness of Mrs. Harding had induced him to make up his mind that he would retire.

SEEN AS DUTY.
But since the November election when many of his Republican friends were swept out of both houses of congress, in favor of progressives and Democrats, much criticism has come to his ears. Upon the advice of his friends, he has now reached the conclusion that it is practically his duty that he see the vindication of his principle in the next election.

The actual campaign will be begun when the president begins his Alaska trip. He will make 20 speeches or more in the larger cities of the United States on the way to Alaska and returning. The speeches will constitute a fighting defense of the administration activities thus far and outline the course he intends to pursue during the next two years. They will point to the farm credit legislation enacted by the Republican congress, the steps taken in the conference on naval arms limitation last year in Washington and embody a plea for the merchant marine act, some times designated as the ship subsidy.

CLEVELAND.—William J. Smith, 33, must serve from five to 20 years in the state penitentiary for the murder of his friend, Henry Jones, common pleas Judge Walther decided here Saturday. Smith was charged with manslaughter.

One-Man Type To Be Operated On City Rail LinesFive of Order of 20 to be Placed In Service this

CHANGES MIND IN MATTER

Enter Race

Details of the construction of 20 one-man cars to be placed in operation by the Lima City Street Railway company have been made public by officials.

When the first five cars arrive in Lima late in February, to be shipped from the factory February 11, the car riding public will get their first "close-up" of them.

Until then they will have to be content with a photograph of the equipment and a general description of the cars and the manner in which they have been operated elsewhere and as they will probably be run here.

The cars are 28 feet long, seven feet and 11 inches wide and approximately 11 feet high. In this space there will be two vestibules and main seating section large enough to accommodate 33 persons.

Entrance and exit doors are placed at each end of the car and will be two feet, five inches wide. It will be possible to operate the cars from either end, making it unnecessary for loops to be placed at the ends of each line.

USE FORWARD DOOR.
In entering and leaving the car the front door will be used by passengers. These doors are to be so equipped that they will also be opened until the car has stopped and must be closed before the car can start.

This automatic arrangement makes it impossible for anyone to be caught in the doors while either entering or leaving the car. It is pointed out that they will also be shut off and the brakes set should the motor man-conductor take his hands off the control lever.

This makes it impossible for the car to run wild should the man in charge be injured or become ill. By the use of these safety devices it is practically impossible for an accident to befall the occupants of the car.

Seats will be of rattan and will be amply supplied with springs. Medium density shade will take care of the lighting and 16 car and two cab heaters, controlled automatically, will keep the cars heated.

Mechanical equipment of the cars will be of the very best, and of modern design. It is manufactured by the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company. The cars are being built by the J. G. Britt company, Philadelphia.

In other cities where cars of this type have been installed it has been found that they are very speedy and are able to operate on frequent schedules. They are easy riding, it is said.

SAVING IS SEEN.
Under the system proposed the fares will be collected and the car operated by one man. This will result in a considerable saving in overhead.

Because of the inability of the one man to handle the trolley on switches and shuttles, it is believed that a rearrangement of the lines in the square will be even and consequently greater accommodation of transfer passengers.

Five of the cars will be placed in operation upon their arrival late this month and the remainder of the order, 15 cars, will be placed in service on or after April 15, it is announced. This is even more than is required by the franchise under which the company will operate.

SHERIFF WILL GO GUNNING

Less Than One-Half of 4,000 In County Untagged

"Sausage" may be cheaper—after February 13.

Such may be the result of an edict issued Saturday by county officials, after a meeting held to find a solution of the unlicensed dog problem.

It will be an unlucky day for the canines not wearing a metal tag if Sheriff Harvey R. Crosson draws a bead on him with his trusty firearm.

County commissioners, Sheriff Crosson, Prosecuting Attorney Eugene T. Lippincott and Frank Kilham, humane officer who attended the meeting decided to allow owners until the date named to obtain tags.

It was held that there may be some persons in the county owning dogs who may be unaware of the law requiring them to buy tags. Some time, it is believed, ought to be given in which to visit the county auditor's office and take out licenses.

DAYS ARE NUMBERED.
But on and after February 13, the open season on canines will be on. Many a fleet-footed hound is probably fated to bite the dust.

County commissioners stand ready to supply funds for ammunition required to carry out the roundup. Crosson announced Saturday he will devote as much time to chasing unlicensed dogs as can be spared from more weighty duties.

There are, it is estimated, 4,000 dogs in Allen Co. Less than one-half of them have been provided with 1922 tags up to date. County Auditor C. R. Phillips asserted Saturday he is prepared to issue dog tags as fast as owners appear with the money to pay from them.

"This is final notice," declared Prosecuting Attorney Lippincott Saturday. "We do not want to issue any more dog tags, but their owners must come to time."

Chicago Banker's Wife Slashes Throat With Razor

CHICAGO.—(United Press).—Mrs. Anita Braslawski, absconding banker's wife, attempted suicide Saturday night after her husband was arrested in New Orleans on information she furnished to authorities.

Informing that Eugene F. Braslawski, missing president of the defunct International State Bank, whose accounts were found $100,000 short, was taken into custody in New Orleans, Mrs. Braslawski slashed her throat with a razor.

Braslawski disappeared two months ago after examiners ordered his bank closed. Mrs. Braslawski also vanished at that time, but returned here several days ago and revealed her husband's hiding place. She has been hysterical since giving out the information to police masters.

"I didn't mean to tell," she declared at the hospital, where physicians said she probably would recover.

Braslawski, according to police, lived in New Orleans as Eugene Miller.

Mrs. Braslawski intended returning to him after concluding some of the banker's affairs here.

UNREST GROWING

Berlin Regime Declared
Losing Faith In Its Ability To Resist

BERLIN.—(Sunday).—Chancellor Cuno went to the Ruhr Sunday to exert his personal influence in stiffening resistance to the French occupation. The German chancellor will make his speech at Essen.

(BY GUS M. OEHM.)

BERLIN.—(United Press).—For six reasons the Cuno government's position has been rendered precarious by this week's events in the Ruhr.

Government observers' reports, combined with information from industrial organizations and intelligence bureaus gathered by the United Press Saturday night show:

1.—A tendency now only incipient, to demand the government reimbursement of industrialists for wages in the event of forthcoming unemployment.

2.—Belief there is inclination on the part of the government to avoid such payments if possible, despite earlier pledges.

3.—Growing discontent in the Ruhr among workers; their condition is demonstrated by the protest of Dortmund miners to the authorities that they must have more wages and more bread.

4.—Leanness of union treasuries, especially non-called Christians, in the Ruhr strike employment funds at low ebb.

5.—Socialists, while still quiet, are manifesting dissatisfaction with the government.

6.—Last but not least, the government while still broadcasting its slogan: "No negotiations under bayonets," is carefully studying the possibility of indicating willingness to negotiate if assured the French will remove their forces—but not necessarily in advance of the transaction.

In other words, the industrialists who have been the financial backbone of the Ruhr resistance and the workers who have kept up a stiff morale in the face of French bayonets, are beginning to lose confidence in the Cuno government's ability to reimburse them and there are indications the government itself, which has stood up against France in a way no previous regime since the armistice has done, is losing something of the original faith in its ability to resist.

VIEWS OF LLOYD GEORGE.
LONDON.—(United Press).—The ominous feature of the Ruhr occupation is that this is the first time the Germans have stood up—David Lloyd George, former premier of Great Britain, declared in an interview Saturday evening following his return from a vacation in Spain.

Formerly, Lloyd George pointed out, the Germans gave way. When France made a reparations threat, or Great Britain sent a note about defaults or boundary difficulties, the world government saw fit to acquiesce quietly to allied demands.

"Now," he said, "Germany is solidifying; it supports the government. On a cash basis, France, by her Ruhr ventures, is going to lose—whatever happens," the Welshman continued.

DEBT SETTLEMENT.
Lloyd George was interviewed concerning the British debt settlement.

"The terms are pretty stiff—I cannot say unfair," he said.

"But I can't help thinking a better arrangement might have been negotiated in view of the fact our debts were contracted entirely in the interests of the allies."

America is not pressing any of the others.

Word was received from Paris that the French government found it impossible to pay her debt to the United States on terms accepted by Great Britain.

Lloyd George's attitude of leniency toward Germany and hostility toward the Turks was a legacy Premier Bonar Law has found somewhat embarrassing in recent developments, declared he was desirous of withdrawal of British troops from the Rhine.

That would only make things worse," he said emphatically. "I was rather sorry to see the Americans withdraw."

The former premier has received pressing invitations to go to the United States.

"I should like very much to do so," Lloyd George said, "but it won't be possible until late this year—at all."

WOMAN ROBBED.
CLEVELAND.—A masked bandit held up Mrs. Joan Laiken and Mrs. Janet Warren, in the former's home here Saturday. When Mrs. Laiken handed the robber a $5 bill, all the money she had, he saw a $100 diamond ring on her finger. He forced her to give him the ring.

SHAFFER DIVORCE CASE HALTED

IS "SPIRITED ABOUT CITY"

Young Mother Making Fight For Her Child

Question as to the custody of Baby Juanita Shaffer, which may involve a conflict in authority of juvenile and common pleas courts, caused the divorce trial of Audrey Shaffer against Omer Shaffer, laborer, 219 S. Jackson-st., to be halted by Judge Fred C. Becker Saturday.

Judge Becker is seeking to discover why the baby has been spirited about the city from family to family and is now in the keeping of Shaffer's mother.

Records of juvenile court called in evidence show that Juanita was last placed in the care of Tony Rink, butcher, 1216 E. North-st. She was taken away from her mother, a girl of 18, employed in a local cigar factory, at a hearing recently, after the father had told juvenile Judge J. H. Hamilton that she was not getting proper care. The mother was out at night, the father testified.

Shaffer, testifying before Judge Becker Saturday, disclosed he had been arrested for failure to support his wife.

Since the baby was taken from the mother witnesses declared, it has been in a number of homes. Judge Becker sought to learn why. CASE POSTPONED

He postponed the case until he could consult with juvenile authorities and learn their attitude in the matter.

Juvenile Judge J. H. Hamilton could not recall all the details of the case Saturday. He asserted that if the child was being taken from home to home without authority of the court, he would reopen the case.

There are some 200 children in Allen-co under his jurisdiction, he said, and it is difficult to keep track of them all. There are instances on record, he asserted, where children are given to one family, and later turn up in possession of another.

Mrs. Shaffer, weeping copiously told Judge Becker Saturday she wanted her baby. She is earning $17 a week making cigars and has arranged with a woman friend to care for little Juanita, she explained.

She was married to Shaffer September 27, 1920. He left her five days after the baby was born in August 1921 she alleged. He did not want the child, he is said to have declared. Later he came only to leave, taking the child with him. He obtained aid of the courts. Later the mother had him a rested for non-support and he was ordered to pay her a weekly sum.

Just full when in errors, the wife said, he returned with the child. He stayed three days. Two days, she said, were spent idling about the house. On the third day Shaffer went hunting.

Decision in the case will be made when the status of Juanita is straightened out, Judge Becker announced.

DR. GRANT EXPECTED TO CONTINUE FIGHT

NEW YORK — The "liberal" wing of New York of the Protestant Episcopal clergy looks to Dr. Percy Silliman Grant to continue in his sermon Sunday the fight precipitated by his dramatic disclaimer of Christ's divinity and his attack on consecration of churches.

Dr. Grant has given no indication of the course he will follow now that Bishop Manning has contended himself with administering a personal rebuke instead of insisting upon a trial for heresy. The outspoken pastor of the Church of the Ascension has denied himself to interviewers since receipt of the bishop's letter warning him against further unorthodox theories.

A group of liberal ministers came warmly to Dr. Grant's defense Saturday in a statement expressing keen regret that Bishop Manning has descended to "personal abuse" of the former.

DEEP FURROWS WORN IN MAN'S FACE BY TEARS

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio. — Tears are wearing deep furrows in the face of Homer Martin, 31.

Martin has wept almost continuously since he was jailed Thursday on a manslaughter charge following the death of his father-in-law, William Sears, 68.

"I have never seen a case of such continual weeping," said Dr. Edward Cook. Martin's friends, who have not seen him in the last three days would scarcely recognize him tonight.

Attempts to question Martin, police said, bring only a groaning. "I don't remember," he says.

The direct cause of Sears' death still is somewhat of a mystery. Physicians have not determined whether he died from a blow on the head, received in an altercation with Martin, or of heart failure induced by over-excitement.

FRIGID, MORE COLD COMING

Generally fair Sunday and Monday. Colder Sunday. That is accepted as meaning that while (will be) crisp and snappy in the matter of temperature, it is expected that the sun will cast its beneficent rays over the earth in a generous manner.

Cold wave is on time as promised, and with the sort of severity forecast, giving the grounds as a day as the day progressed Saturday. Temperatures are predicted for this Lord's Day is an increased argument against long too much store by the February 2d fallacy, the prophecy of the goosebump long range prognosticator or belief harbored by folks who measure the length of the fur of a wild animal to determine in advance the severity of winter.

Considering that zero weather has been almost a minus quantity heretofore during the present winter and that Boreas was on a real rampage Saturday night, honors may be expected to be about even between the G. H. and anti-G. H. advocates.

All hope on prospects, released as advanced calculations, tended to indicate an open winter the most part of the way. And the predictions have not been far wrong thus far.

ALASKA IS ROCKED BY EARTHQUAKE

Severe Shocks Are Recorded in United States

CHICAGO—(United Press)—The most severe earthquake ever recorded on instruments at the United States weather bureau rocked the frozen steppes of northern Alaska or Siberia Saturday.

Starting at 10:30 Saturday morning the quakes continued until nearly 3 o'clock.

Observers at the weather bureau here declared the shocks probably caused a gigantic upheaval of the earth's surface.

The tremors were registered on seismographs throughout the country throwing the recording needle from its setting in some instances.

The shocks were most severe between 11 and 11:30 a. m. The earthquake was in a general northwesterly direction from Chicago. It was placed at 4,788 miles distant.

Observers declared they would have to await reports from other observatories before it would be possible to place the exact distance at which the quake occurred.

Officials here declared the upheaval probably occurred in the wilderness of the north and it was doubtful if its effects on the land would ever be known. It was pointed out that in ages past, similar great upheavals caused the rising of mountain ranges and corresponding depressions which became seas. Local observers agreed that the shocks Saturday may have caused the giant upheaval of a new range of mountains.

CIVIL WAR HONORS TANGLED IN IOWA

DES MOINES, Ia. — After a silence of 62 years, a claim has been paid to Shelby Norman of Muscatine, Ia., as the first Iowa to lay down his life in the Civil war.

A life-size bronze statue to Norman stands on the Civil War Soldiers' and Sailors' Memorial on the state house grounds.

But now state authorities don't know what they are going to do about the statue.

When a protest against the honor given Norman came from an old soldier, an investigation revealed that Cyrus W. West of Oskaloosa, Ia., was killed at Monroe, Mo., on July 11, 1861. Norman fell at Wilson's Creek Aug. 10 of the same year.

West is to receive a suitable marker on his grave to make up for the oversight—but what's going to happen to Norman's statue?

And the dumbfounded state historian, Edgar Harlan, asks:

"What if we find out now that there are about twelve who were killed before West?"

MONKEY GLAND DECLARED BENEFICIAL TO WOMEN

PARIS — The monkey can contribute its glands to women with as much effect as to man, according to Dr. Voronoff, renowned gland expert.

"It is only a question of time," he said, "until women will be able to preserve a youthful complexion if they have one, and postpone the first gray hair indefinitely. The operation is the same in principle as the one which has proved so effective for men."

The operation will not be as simple as it is with man, but it will have the same happy results, according to tests just completed by the famous Russian, who declared that he is now on the verge of the most important discoveries.

At the last meeting of the Society of Comparative Pathology he exhibited the 27th man who has undergone the monkey gland operation. All the doctors present admitted that rejuvenation was an accomplished fact.

BIRTH ANNOUNCED
A son was born February 2 to Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Miranda, in Toledo, according to announcement received here Saturday. Mrs. Miranda, formerly Miss Melba Matt, of Lima, is at the home of her sister, Mrs. George Shamkow, in Toledo. The Mirandas reside in Saskatchewan, Canada.

BURN TO DEATH
ST. LOUIS—Three negro children were burned death in a fire which destroyed a residence here Saturday. The blaze was started when one of the children of Dan Jones fell into an open fireplace, his clothes taking fire. The flames leaped to a nearby curtain, the other two children being fatally burned before the fire was discovered by their parents.

goes, immediately after Phil Alguino is captured. I act in the Clara Phillips matter in addition only to show that I will keep my word to District Attorney Woolwine as well.

"Two weeks ago when I first knew that Clara Phillips, who is an undesirable American, a suspected drug addict and a member of a drug ring here, was hiding in Juarez, I promised that should my boys, who are guilty of no crime, be given a fair deal, I would aid in the effort to deport her and also Alguino.

"Now you have Alguino in chains, enroute for Galveston, by boat. You shall also have your Clara Phillips. CANNOT ESCAPE

"The woman cannot escape me. My friends thru the state of Chihuahua and further into Mexico are aiding me. If she leaves Chihuahua City, she leaves only under constant surveillance. That this woman is Clara Phillips and that she is engaged in drug traffic which reaches into Los Angeles itself, I know.

"It was never quite possible for me to reach her during her days in Juarez. She was surrounded by as strong a gang of criminals as ever gathered here.

"I know I can't find her, but she was the guest for a time of a prominent citizen here in whose private home it would be impossible to capture her. Then she disappears into the underworld. There she could have stayed with her criminals about her for an indefinite time.

"But she made her mistake when she fled to Chihuahua City. She cannot escape now. I have her.

"I will send proper officers, mind you, not reward seekers, or agents for newspapers which offer rewards for news, to her when the Americans show me I have not been fooled."

It is common knowledge here that the Urbies, Herbert and Bernardino, arrested in possession of a stolen car which they were charged with taking for a joy ride, were being held merely for purposes of one of the unique international trades, which have been going on for a long time, usually without much publicity.

IN JAIL THREE MONTHS

The two boys have been in jail for three months. Despite the fact that by law a complaint must be filed within five days and the prisoner arraigned, they are still held in the city jail, booked "for investigation."

They have been content to remain in jail this time, confident that Dr. Urbie, a Mexican supreme judge, would finally arrange some scheme which would obtain their liberty.

"They could have forced either the filing of a complaint or dismissal on 24 hours' notice, by asking a writ of Habeas corpus. But this they decided to do, not wishing to risk going to court.

Chief Oaks' purpose in not filing a complaint was to enable him to turn them loose, making the jail blotter simply "dismissed by order of the chief," when Phil Alguino was put over in exchange for them.

The boys last Monday received a letter from their father saying he had Clara under surveillance and that he would either succeed in putting her or Phil Alguino across the line this week.

Clara made a temporary get-away, but from Oregon this week ordered Alguino, who since the unsuccessful attempts to "strong-arm" the border, has been held a prisoner by the Mexican government, deported.

Alguino is now aboard an American tanker, under guard of two Mexican officers, bound for Galveston.

Chief Oaks, last October, in company with several soldiers of fortune, tried to avenge the police department for the death of one of its members by applying for "law of the Rio Grande" to "Little Phil."

Phil was put under ether by a supposed physician, in reality a soldier of fortune, in the effort to reward and place in an ambulance. Chief Oaks was also in the car. When the ambulance neared the international bridge bound for El Paso "Little Phil" came to and began to yell. The car was stopped and Oaks and his companion beaten and nearly mobbed by Phil's outraged under world friends.

Again Chief Oaks tried to bring him over thru negotiations with Dr. Urbie.

Chief Oaks arrived at the border several days too late and Phil was returned to the interior. The story eventually leaked out and the federal government took a hand and incarcerated Alguino.

MEXICO OFFERS AID
MEXICO CITY (United Press)—"If Clara Phillips is found to be living openly in Chihuahua City as it appears, she undoubtedly is, and boasting that she cannot be returned to the United States, the Mexican government will act promptly."

Under-Secretary of the Interior, Valenzuela told the United Press Saturday night.

Speaking for Minister Calles, who is not in town, Valenzuela said his government would cooperate in every way possible with the American officials in bringing the Los Angeles "hammer murderess" to justice.

"Your government has often cooperated with me in putting undesirable over the border," said Valenzuela.

"Clara could easily be deported if it is found that she evaded the immigration laws in entering Mexico and it appears obvious that she did."

No official information has been received here as yet, that the hunted Clara is in Chihuahua City. The governor has been asked by telegram to report in detail.

CAMERON FUNERAL WILL TAKE PLACE ON MONDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Ethel R. Cameron, 51, wife of Blair Cameron, who died Friday morning at Lakewood, Ohio, from pneumonia, will be held Monday at 10:30 a. m. from the Anguize church. Interment in Anguize cemetery.

Besides the husband, she is survived by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George Davis of Elida and two daughters, Lulu Ruth Cameron and Myrtle Ruth Cameron and one son, Robert Cameron.

CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY WILL RECEIVE BIDS FOR ITS BUILDING THIS WEEK

Construction of the creamery for the Farmers Equity Union Creamery Co., a cooperative concern, will be started next week, J. A. Palmer, production manager, said Saturday.

This will be a one-story building 100 feet by 140 feet in size and when fully equipped for the manufacture of butter and ice cream will cost approximately $75,000. It will be built of brick and concrete and will have large window space.

Bids for the work will be received and opened Thursday and it is planned to have the construction work start at once, providing it is possible to let the contract, Palmer said. An eight inch well now being drilled may be completed this week.

William Klingner is president of the organization; H. J. Sunderland, vice-president; Oran Dickinson, secretary-treasurer, and P. L. Betts general manager.

FORD MUST STAND EXAMINATION

Required By Court Order To Reveal Railroad Plans

NEW YORK—(United Press)—Henry Ford must stand examination by a commission regarding his plans and intentions in connection with management of the Detroit, Toledo and Iron-ore Railroad, according to a decision handed down by supreme Court Justice Gagegan.

Ford owns 90 per cent of the road's bonds and about 98 per cent of the stock.

Leen Tanenbaum, New York, real estate broker, alleged Ford sought to exclude him and other small stockholders from participating in profits of the road by means of a lease which would turn the property over to another company created by Ford.

The order of Justice Gagegan requires Ford to appear for examination before a commission in Detroit representing the New York supreme court. The road at present is being run at a yearly loss of nearly a quarter million.

Tanenbaum admits the profits in which he wishes to share being things of the future.

Ford's defense in the hearing which resulted in Judge Gagegan's decision was that he had abandoned the lease to which Tanenbaum objected but his attorneys refused to agree to an injunction making the abandonment irrevocable.

U. S. HEAVY LOSER

Operation Of Railroads During War Cost $1,800,000,000

WASHINGTON—(United Press)—Federal operation of railroads during the war cost the country approximately $1,800,000,000. Director General of Railroads Davis Saturday reported to congress.

Four hundred million dollars in railroad securities will be turned over to the treasury when the affairs of the United States railroad administration are finally liquidated about October 1, next, Davis stated.

These securities represent obligations given the government by railroads for the vast war-time expenditures of the railroad administration for additions and betterment to their lines.

Davis informed congress that the outstanding unsold claims of roads growing out of the 26 months of federal control, aggregating $196,112,197 would be settled without need of further appropriation by congress.

NAGGING, BLOWS, ABUSE ALLEGED IN DIVORCE SUIT

Nagging tactics, coupled with blows and abuse, are alleged as reasons for seeking freedom from marital bonds by Mrs. Laura Young, who instituted divorce proceedings against Benjamin Young in common pleas court Saturday.

The couple parted January 14, after a brief but stormy career in double harness.

Plaintiff avers she is the owner of a few pieces of household furniture, which the defendant is alleged to have threatened to sell. She seeks an injunction restraining such action during pendency of the suit.

Alimony and a decree is asked.

LIMA LEGION HEAD IS NAMED TO STATE BODY

Maurice Connor, 405 S. McDonnell, commander of William Paul Gallagher Post No. 38 American Legion has been named a member of the Ohio Legion's new committee of Americanization, according to announcement from Department Commander Gilbert Bettman, Saturday.

Milton Campbell, of Cincinnati, is chairman.

LIQUOR POSSESSION CHARGED
Loose stones near a cold air pipe in the cellar of 627 N. Main-st. resulted in the discovery of a jug of alleged illicit liquor and the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Anspach late Saturday. The couple are held on the charge of possession.

LIMA STORES WILL NOT BE CLOSED TOMORROW

Lima stores will not be closed Monday. Merchants Saturday asked The Lima News to inform the buying public of this fact. False reports that business would be suspended part of the day at least have been circulated and caused merchants no end of trouble.

Officials of the merchants' section of the Board of Commerce also announced that there would be no closing Monday.

WELFARE EFFORT DRIVE PLANNED

Increased Aid For Under-Nourished Children

BOOKLET DETAILS RESULTS

Nutrition Work Carried On In City Schools

Demands upon the Allen-co Child Welfare association for food to aid the many undernourished children in the city have made it necessary to initiate a membership campaign, it was announced Saturday.

During cold winter weather many children would be compelled to leave school if it were not for the unfailing efforts of the association thru the schools of the city, it is asserted.

During the past year nutrition work has been carried on in the Lincoln, Emerson, Irving and Highland Park schools. Classes were formed and individual cases studied by the school nurse. Some remarkable gains were recorded by the children.

A booklet has been issued by several members of the association to show the work which is being done and to outline the needs for help.

The booklet was compiled by J. A. Moore, T. L. G. Work Done

This booklet has been published in order that the people of Lima may obtain an accurate and complete story of the work. It shows where every dollar received has been spent and gives concrete examples of the results obtained.

In carrying out the membership campaign, the city has been divided into school districts, each in charge of one or more interested workers who will direct the campaign. They are as follows:

Emerson, Mrs. Thomas Schultz, 608 N. Jefferson-st.; Franklin, Mrs. M. S. Thompson and Mrs. J. E. Grosjean; Fairport, Mrs. Frank Smith, 429 S. Nye-st.; Garfield, Mrs. T. O. Stanner, 225 S. Main-st.; Horace Mann, Mrs. Melvin C. Light, College-av.; Irving, Mrs. Albert R. Klueber, 444 W. Grand-av. and Lincoln, Mrs. L. S. Gilmore, 928 S. Atlantic-av.

Longfellow, Mrs. C. L. Smith, 1139 E. High-st.; Lowell, Mrs. W. E. Bayly, 1707 Lakewood-av.; McKinley, Mrs. G. W. Muntis, 428 Prospect-av.; Richardson, Mrs. D. R. Cantley, 973 W. Wayne-st.; Washington, Mrs. J. R. Mowrey, 719 Dingle-av. and Whittier, Mrs. Walter Cleaver, 1401 Norval-av.

ACTOR KILLS SELF

Discouraged By Inability To Make Living In Movies

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—(United Press)—Wallace Reid's tragedy rose from the grave Saturday night and claimed another victim.

Claude Tyner Waltman, young movie actor and writer, committed suicide after leaving a note signifying that he was discouraged at his inability to make a living in the movies and support his wife and child.

His final failure to sell a story about body written in connection with Wally Reid.

A note on a picture of Reid read: "To my pal,"

Mrs. Wallace Reid was much affected when she learned of Waltman's death.

She declared he had become acquainted with Wallace, after a dope peddler, preying on his poverty, had sent him to Wally with some dope.

LIVES IN NEW YORK ON 50 CENTS A DAY

NEW YORK—A German professor tried to live in New York on 50 cents a day. He failed, but came as near doing it as anyone in New York, except a Jew, ever did.

Dr. Ferdinand Danneberg, professor at Hamburg University, landed in New York with a month's salary from his university job. When he put his marks into American money, he had $7. He came here to collect American scientific literature for his university.

When he stepped off the steamship, where he was listed as a seaman, he bought an apple. It cost him 600 German marks. He thereupon crossed apples off his menu.

Just how the professor lived on 50 cents a day for the two weeks he remained in New York is not told in full. He breakfasted and lunched on rolls and chocolate. He had a lot of professional friends in New York and they helped him out by inviting him to dinner every evening. He wouldn't accept charity even from men in his profession. His carfare was the greatest expense, as he had to spend a good deal of time traveling over New York in search of the books he required for the purchase of which he had an established credit.

DEFECTIVE FLUES CAUSE TWO SATURDAY FIRE CALLS

Defective flues caused two small fires Saturday afternoon and night.

The first call for the fire department was from the home of Mrs. Mary Zink, 1040 N. Main-st. at 3 p. m. Saturday. Damage $5.

The second came from the home of H. T. Perry, 310 McPherson-av. at 8:20 p. m. Saturday. Damage was estimated at $50. The house is owned by Mrs. H. A. Moore.

LIQUOR FILTER FOUND
A complete filter, which police assert was being used to transform denatured alcohol into a drinkable product, was taken in a raid on a downtown rooming house Saturday night. Homer Scott, claiming home, was taken into custody but after consultation it was decided to defer the placing of definite charges against him until later.

PROGRAMS ANNOUNCED LIMA LUNCHEON CLUBS

An "Introduction" meeting will be staged by the members of the Kiwanis club Tuesday noon at the Hotel Argonne.

Each member will be asked to introduce the man sitting on his left by giving his name, nickname, profession and hobby. There will also be a speaker, but his identity has not yet been made public.

"Money" will be the topic of a talk by Rev. Barnhardt before the Rotary club Monday noon at the Hotel Norval. He will probably discuss the financing of the 500 new homes to be built in Lima this year. It is announced.

Program for the Lions club has not been announced.

8 ARE ENDORSED FOR STATE JOBS

Men Recommend To Governor For Important Places

Eight Allen-co men have been endorsed by the Democratic executive committee for appointment to positions under the state administration, according to announcement made Saturday by Lehr Miller, county chairman, and J. M. Madigan, secretary of the committee.

At least one of those placed on the preferred list by the committee has already been appointed to the position for which endorsement was accorded. Merrill Brennenman, Lima man, has been named as superintendent of budget in the Department of Finance. Brennenman has been located in Columbus for some time.

Dr. F. H. Wittenbrook, of Lima, is endorsed for state dental examiner. Dr. Wittenbrook is a dentist, 407 Opera House block.

C. Dale Creman, secretary of the Allen-co fair board, is recommended for appointment as manager of the state fair. Creman is also interested in contracting work.

J. H. Callahan, former probation officer, juvenile department of the office of probate judge, was given endorsement for appointment to a position in some department on the state government, as was also H. J. Lawler, 625 N. Main-st.

Daniel S. Blank, 501 Holmes-av., is endorsed for inspector of work-shops and factories.

N. W. Basinger, Bluffton, former assistant county treasurer and the Democratic nominee for election as treasurer, is endorsed for appointment as deputy state fire marshal.

Clarence Fraunfelder, American-born former deputy sheriff and a candidate for sheriff in the August primary, is approved as an applicant for appointment as deputy state prohibition officer.

These endorsements were voted at a meeting of the committee held Friday night, with nine of the 15 members present.

LIFELONG RESIDENT OF COUNTY, MRS. PHILLIPS, DIES OF HEMORRHAGE

Mrs. Josephine L. Phillips, 64, of 912 Brice-av., died Saturday at 5:45 at her home from cerebral hemorrhage, within a half hour after being afflicted.

She was born in Gomer, and had lived her entire life in Allen-co. Mrs. Phillips is survived by two daughters, Mrs. John S. Williams, 822 State-st., and Mrs. F. H. Wittenbrook, 113 Lincoln-av.

Two grandsons, John Martin Wittenbrook and Robert Eugene Williams; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Walther, Brice-av., and Mrs. Ralph Durnbaugh, Grand Rapids, Mich.; one brother, James Nichols, Scott-st.

Funeral services at the late residence Tuesday at 2 p. m. in charge of the Rev. Arthur F. Lindbeck, pastor of the First Congregational church. Interment in Woodlawn cemetery.

COUNTY OFFICIALS TO DISCUSS ROAD PROGRAM

Grover F. Clements, district engineer of the state highway department, will attend a meeting of district engineers, court surveyors and county commissioners with the department at Columbus Monday.

Allen-co commissioners who attend the meeting are scheduled to discuss plans for road projects for 1923, with state highway heads.

So far the only money obtained by the county for road improvements in the coming year is $80,000 federal aid on the Lima-Ottawa-rd.

With this small amount available, it is probable that the only type of paving considered will be bituminous macadam.

OVERHEAD PLANS AGAIN HALTED

County Surveyor Gains Point in Fight for Tunnel

AFFECTS METCALF PROJECT

City, County Officials Partisans For Air Route

To tunnel or not to tunnel in S. Metcalf-st?

City, county and railroad officials are still at variance regarding the mode of eliminating the dangerous 13 track grade crossing on the L. E. & W. railroad right of way.

Manager C. A. Bingham, commissioners and rail heads, are partisans of the air route.

County Surveyor Walter R. Toy wants to burrow under the tracks. Charges and counter charges are being hurled, between the opposing camps.

Bingham, while willing to concede that a subway or tunnel is not an engineering impossibility, remains to be convinced that it is practical.

He points out that difficulty will be experienced in draining it, and it will have to be illuminated night and day, at large expense.

To build a tunnel, he adds, will delay the project another year.

SAYS TUNNEL CHEAPER

Toy asserts a tunnel can be put under the tracks at a saving to the taxpayers of about $75,000. Moreover, he declares a tunnel will be permanent, while an overhead will have to be replaced every 25 to 30 years, at enormous cost.

By altering the grade of a proposed sewer in the vicinity, adequate drainage can be obtained, he states, without resorting to use of pumps.

Surveyor Toy gained a point in the argument during the past week when railroad engineers agreed to allow him two weeks to draw up plans and prepare estimates of the cost of digging a subway.

These plans are partly finished.

On Topics o' th' Day

Th' biographies o' th' great men t'day is purty poor readin'. They We expect t' be readin' about Chester Berry any day now, with illustrations coverin' his whole early life. Chester's mother an' father lived here about an hour after they wuz married, but somehow we allus seem t' think o' him as an 'ole town boy. He's very successful at somethin' in th' east, but we don't know what it is. But th' lives o' modern "great" men don't read nothin' like th' lives o' Lincoln, Garfield, Rockefeller, Cleveland, Wansmaker, Caruso, Buffalo Bill, or even Judge Pusey, o' Tulip, Indiana. Jest fer instance let's take a peep int' th' early life o' Judge Pusey. Biography records scarcely a finer example o' intelligence an' application leadin' ther possessor out o' th' most unpropitious circumstances t' honor an' affluence. Pusey's father wuz a man that could drink or leave it alone, so he wuz soon set t' work, walkin' eleven miles t' his task an' carryin' his dinner, which consisted of a cold boiled turnip. As he trudged along th' turnpike he studied from such ole, dilapidated books as he wuz lucky enough t' pick up. Sometimes it would be Ray's arithmetic, or th' speeches o' Macaulay, or McGuffey's.

They answer one objection by Bingham and railroad men, as the walks for pedestrians are planned to be raised some five feet above the roadway.

County commissioners while not committed to either plan, believe there should be no delay.

Prosecuting Attorney Eugene T. Lippincott expressed himself as favoring an overhead Saturday. He declared it is impossible to build any-thing else and carry out the orders of the court. He would not express an opinion however, on which he believed the most practical and least expensive plan.

CLEVELAND BOY, 9, IS SLAIN BY BROTHER, 11

CLEVELAND — Johnny Jones, 9, has gone on his last "wild animal" hunt.

He was shot and fatally wounded by his brother James, 11, during a "hunt" in their home here Saturday.

When the "hunt" started, James first was the "wild animal" and Johnny's rifle was a broom and his report was "boom."

Then Johnny became the "animal." James, however, had obtained his father's revolver, which he believed was not loaded.

When the "animal" poked its head from behind a davenport, James took aim and fired. Johnny fell with a bullet wound over his right eye. He was removed to a hospital where he died late Saturday. James is prostrated.

NORTHWEST CORNER SQUARE

Ohio Legislators Running Around in Circles

Now perhaps the Senate might have spared itself another rubbing of noses in the dirt had not necessities of factionalism—Tenth Con-

History tells us that England and Spain fought a war over Jamaica's soil, the Trobriks we may judge, of the Jenkins who knows all about the "backwardness" of Teuth district politics. Now that seems like a savage thing, but a war over an ear more or less might have been likened to progressive civilization when compared to the utterances that parsanaphy dictated. "Let Europe suffer" was the cry that was thundered thru the halls, and was vain to ward that hellish men, helpless women, helpless children, babes yet unborn were perishing and that America's moral word, fearlessly uttered, might save. The cries met the stony resistance of the demands of Lodge and Hughes and Harding for "vindication." Even when Senator Burke reminded the Senators that in lauding a policy of complete isolation they were going farther than even the United States had gone, and that it had solemnly promised an association of nations or some sort of union of peace, there were only sneers and not a line would be changed nor a syllable altered. The narrow, savage impulses of the primitive asserted itself and the Republican party in Ohio proclaimed a policy. If individual members may object, but the spokesmen made the policy. As a Republican, a pitiful minority might object, but that was all.

After all, what mattered it that

Spier-organization, wheels-within wheels, caucuses, committees of committees and bosses of committees, bossing caucuses and star chamber sessions are to provide a substitute for constructive programs in the Ohio General Assembly on other topics. Such is the way the game is now being played in the Ohio Senate and House of Representatives. The idea has been carried into execution so far as outward forms are concerned and needs little more to make it complete if mere form were enough. But will it march? As has been observed, making others does not solve problems, for cliques are still nothing and nothing they will remain. Legislative attaches say they never saw such a deluge of puny, insignificant, trifling and petty bills as is now pouring in upon the state. There is nothing big' and nothing indicative of higness or long vista, hence the wonder for all the huge legislative bills and devices which handle the little stinks. The problem perplexing the clerks is likewise perplexing the outsiders who do not understand the committee of nine from each side and the smaller committees which is to handle the grouped 18. To many of the mountaineers the land of the Illinois Senate and the Illinois House appears and the developments will deserve attention.

So far as real measures are concerned, if the Tait municipal bill, which rewrites the Smith one per cent tax law excepted, the only ones that might cause a second reading are those in prospect. There is a suspicion that ripper legislation is afoot in the Tait municipal board, but doubt and not in the minds of the big majority. Governor A. V. Donahay seized eagerly upon the project of turning over the Securities or Blue Sky Department to the Secretary of State, and many of the brethren are in prospect for securing the abolishment of the Department of Commerce appears to be small, while the plan to distribute automobile tags from the Ohio pentonitomy still languishes. Attacks on the Tait Municipal Board have been passed up while the Governor's plan to do away with the Department of Welfare and revert to a board is working its way thro' much opposition of a partisan nature. Some say it is gaining, others will wait and there rest it rest for the present.

There is real meat in the proposals of the Highways committee of the House of Representatives in

It was a hard blow to the pride of former Governor Harry L. Davis who boasted that he was turning the state government over to his successor with out any deficiencies to have two big ones turn up in a single week, but truth emerges from her cave ever and anon. The smallest of the two is in the health department, where the communities are suffering from the influenza epidemic when a million was saved two years ago by the mere process of cutting down appropriations in many cases commanded by law without repeal of the law. The result of this is seen in the situation with respect to health departments. Many of them have been running for months on nothing and the present influenza epidemic might have been much worse had not self-sacrificing physicians and nurses remained on the job when pay was not even in sight. The Davis deficit amounts to $126,000 and added to the budget must be added to the original figure for the year is not to suffer next year. Then there is the accumulated weak school district aid amounting to a million and a quarter, or twice the original estimate. Now nobody will be harsh about the situation, but it is clear that the health auditors prevented a like the original savings non-existent-never wazers, so to speak.

very much for the old flag, also putting an increased appropriation first. Ultimately there may be a lack of equity to determine how much more is saved if the institution be abolished. It is important to note that the stories of the recent campaign activities grow larger rather than smaller as the weeks elapse. The latest is that the tolls were freely used for circularization purposes during the campaign. Everybody knows how Dr. W. O. Thompson was photographed, when candidate C. A. ONE-MAN CARS FOR LIMA

LIMA soon will have its first one-man street cars. According to information given out by the new company operating the street car system here, the first shipment of new rolling stock will be made next week and will be put in service within a short time.

This city has never had experience with one-man cars. They will be an innovation so far as the riding public here is concerned and their adaptability to a city with our traffic problems remains to be seen. It is believed by city officials and those of the street car company that cars of this type will work satisfactorily here and will result in a betterment of service.

The fight on street cars operated by one man has been continued since their advent. They are used in a number of cities and in all met with opposition, particularly from the labor organizations connected with the operation of city systems.

A bill has been introduced in the Ohio legislature intended to ban one-man cars in Ohio. What the fate of this measure will be is problematic, but it is declared to be a continuation of the organized battle to prevent a general adoption of cars in charge of one man instead of two.

Lima is interested particularly in building up its street car system. With the promised growth of the city, this is essential. We hope recent steps intended to bring about an improvement will not be proved a mistake. It is difficult to conceive how any type of new stock could be worse than the junk that has been trundled around over city tracks for the last several years.

COAL STRIKE AVERTED

ABOUT this time each year, when coal operators and miners usually begin their annual contention over questions affecting the status of each and there is seen the development of a strike, the interests of the general public, the consumers who pay the cost inevitably, are forgotten.

Conference of operators and miners this year appears to have taken a different turn than resulted in the past. There existed an air of conciliation about the representatives of the opposing bodies, with the result that where there have been strikes and rumors of strikes in the past, there now is a general sentiment that is looking to peace as the main chance for both.

Herein is where the general public is given a fair deal. Terms adopted in the agreements between operators and miners, which have thus far resulted in all prospects of a strike being eliminated, is a little bit the best news that America has heard in years, in connection with the great fuel industry.

Renewal of the old wage scale is considered by the miners to be a victory for their organization, inasmuch as the operators in the beginning of the negotiations stood out for an increase of penalties for breach of contract. Now that those who own and distribute the coal and those who produce it from the bowels of the earth for the use of mankind, have agreed to agree, the great body of the people will be absolved from paying the cost of contention that has on so many occasions in the past shut off production, increased prices and produced suffering and want among the wives and children of the sturdy miners who stand valiantly by their guns when war breaks between them and those by whom they are employed.

That a coal strike has been averted this year is indeed pleasing to everyone.

HONORING FAMOUS MEN

LIMA people will perform their part during the present month in paying merited honor to the memory of two great American statesmen and presidents, the first and the sixteenth in the long list of illustrious men who were chosen by their fellowmen to direct the administration of affairs of this great republic.

George Washington first president, and Abraham Lincoln, the sixteenth, were born in the month of February—Lincoln on the 12th and Washington on the 22nd. These days are set apart by national law, as occasions for special observance, in honor of the men who left their indelible impress on the history of this nation.

Both possessed outstanding attributes. It was due to the devotion and perseverance of General George Washington in the face of what appeared to be insurmountable obstacles that gave to America its freedom from the yoke imposed by a foreign people. It was due to the indomitable courage and the uncompromising attitude of Abraham Lincoln that the shackles of slavery were stricken from the limbs of the colored people in the southland and the union preserved, one and indivisible.

In view of the achievements of these men, one a martyr to the cause for which he labored so faithfully and well, stricken down by an assassin's bullet just as he was at the zenith of his great ambition, it is only meet and proper, right and just that their anniversaries should be observed in a special manner by those who are now reaping the benefits of their sacrifices.

It was Washington who directed the American forces in the Revolutionary war. It was Lincoln who was chief of the army and navy of the North in the sanguinary struggle that threatened the perpetuity of the Union in 1861-5. These two great leaders were the men of the hour in their time. They were chosen, each of them to meet a crisis. They arose to the situation. They were the heroes of imperishable history. The record of each will continue to stand thru the years yet to come as a monument to their life, their devotion to their country and their fellowmen and to their accomplishments.

BANKS IN FORWARD MOVE

ANNOUNCEMENT from Columbus that Ohio bankers are planning to inaugurate a loan of more than a quarter million dollars within the next few months for financing of club work among juvenile farm residents, will mean a great deal to Allen-co.

The Allen County Farm Bureau and auxiliary organizations in the various townships have spent considerable time and effort in developing club work among the youth of the county, resident on farms, to the end that their interest in agriculture and stock raising and in the propagation of poultry and increased egg production may add its part in meeting the ever growing demand for more and more foodstuffs, to satiate the appetites of the teeming millions.

Another prime object is making youth on the farm satisfied and contented, affording them opportunities that were denied to the youth of other years and which precipitated a general movement of young people away from the rural communities to the uncertainties of the larger cities.

Interest of bankers in the movement that embraces the entire commonwealth appears to have been fostered by the Agricultural Extension Department of the Ohio State university. The loan will be floated thru banks cooperating with the extension officials of the university and the various counties interested in the promotion of agricultural club work.

This means that Allen-co will have advantage of the forward step, for there is no unit of the $8 in the state that has done more in this direction than the county in which we live and of which we are proud. Boys' and girls' club leaders are touring the state, outlining the program of instruction for the year and preparing for enlarged work along all lines.

With increased opportunities in club work, fixing of remunerative goals to be worked for; with the radio, the telephone, rural delivery of mail and other conveniences afforded and with paved roads to put the boys and girls of the farm into the nearby cities and towns quickly by the use of the auto, their existence is no more humdrum than those who swarm in the cities.

TERRIBLE FORCES

DID you ever see a dog tremble and howl when a certain note was struck on a piano? The dog receives thru the ether, from the piano, a vibration that disrupts his nervous system and causes him great pain. In that vibration you have about as simple an explanation of radio as you'll ever find.

Another illustration: When the orchestra plays a certain tune, you find it almost impossible to keep still. Like a tuning fork, you catch the music's vibrations and become synchronized to them. Your foot, your fingers, your vocal cords, your nerve currents—even your pulse—beat time with the music.

You are a wireless receiving set, responding to vibrations. These vibrations are of two kinds—physical (material) and psychic.

About 15 years ago, the world was going along calmly, people rather placid, few of us really excited except when we found money, narrowly escaped death or unconsciously became attuned to the vibrations of a soap-box orator or a mob.

Then a restlessness broke out in Buenos Aires, in the form of a dance called the tango. This dance spread rapidly all over the world. It was, to the public's nerves internationally, like touching a match to kerosene.

No one realized it then, but a great psychic force had begun to flow thru us, working us up to a half-mad condition of highly-strung nerves that was to find its climax in the World War.

That psychic current went thru us like a cyclone thru a Kansas village. The current has nearly run its course. It is vanishing in the distance, leaving us behind—rather burnt out, exhausted, weakened.

Periodically these terrific psychic currents flow thru the world's people and cause what psychiatrists call "mass movements" or "mob exhilaration." Such a current was the wave of desire for personal liberty that started with our Declaration of Independence and is not yet at its height.

When you have a few million years to spare, try to figure out where these psychic currents come from.

SUN CUTS UP

THE sun, which supplies us with most of our light and heat, is sobering up again after several weeks "on the warpath." Terrible cyclones took place on the sun during the late December and early January.

These cyclones were visible to astronomers in the form of "sunspots." Some of these spots were larger than our earth. Astronomers are blaming these solar cyclones for the severe and disrupted weather experienced recently in various parts of the earth, including the high gales and torrential rains in the British Isles and North Atlantic. They may also be responsible for "uncertain" weather elsewhere.

The cyclones on the sun are accompanied by rapidly whirling electrical charges and they belch out new flaming material on the sun's surface, thus increasing its activity. Some of the torrent of electric projectiles travel out into space as far as the earth. These probably produce magnetic storms.

The more scientists study the sun, the more of a mystery it seems. Unquestionably it has something to do with regulating our weather.

We can never control the sun, but we can—as time goes on—learn more about how it controls us. After all, that's about all that knowledge is—learning more concerning the cage we're in. We are like ants imprisoned in a gigantic building, feverishly rushing around inspecting the building.

A TREE SURGEONS PATH

"Are you not mistaken?" writes a tree surgeon, "in saying that a man's beard never grows inward? Even Homer nods, it is said, and your skin may be different from mine. The barber's theory is that very close shaving in spots takes away a little skin and the skin heals over before the hair gets to the surface, and then the hair stubs presses against the skin from under side and curls backwards and causes a lot of itching and stinging. I had a spot on my chin last week, a quarter of an inch where no hair came thru, the rest of the beard was two days old. It suppurated and the pus could be pressed out. I have seen the barber pull curled hair stubs 3-8 of an inch long from such places."

Even a tree surgeon can, if he doesn't mind digging a little, pull curled hair, or at least 3-8 stuff out of the whiskers. Any self-respecting whisker is planted about that deep. The barber has the tall by the horse. First, as a matter of pathological fact, the hair shaft or rather the follicle (the tissue about the root) becomes infected; that causes some proliferation and thickening. Such as occurs about a boil, and if the beard has just been cut, the rapid multiplication of cells in the epidermis will heap up and conceal the hair temporarily. If the infection does not lead to destruction of the tissues involved (suppuration) the hair will presently grow out at its own rate. The notion that a hair gets discouraged or angry when annoyed and turns around and begins to grow in is just a fancy. This ingrowing hair notion is kin to that other old favorite, namely, that singeing is good for the hair because it kinda scars or seals up the bleeding hair after the hair has been cruelly cut, and thus keeps the sap from running out, you understand.

Be the head ever so full of sap, none will leak away thru the hair shafts. The hair receives all the nutrition it needs from the blood in the invisibly fine vessels (capillaries) about the follicle or root; the hair grows from the follicle or root, not from the cut end. And even assuming a hair should be perverse enough to grow in, septicemia is too often the price the unpardoned customer pays for the barber's well-meant attempt at surgery.

Send by return mail your pamphlets on cancer of the breast. You may obtain a pamphlet on cancer of the breast by sending 10 cents to the American Medical Association, 535 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, Illinois, and asking for one. Soda Salts Constant sufferer stomach trouble Soda relieves distress. Too much soda causes hardening of arteries?—T. J. Answer—No. There is no serious harm in it.

Indisposed to health or stomach?—M. S. C. Answer—Yes. If any reduction at all obtained in that way, it is at expense of health.

Cleft Palate Girl, 21, had cleft palate and hare lip cured by operation. (Children, if any, inherit such defects?—L. L. B. Answer—Congenital defects like hare lip or cleft palate do tend to appear in some of the children.)

What is aneurism? Dangerous? Curable? The man has a violent temper. Dangerous to his wife or children? Answer—Aneurism is a ballooning or dilation of an artery. If it ruptures, fatal hemorrhage. Sometimes curable by operation. Rupture favored by increased blood pressure accompanying anger. No danger to a wife or children (Copyright, 1923)

ROVER'S CHANT

Let's go roll, roll, rolling down the road,
Triamp, tramp, tramping down the trail!
Oh, we'll roam, roam, till we come back home,
Greeting every rover with a hail,
hail, hail!
Let's go blow, blow, blowing with the wind,
Swing, swing, swinging on along,
Oh, we may not know where to go, go, go,
But the heat, heat, heat of our faring feet
Is the drum for our marching song.
Under the vault of the sky over-arching,
We shall go marching, marching marching,
Over the hilltop and down in the hollow,
Following paths that the wanderers follow;

Who has the heart and the soul of a rover,
Weary of doing things over and over?
Let him be one of us, treading the loam,
Round the wide world and home!
Come, come, come along, along with us,
Hum, hum, hum aroving song, with us!
Sun, wind and rain and the free road before us.
Hark to the beat of the chorus: Let's go roll, roll, rolling down the road,
Tramp, tramp, tramping down the trail,
For we'll roam, roam, till we come back home,
Greeting every rover with a hail, hail, hail!

'ROUND LIMA HOUR BY HOUR

—WITH APOLOGIES—

BY OH. OH. JACKENRIM

A Page From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter: ON THE ATLANTIC — Up betimes and to my grapefruit and porridge. The boarders here are very prompt in Miami. I lost my coffee the first morn, coz the cook quit. The servant problem is far worse than in Lima. And my wife, the darling, has told me tales betimes of how hard it really is in our modest cottage. With February approaching, even the manager salams to the chef. There are, re-ally, as Lady Nancy Astor would say, only three pirates left: The room clerk, the chef and the porter.

So out, and to the beach to find Willie Wehmer. On business, I wanted to borrow a drink—of his good water. Which he imports from driven wells in the Everglades. Or so they told me. But he not at home. Probably at No. 16 at this hour.

Launched with Auntie May-mo, Mrs. Margaret Van Note and Frank Bonitz, the millionaire realtor, here now at his new winter home. In my boarding house, two openings from the big white fence Got another Baby Lincoln. Tell Timmerman about that, and drove out to the city from Willie Wehmer's Place, not having found him. Nathan Michael's all wrong. Palm Beach is Paradise and Miami is Fisher's Hope. What a chit that man's interest bill must be each month. Like Governor James Montgomery Cox. When he founded the Dayton News. He had a note due every morning he came to work. And as for that it hadn't been for C. D. Crites and Wheat Jackson back in the nineties, you wouldn't be reading this. For no Lima News there would have been. I know. I was in the original company in the Duffield block. When every day seemed the last.

In the afternoon, Auntie May-mo and Mrs. Van Note to the wharf with us. And came aboard ship. Seeing our cute little beds. Which romys me of George Bayly, the banker. Who wanted to know what the cans with a mouth-piece were. Like St. Rita's uses on a larger scale. Oh, boy, when your tumblie starts to leap-frog, verily those cans look noble.

There goes the gang plank and we're waving to our good chauffeur friend and my poor brave sister. On the bounding sea for Havana and Bacardi. Page Frank Day and Charlie Rice.

Now, to get my sea-legs as Bill Wheatley always does. But the promenade on a 4,000-ton deck is not so long as Surgeon T. R. Thomas found the Acquitania. Albeit, James is the same location of the stern. Yes, history repeats, one with, one without. Jawn Blattenberg and Dr. Tom can interpret.

She's rollin' something fierce, the little devil. If a cigarette sticks I'll feel better. Now we're fighting the Gulf stream, we going south and it sure is going to England whether we get south, or no. She's rollin' again like a Ford with a tire off aft, and also stern.

Damne, they've called dinner and what I want is pepsin. Every body drinking potage. Black coffee and dry toast for me. There goes the first one and she's ruined her skirt and white sport shoes. Oh, for my lonesome twin, flying a come-hither pennant to my wife, the darling. And dearie, we'll cancel that booking to the Bermudas.

CLEVELAND LIVES WITHIN INCOME

Mayor Kohler Tells How He Accomplished Reform

IN BAD WITH POLITICIANS

Manager Will Take up Reins Next Year

CLEVELAND —(Special) — Inhabitants of Cleveland, the nation's fifth largest city, face a serious threat.

It is the threat that the city again this year will live within its income—a feat it accomplished last year despite politicians, city council and administration obstructions.

Behind that threat is Mayor Fred Kohler.

"It's a threat not a promise," says Kohler. "We don't promise."

Then Kohler, a humorous glint in his eyes, told how he had made the city a financial success—told how any city can do the same thing.

He told how he had taken office early in 1931 with the city $800,000 in debt. And how he reported on New Year Day this year the city's books showed a surplus of $550,000.

"We began by trimming the payroll," Kohler explained. "That was our biggest saving. But we've made almost as large a saving in elimination of waste in stock and supplies. We've cut down pretty near the bone but we can cut even more and we will."

It takes nerve. We've found it hard with both political organizations against us. We've been hardly on speaking terms with the council.

That's because we've fired their men. And every time we took some one off the payroll and didn't replace him we found we got better service out of the rest.

"There used to be so many men on garbage collection duty there was only room for half of them to work at a time and scarcely any room for garbage on the wagons."

HOW HE LOOKS

This exaggeration is typical of Kohler. He is energy and action throughout. More than six feet tall and proportionately built, he shows fight in his make up.

He has a high, well-knit brow, firmly set jaw, rather deep-set eyes and thin lips that give a hint of a humorous, likable vein.

"You know," he comments, "many people think a city ought to have a good business man for mayor. But it's not so much his business qualifications as his knowledge of his people."

"And in whatever you do, if you want to do it right, you can't let anyone dictate to you. And I don't." This year is Kohler's last as mayor. Then a change in Cleveland's government will place a city manager at its head. But Kohler denies his efficiency is a bid for this new job. He's there, he says, "to keep on living within our income," he repeats. "This year our income will be $300,000 less because of tax reduction. But that doesn't bother us."

"We've an extensive street repaving program before us. We'll open up a new hospital and we've other big things to do. But we won't issue bonds!"

BEAUTY CONTESTS STIR UP UNIVERSITY WAR

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — Are there really no beautiful co-eds at the University of Pennsylvania?

The men at the University say not, but the girls are indignant and say there are lots of them.

To top the climax, the girl students add that the choice of "Smiling" Sam Smith as the handsomest man in the university doesn't meet with their approval at all.

The controversy began when the Red and Blue, Penn magazine, started a contest to determine the two questions.

No ballots were cast in the contest for the most beautiful co-ed, so it was decided that there are no beautiful Penn co-eds.

"The girls at the University have brains and ability and—brains, and ability do not mix with beauty," was the way one student described the battle that is raging.

"They are crazy," one co-ed declared. "We are so superior that we do not take notice of the matter."

CHICAGO FIGHTING FOR CONTROL OF ILLINOIS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Chicago and downstate Illinois are about to renew their old fight over reapportionment of the state into congressional and senatorial districts, from which congressmen and members of the legislature are elected.

Under the constitution the legislature is supposed to reapportion the state after each federal census. Because of Chicago's rapidly increasing population, the downstate members of the legislature killed the reapportionment bill in 1910 and 1920 through fear that a reapportionment would give Chicago and Cook county control of the general assembly.

Chicago members, however, insist their districts are becoming too unwieldy and that only a reapportionment will relieve the situation.

Chicago and Cook county now have 19 of the 51 senatorial districts in the state and it is unlikely that enough of the downstate senators will vote to pass a reapportionment bill that would practically cede control of the legislature to the metropolis.

Run-Down Women Face to Face With Old Age!

Blood-Power Builds Nerve-Power, Strength, Endurance, Energy, Girlish Charm! S. S. S. is Remarkable in Building Blood-Power and Nerve-Power!

She is not 40 in years yet but she is run-down, exhausted and that is just what old age is. S. S. S. will build up your blood-power. This gives strength always!

Madam, this truth may give you the "creeps." Shudder as you will, but fact stares you in the face! You cannot deny it! If you face the fact, you can add glorious strength to your weakened body. You can add sweeter years to your life, and bring back some of the glorious hours of your girlhood days! But if you refuse to believe it, then no power on earth can help you! When you are exhausted, when you feel like "slipping down" on every step you come to, that very thing you feel is nothing but early old age. Exhaustion and old age are practically the same thing. Both mean a "wearing out." The number of years you have spent on earth has nothing to do with the way you feel! Remember this, the number of blood-cells you have controls your nerves, your vitality, your health and strength! It is all you have! The answer then is, build up your blood-power! S. S. S. has been used since 1895 as one of the greatest blood-cell builders known! It contains only the most medicinal ingredients. It is also a remarkable blood purifier. This is why it has proven such startling results in rheumatic conditions, in stopping pimples, eczema, skin eruptions, in clearing and beautifying the complexion, and in building up thin worn out men and women, and in building great nerve power! You are only as strong as your blood! Stronger and more youthful nerves depend on blood-power! Stronger blood shows at once in your face, in the strength of every organ. S. S. S. will give you great energy, strength and more youthful appearance. Stop getting old before your time! S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

ADDED COSTS IN SUITS REQUIRED

Court Rules in Cases Begun By H. G. Russell

IS HELD A NON-RESIDENT

Affects Case For Damages Against R. R. Truhey

Motion filed in common pleas court to require H. G. Russell, plaintiff in an $8,200 suit against Louis Meyer, Joseph Franck and other to furnish additional security for costs, was sustained in a decision handed down by Judge Fred C. Becker Saturday.

The court ordered that Russell be required to deposit $50 as security for additional costs before March 1. The court held that Russell is not a resident of Allen-co.

It is probable that the case will be dismissed, B. F. Welty, counsel for Russell, stated Saturday and carried up on error to appeals court.

Similar action was taken in the case of Russell against R. R. Truhey, for $16,000, in which Judge Henry W. Blackly sustained a motion requiring more security because Russell has no regular place of residence in Allen-co. Provision is contained in the statutes to compel party had been consummated.

Russell's suit against Meyer and Franck was instituted to collect on notes said to have been turned over to him by the defendants. They contend that Russell was to have turned the notes back after sale of properties of the Shumate-Chanapel Sign company to the Opalume Sign company had been consummated.

ISSUE OF NEW CASE
The suit forms the basis for subsequent litigation between Russell and R. R. Truhey and charges of misconduct filed against Truhey by Ben F. Welty, former member of congress.

A court committee consisting of R. R. Longworth, James J. Weadock and George H. Quail is now engaged in looking into the charges.

A former court committee, which investigated the original complaints, exonerated Truhey.

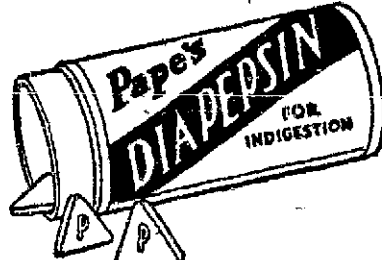

In handing down his decision Saturday, Judge Becker found that Russell moved from Allen-co in 1923 and shipped his household goods to Freeport, Maine. He also moved his factory to Battle Creek. For some time past he has not maintained an abode or dwelling in the county the court held. Russell contended that he intended returning to Lima and regarded this city as his legal residence.

The court held that this intention cannot supply a residence, although it may govern in respect to the right of suffrage.

It was also held that where a person has no place of abode a summons can be served or left, he is a non-resident.

POLICE MYSTERY AT DELPHOS

Booze Vault Locked, Combination Number Lost

Did the person who locked the outer door of the police vault in Delphos City Building have a sinister motive? Was it done to cover the pilfering of 80 gallons of confiscated liquor?

These and other questions arise as one missing number in the combination to the vault is sought. Efforts to find the number have been without avail. A open.

Jeweler has worked steadily on the combination for a week. Four weeks ago Chief of Police H. A. Kehres closed the door on the 11-4007 without turning the combination. Some time later it was discovered that somebody had turned the combination and locked the vault door tighter than a drum.

It was customary to leave the outer door unlocked and secured only the inner door. The fact that Kehres did not turn the combination leads to conjecture whether it was the hootch somebody was after.

Improbability of a theft is cited in the case, as one or more members of the police and fire departments are about the building at all times and the vault is plainly visible from the exterior of the building.

There is room for doubt, however, it is conceded, and the head of Chief Kehres will not rest easy on the vault is sought. Efforts to find the number have been without avail. A open.

LIPPINCOTT TO PASS ON PAPERS OF 103 ALLEN-CO COMPENSATION APPLICANTS

Application from 103 Allen-co service men for state compensation will be forwarded from Columbus to Prosecuting Attorney Eugene T. Lippincott, for investigation.

Applications are the only ones from Allen-co, not paid. In each case there is some question that has caused payment to be held up.

Lippincott hopes to clear these matters up and secure state compensation for the remaining hundred and more men.

All of the claimants will be notified to come to his office and their cases reviewed. When proofs have been obtained, a state official will come to Lima to clear up matters satisfactorily.

The outstanding bonus claims amount to at least $10,000.

THREE SCHOLASTIC CAGE GAMES ON WEEK'S SCHEDULE

ST. ROSE AWAY

Following the big event of the basketball schedule Friday night when the Central posed out the South quintet, one would expect to see a letup of interest for a couple of weeks—sort of give the fans time to catch their breath. But not so—

On the contrary, cage followers will be busy witnessing the four fracas which are scheduled to be played here. In addition Lima teams will play two games away from home and there is brilliant prospects of another game being carded for a local floor.

The Long Green will step into the spotlight of the week's activities by playing two of the stiffest games in the state on Friday and Saturday nights. Friday, Springfield, which has been a contender for topnotch honors in scholastic circles for several years past, will display its ability for the approval of local fans. The next night, Stivers High, of Dayton, is scheduled to play Central, and this outfit will also drive Coach Stivers' crew at full speed. Stivers is the champion of the cage aggressions in the team city and they will come to Lima confident of taking the measure of the Red and Green.

CENTRAL CONFIDENT
Central followers have confidence that their quintet will be able to win both games. They point to the fact that every game played by Central has been won by a small margin and that the only red mark on the year's score card was also lost by a minute margin. This ability to nose out the opposing team seems to have become a habit, which makes Central a formidable factor in state scholastic circles.

South with an open date for next week-end on the original schedule, has booked St. Marys to play in Lima Saturday night. The visitors will come here in an unknown quantity and will go up against a five, which does not know what style of play to expect. Since the defeat at the hands of Central, South in planning to devote considerable time to preparing for the second clash between the school teams and training for the St. Marys game will be incidental to the practice schedule which is being laid out in preparation for the game a week from Friday.

St. John's has not booked a game for the coming week end but efforts are being made to bring a quintet to perform on the Southside floor. ST. ROSE TRAVELS
St. Rose takes another junket Friday and Saturday and as both teams to be played here succeed in the local effort, Coach Baker's protégés are planning to repeat in both games. Friday the Irish quintet will play a return game with St. Anthony's Institute of Kenton, and Saturday, they will be the guests of St. Marys H. of Marion.

Both teams lost to St. Rose earlier in the season, and with the improvement made during the last couple of weeks, the schools which they will have a pair of scalp to add to their collection when they return to Lima Sunday morning.

The accident jinx which has hovered close to the Irish cagers since the start of the season, seems to have been chased away. Two men are still on the hospital list, but the fact that no games have been played with no casualties, as taken as a good sign.

Outside of scholastic circles, the banner attraction of the week will be the encounter between Lima Business college and Ohio Northern Wednesday night. The battle is to be staged at the Y. M. C. A. and one of the biggest crowds of the season is expected.

Tuesday night, the weekly schedule of the Y industrial league will be played when Swift and Co. play the Polar five; L. E. & W. meet the Loro team; and the Garford plays the Detsel-Wemmer.

Saturday afternoon, the Sunday school league will play three games and in the evening, the Y gym will be the battle scene for three Church league skirmishes.

Speaker Banks On Uhle

Cleveland is banking on George Uhle to be a consistent winner the coming season.

Uhle is the youngster who came to the big league from the sandlots and made good. Major league records reveal few such cases.

From the very outset of his career Uhle gave great promise, but has been a trifle late in arriving. Tr. Speaker, manager of the Indians, is confident Uhle has finally got into his stride.

"My pitching is a year must be built around Uhle and Coveleskie is a veteran and cannot go on forever, still I expect he should be good for several more years. These two boys are my pitching men with emphasis on Uhle."

SHADE WINS

BOSTON — Dave Shade, Pacific Coast, welterweight, defeated Eddie Shevlin, before a howling crowd of 6,000 fight fans at the Mechanics-bldg here Saturday night. Although the bout went for the full ten rounds, it was apparent after the third round that Shevlin had a small chance of putting over a second win on the westerner.

Opposition To Indianapolis Motor Speedway Race May Cause Split In Indiana American Legion

INDIANAPOLIS — Is it patriotic to watch the world's greatest automobile drivers spin around a speedway at 90 miles an hour?

Throughout Indiana the question is being debated bitterly as a bill pending in the State Legislature that would wipe out the famous Indianapolis Motor Speedway race.

Introduced and pushed through the Senate by Robert L. Moorhead, Indianapolis a colonel in the World War, on request of officials of the Indiana Department of the American Legion, the G. A. R., and sons of Veterans, the bill became a storm center when it appeared it would be passed by the house.

OPPOSITION TO BIG RACE
"It has been impractical in Indianapolis to have any proper observance of Memorial Day, because of the hurrah and confusion connected with the race," said Moorhead. "If we must lose Memorial Day or the race, I say lose the race."

Opponents answered in a full-page advertisement:

"The most impressive memorial ceremony in America is held at the speedway before the race. Law and order are preserved before, during, and after the race by soldiers in the American uniform."

"After the Memorial Day ceremony, five Americans, for approximately six hours, laugh at danger and show 'the same stuff' that Americans showed at Valley Forge, Gettysburg and the Argonne."

The best way to do homage to America's dead is to keep their spirit alive."

REVOKES LEGION CHARTER
Skidmore-Dean Post, American Legion, Indianapolis, adopted a resolution opposing the bill. Perry Faulkner, Shelbyville, Ind., grocer, a private in the late war, and state commander of the legion, immediately revoked the post's charter.

Post officials called Faulkner a "zeal."

To Discuss Benton At Next Meeting

NEW YORK.—No offer of $50,000 (as reported) was made to the St. Paul American Association club last summer by the New York Giants for pitcher Babe Benton, according to a cable received from John J. McGraw at the club office.

McGraw claims that when the Giants were badly in need of pitching in the middle of 1923 puntant race, he asked Mike Kelly, manager of St. Paul to get a price on Benton, but that Kelly refused to do so and negotiations were dropped.

Attempts of the Cincinnati Reds to get Benton back into the National league probably will receive attention of the club owners of their spring meeting and McGraw's willingness to take his former pitching star back last year may be referred to as an indication that McGraw still had faith in his integrity.

BROWNS LEAD IN SCORING

There were just five players in the American League who got above the century mark in driving in runs during the 1923 campaign. And strangely enough four of them resided in St. Louis Browns uniforms.

The quintet was composed of Williams, McManus, Sisler and Jacobson of the Ford crew, and George Veach of the Detroit Tigers. Williams was the leader with 155, while Veach had 128 to his credit. McManus, 109; Sisler, 105, and Jacobson, 102.

Cobb of Detroit, and "Tillie" Walker of the Athletics just missed the select circle with 99 runs of the Yankees was responsible for 94 markers, while Hellmuth, Detroit and Joe Wood, Cleveland were well up with 92.

Pratt was Boston's best, sending in 86 scores, and Julio led Washington with 81. Sheely and Hooper of the White Sox did the heavy work for Cleveland's tribe, having 80 each.

In the National wheel but four men passed the three-figure mark, two of them being Giants. Hornsby, Cardinal star, showed the way with 152; Emil Meusel, New York, was second with 132; Wheat, Brooklyn, third, 112, and Kelly, New York, fourth, 107.

Grimes, Chicago, and Bigbee, Cincinnati, and William Pittsburg, each had 99, with Dun-Phillips, leading their clubs with 94 and 92 respectively. The Boston Braves were way down the list in this respect—Morace Ford being his man with but 60 runs batted in.

In regard to the Polo quintet it is interesting to note that of the 867 runs scored by the Browns during the season, Williams, McManus, Sisler and Jacobson were responsible for over half of them, or 469 all told.

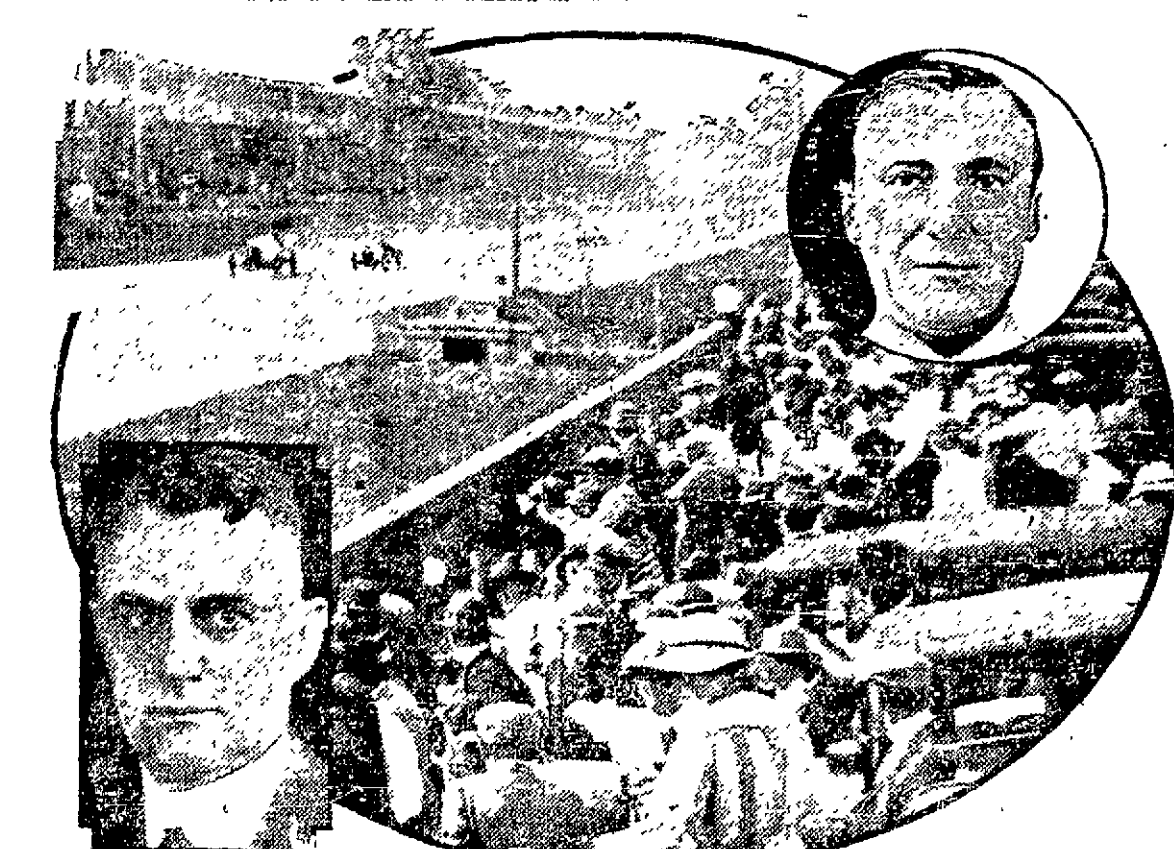

No Games Scheduled

Delphos probably will go basketball again this week, according to Manager Sheehy of the St. John's cage five, Saturday following ineffectual efforts to book games with teams in northern Ohio.

Only one night Tuesday is available, owing to arrangements for a benefit game Friday for the Delphos public library board.

ROPER SIGNS

PRINCETON, N. J. — W. W. (Bill) Roper, has signed a two-year contract to coach the Princeton football team. It was announced Saturday night by Graduate Treasurer Murray.

Eleven other Indianapolis posts joined the Skidmore-Dean boys and Faulkner revoked the charter of the St. Michael-Leer Post. Only one post favo at the bill.

The posts threatened to form a "rump" legion if Faulkner kicked out any more.

Civic and business clubs worked overtime on resolutions and T. C. "Pop" Myers, veteran speedway manager, announced the owners would dismantle the two-and-a-half mile brick oval, and stands wherein 125,000 people gathered last Memorial Day, if the bill passed. Detroit, Kansas City, Cleveland, Chicago and Toledo were reported nailing bids for it.

Faulkner appealed to National Commander Alvin M. Owsley of the legion for endorsement, but no reply has been received.

Robert H. Tyndall, Indianapolis, national legion treasurer, opposed the bill. He was a colonel in the Rainbow Division.

Speedway owners asked public support on the ground the property was turned over to the government as an aviation repair depot, and $40,000 worth of hangers donated during the war.

Dempsey-Wills Bout Being Boomed

(BY HENRY L. FARRELL)
NEW YORK.—"Jack Dempsey will fight Harry Wills for the world's championship this summer. The public wants the bout, the press wants it, we want it and it will be held if I have to promote it myself."

This from Jack Kearns, who handles the business affairs for Dempsey. Kearns said he did not want to appear as if he were acting in defiance of authorities, but he said he figured he had not been given a fair deal and that he couldn't get justice for his fighter in New York or New Jersey.

"There are other places we can't get as much money if we do not stage the bout in the center of a big population, but under the conditions we can't get any money in New York or New Jersey," Kearns said.

The champion's manager went on to say that he had been forced by the boxing commission to accept the challenge of Harry Wills under a threat of suspension and that he signed an agreement to defend the title against the colored challenge.

TOO MANY OFFERS
"We waited all summer for a promoter to make an offer. Plenty of offers were made but they were made by irresponsible seeking publicity. We were ordered back here to get ready and the only things we have heard are: Wills is too old, Gibbons is too little, Johnson is too green, Wills is too black—nothing but 'too's'."

Kearns was particularly pained about the odds that Dempsey could not fight anyone because of "too much commercialism."

"They cannot accuse us of commercialism when we haven't asked for a thing and we haven't made any kind of a demand for money. I think it is only fair that a man should be entitled to a share of what he attracts. Dempsey wants to work on a percentage basis with the promoters. He not only wants to but he is going to work on a share of the receipts. He will not accept any kind of a guarantee."

"They have made me million dollar offers, but the doors were open for the reporters to hear it and the men who talked of millions didn't have a hundred in their pockets or at their command."

AFTER MONEY
"Benny Leonard, I am told, gets 50 per cent of the receipts when he defends a lightweight championship. I am not saying how much Dempsey thinks he services are worth. Maybe less than 50 per cent. It all depends on the size of the arena selected."

Ring-Tailed Pheasants To Be Given Allen-Co Farmers

The final meeting of the Allen-Co Fish and Game association before applying for a charter will be held at the rooms of the organization in Memorial hall, Tuesday night.

All members who are enrolled by Tuesday night will go on the roster as charter members. At the same time, all farmers are urged to attend the meeting, as John Reed, president of the association, has received a letter from the state fish and game department, stating that the department is making up its distribution lists for eggs from ring-tailed pheasants and that the requests from Allen-co has not been received.

Farmers who wish to stock their land with ring-tailed pheasants will be given a setting of eggs, provided they make their desire known at the meeting Tuesday night.

Besides providing the birds for the country, the program laid out for the new association during the coming summer includes assisting the state department in stocking the two Lima reservoirs and Allen-co streams with bass.

Inside Stuff

By Billy Jans

"Did you ever put a ball player out of a game and then change your mind and let him remain in the contest?"

At a fanning bee recently that question was asked me. Probably no more foolish question could be asked an umpire, yet it so happened that once in my career as an umpire I did that very thing.

When an umpire puts a ball player out of a game, the ejection, which is invariably merited, stands. Regardless of the outcome of the decision it goes. Often the umpire knows that his action means a riot at the close of the game, but that never receives the slightest consideration.

Who was the player I put out and then reinstated? None other than the great Larry Lajoie. Funny thing, but I met Larry the other day we discussed the incident and both had a good laugh.

Late in the game, with the score a tie and two out, the batter hit safely and by fast sprinting went all the way to third on the hit. The throw beat him there, but Perring, who was a youngster, was badly fooled by a deceptive slide on the part of the runner and missed touching him by a good yard. He should have been an easy out and when he was declared safe it was only natural that Larry should have been peeved over the failure of Perring to make the touch.

Hardly had I made my decision of safe when a glove whizzed by thru the air. I turned around quickly and noticed that Larry was the only unhelmer on the club minus his glove.

Walking past him, I quietly remarked "You are thru for the day, you can follow the glove to the club house."

INTEREST HIGH IN MIXED TOURNEY

At the end of the first month of the mixed bowling tournament at the Knights of Columbus alleys, interest in the pin topping innovation is at a high pitch.

The leading team, No. 2, is only 28 pins ahead of the runner-up and the last outfit is trailing the leader by 377 pins. The leading team includes Mrs. Thompson, Miss Sohomor, Miss Crumrine, A. O'Connor, S. Blanchard and L. Thompson, and has a total score of 12,981 pins.

Standings of other teams in the league are:

No. 8—12,963.
No. 4—12,871.
No. 1—12,792.
No. 4—12,704.
No. 6—12,653.
No. 3—12,644.
No. 7—12,604.

TWO LIMA TEAMS IN TOURNEY

Meeting of the men composing the second volleyball team of the Lima Y. M. C. A. was held Friday night. Dr. J. E. Talbot was elected captain to pilot the boys of the second team in the Northwestern Sectional Volley Ball tournament in Toledo, February 8.

Capt Talbot has called the warriors of his team for a practice Monday noon at 12 o'clock sharp against the regular noon Business Men's class.

Tuesday at five o'clock there will be a practice between Dr. J. E. Talbot's first team and Dr. J. E. Talbot's second team. The men are working hard for the tournament at Toledo and both expect to win.

At least one of them expect to take the championship of the Northwestern District. Both teams will leave for Toledo the afternoon of February 8 for the tournament which is held in the evening.

COMING GAME TO DECIDE TITLE

KENTON, O. — Next Tuesday night's play of teams in the Hardin County Sunday School basketball league will find the league's two undefeated quintets, the Kenton First M. E.'s and Mt. Victory, clashing on the latter's court. More depends on the outcome of this game than has depended on a similar game this season, for the losing cup to be awarded the winner with very likely go to one or the other of these quintets.

Interest in these games has grown rapidly and last Tuesday night approximately 2,500 people from every section of Hardin county watched these games staged on the Kenton floor. Tuesday's play was conducted in tournament style, with every team in the league playing here. Games started early in the afternoon.

Following the games and officials gathered at the armory where they were banqued with a big roast by officers of the league. The decision to lengthen the season so that play might continue thru April, was made then.

STATE LOSES TRACK MEET

COLUMBUS — Chicago University defeated Ohio State 55 to 33 in the annual indoor track meet here Saturday night.

Krogh, of Chicago, was high point man, winning first in the mile and his leg in the relay.

The meet was slow thruout. No records were even threatened.

LEAGUE MANAGERS TO MEET SUNDAY

(BY MERRICK M. HILL)
Seven managers of independent baseball clubs of Lima and surrounding cities will go into business session at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the hotel Norval.

When the session is over, they will leave the hotel—not as independent managers, but—as leaders of clubs in the new league, which is being boomed for this section of the state.

Eight clubs will comprise the organization, and Ottawa, Lima, Van Wert, Delphos, Sidney, St. Marys, Celina and Wapakoneta were suggested as being ideally located for the new league. Celina, however, has just completed a brand new ball park, and contrary to the general opinion, the club owners of Celina feel that they would hamper their team by entering the league. The seven other cities are extremely favorable to the idea and have all announced that they will be on hand at the meeting Sunday.

Several other clubs, which were not considered at first, have expressed a desire to come into the league, and very little difficulty is expected in obtaining the eighth aggregation of diamond artists.

TO NAME LEAGUE
Besides deciding the identity of the last club in the league, considerable progress is expected to be made in agreeing upon the schedule for the coming season. The temporary officers, who have taken the lead in the work of organization so far, feel that sufficient progress has been made to elect permanent officers, adopt a constitution and by-laws and to select a name for the league.

Present tentative plans, which will hardly be changed at the meeting Sunday, call for the election of a disinterested fan as president. He will be given authority to settle all disputes and will direct the affairs of the organization. The president of the league will also be charged with securing umpires and officers which will be absolutely necessary, the league will not be hampered by restrictions.

AFTER MUD HENS
If Lima fans show sufficient enthusiasm in pre-season games between the Toledo Mud Hens and the Giant Yankams, it is likely that one or two exhibition games between the two outfits will be played in Lima about the middle of April.

Bernie Halloran manager of the Independents, has received an offer from Roger Bresnahan to bring the teams to Lima, but the offer has been held up until local sentiment can be ascertained.

Various luncheon clubs will be asked to give their openings as to the feasibility of the games, and the new big league will be given their answer before the end of the week.

MANY ENTRIES EXPECTED

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Nine thousand bowlers from all parts of the United States are expected in Milwaukee between March 1 and April 8, in competition for prizes which will exceed $65,000 in the American Bowling Congress tournament.

According to Secretary A. L. Langtry, the entries are coming in rapidly from all parts of the United States and Canada.

Entries have been received from Winnipeg, Toronto and Montreal, in Canada, and several teams from the southland have also sent in entry blanks.

The Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles is to send two teams to the tournament, together with a carload of California oranges, which the Poppy State bowlers will distribute at the tournament.

Two teams have entered from Jacksonville, Fla., a yearly happening, according to Secretary Langtry, who stated the southern boys always make the trip north for the annual pin event.

Milwaukee, the city with several thousand bowlers, is just beginning to wake up to the fact that the "big event" in bowling will be staged within its bounds. A drive has been started for 500 Milwaukee bowlers to enter the national event and according to early indications, the 500 mark will be passed without much trouble.

300 CHICAGO TEAMS
From cities outside of Wisconsin, Chicago will lead the van with an entry list of about 300 teams. Many of the middle western cities like Detroit, Cleveland, Toledo, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Paul and Minneapolis will enter from twenty to seventy-five teams.

In order to make it as cheap as possible for all bowlers to travel, railroads have granted fare and one half for the round trip to Milwaukee and this item will save the bowlers several thousand dollars.

The tournament last year, staged at Toledo, drew an entry list of 1,126 teams and the prize list amounted to $51,000, while this year, with the national event being staged in the hotbed of bowling enthusiasm, the entry list will easily exceed 1,500 teams, according to Secretary Langtry.

With more than 1,500 bowlers taking part in an event for prizes amounting to more than $65,000, this tournament will be the greatest athletic carnival of the year.

NAVY LEADS

ANNAPOLIS — The naval mid-shipment Saturday nosed Bucknell out at basketball in the closing minutes of play, winning 37 to 31.

Bucknell led three-fourths of the time by a margin that ranged as high as 7 points, but lacked the endurance of the middies.

WINS 6 STRAIGHT

IOWA CITY, Iowa—Iowa's basketball team made its sixth straight win Saturday night when they defeated Chicago 20 to 12.

Grace Quintet Leads League

The 23 to 18 win of the Grace M. E. cage outfit in the Y. M. C. A. basketball league Saturday night over the Trinity organization put the former into first position.

All other teams are tied for second place with the exception of the Central Church of Christ quintet, which is holding down the cellar position. Other results Saturday night were Central Church of Christ 26, First Baptist 11; and Southside Church of Christ 10, First United Brethren 32.

Ray Makes New Time For Mile

BOSTON, Mass. — Joe Ray, the country's greatest miler, romped away with the Hunter mile Saturday night, the feature of the B. A. A. meet in the remarkable time of four minutes and 19 seconds, clipping one and two-fifths seconds from his time last year. R. B. Barker, B. A. A., was second, and J. J. Connolly of Georgetown, third.

Ray won with 25 yards to spare. M. O. Skiles, Dartmouth, with a handicap of six inches, won the pole vault at a height of 12 feet 9 inches. H. F. Davis, Harvard, was second.

Dartmouth won the two mile relay with Syracuse second and third, 5 minutes, 23 seconds.

HAIR STAYS COMBED, GLOSSY

"Hair-Groom" Keeps Hair Combed—Well-Groomed

Millions Use It—Fine for Hair! —Not Sticky, Greasy or Smelly

Get a jar of "Hair-Groom" from any drugstore for a few cents and make even stubborn, unruly or shaggy hair stay combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is a dignified combing cream which gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to your hair—that final touch to good dress, both in business and on social occasions.

Glossy, sleek, stainless "Hair-Groom" does not show on the hair because it is absorbed by the scalp, therefore your hair remains so soft and pliable and so natural that no one can possibly tell you used it.—Adv.

WANTED, WIZARD; BLISS FAILS

Admits He's Military Man, But Is Not a Prophet

WORK PROVES SYMPATHETIC

Hope Springs Eternal in Breast of Senator Ashurst

(By HARRY HUNT)
THIS LIMA NEWS BUREAU,
WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Seeking expert advice on the likelihood of open war between Germany and France, I paid a call on General Tasker H. Bliss.

"Here," I thought, "is the man who can give me the low-down on just what is likely to happen. As American plenipotentiary at the peace conference and as America's representative on the international military mission, he knows the whole layout from A to Z."

Bliss didn't state simply. I didn't wish anything involved or complicated—just a brief, A-B-C version of what was likely to happen in Germany in a military way in case things blew up. Bliss grinned. Deliberately he took off his glasses and laid them on the desk in front of him. "Then he squared himself in his chair and started to speak."

"Ah-ha!" I congratulated myself mentally. "Easy! Pretty soft!"

"Well," he said, speaking slowly, thoughtfully, almost with a drawl, "what you want isn't a military man. You want a prophet!"

Postmaster General Work noted the other day that the girl who usually waits on him at the restaurant in the postoffice department building, where he lunches demurely with departmental assistants and clerks, was missing.

"Where's Mary?" he asked the substitute girl who served him.

"For baby's sick," Georgetown Hospital, Pneumonia, I believe," was the answer.

Work didn't say anything more. But that evening when he left the department, he ordered the chauffeur to drive to Georgetown Hospital. There he inquired for Mary. She wasn't there, but the baby was in ward 20-40. He might see it.

He found the baby and gave it a last scrutiny. Then he called the nurse.

"Let me see this patient's chart," he requested.

The nurse brought it and started to explain its meaning.

"Never mind," said Work. "I used to practice medicine myself."

Then he asked the physician in charge. He introduced himself and made some suggestions. The doctor said they would be adopted at once. It isn't every day that the president of the American Medical Association volunteers a consultation.

A week later Mary was back at her place in the department restaurant. Baby was up and about again. And maybe the postmaster general can't have anything he wants for lunch now, whether it's on the bill of fare or not!

Hope springs eternal in the breast of Senator Henry P. Ashurst, of Prescott, Ariz., that some day, some way, he will master the art of smoking a cigar.

Ever since he was a schoolboy at Flagstaff, Ashurst has made periodic attempts to use the cigarette to soothe his system, but without success. However, he still has hopes.

One day, while gingerly holding a cigar between his fingers and surveying it with a mix of longing and disgust, as the smoke wreathed up his face, he took his courage in both hands and inhaled another pull. Then, with a shudder he cast the weed from him.

"No use," he lamented. "I can't do it. One of the consuming ambitions of my life has been to smoke, and every so often I take a try at it. But it always makes me sick. B-r-r-r!"

"I'll take another try in a couple of weeks, tho'."

U. S. MAY RATION RUM TO ENVOYS

Limit On Liquors For Embassies Is Considered

CONGRESS ACTION SOUGHT

Steps Taken To Stop Leakage At Washington

(By FRANK EDWARDS)
WASHINGTON, (United Press.)—Liquor may be rationed to the embassies here in quantities strictly limited by congress. This step was under discussion by congressmen Saturday night following introduction of a resolution by Representative Cramton, Massachusetts, asking how much liquor is being imported by the embassies, and what regulations, if any, are imposed by the state department.

If Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Secretary of State Hughes answer the question on quantity and regulations, congress expects to show how much of the imported liquor reaches the bootleg trade.

Dry change that unscrupulous foreign attaches have made hundreds of thousands of dollars by supplying bootleggers or their own clientele of political and social parasites in Washington with liquor imported for their own consumption.

With the embassy liquor supply completely shut off the vigilant revenue men mopping up the supply of corn and other liquors as fast as it comes into the district, Cramton believes Washington is about to experience the most arid period in its existence.

TONGUES WAGGING
Recent seizures of liquor alleged to have come from a foreign embassy, have started tongues wagging all over the country," he said.

"If we can't enforce the dry law in the national capital the rest of the country is not going to take it seriously. I propose to see that we have 100 percent enforcement here."

"The amount of liquor that can be brought in by the embassies is negligible, so far as the whole country is concerned, but if a large quantity of it leaks out, it makes Washington a rather wet spot even after other supplies have been cut off."

As the first step in drying up Washington, is to find out just how much liquor the embassies are bringing in and then we can find out what is becoming of it."

Cramton said the embassies should use some discretion and refrain from making a "vulgar display" of all varieties of liquor before the eyes of the American guests at diplomatic receptions. He said such a sight set a bad example.

Cramton has collected much information concerning alleged embassy bootlegging. He does not intend to use it until the reports of the state and treasury departments have been made to congress. He expects to get prompt action on his resolution.

WAR AGAINST INFLUENZA GIVEN GREAT IMPETUS

NEW YORK.—World War against influenza received tremendous impetus Saturday, when details of the first isolation of the deadly "bacterium pneumonitidis" were made public by the Rockefeller Institute.

Doctors Peter T. Oltzky and Frederick T. Gates, of the institute, have completed years of research by discovering the "bacterium" that has ravaged civilization in the past decade, claiming more than 25,000,000 victims in a single year—during the epidemic of 1918-1919.

Scientists of the world are to have the benefit of this discovery and isolation placed at their disposal in the search for a serum that will protect humanity against influenza, which has proved itself 20 times as deadly as the war.

WALKED 3,600 MILES AFTER HIS PET TEAM

CARDIFF.—Charles Manley, Britain's prize football fan, has just returned home after tramping 3,600 miles to follow the fortunes of his home team, Cardiff City, in their games.

His first walk was from Cardiff to London, 135 miles, after which he followed his pet team north, east and west, touching on three hundred towns and innumerable villages. Altogether he wore out seventeen pairs of socks, five pairs of shoes and three pairs of golfshoes. Trouble with his shoes caused him to walk 125 miles barefooted at one stage of his journey.

RUM BOATS RUN BY SECRET CODE

Canadian Border Booze Army Guided by Whistles

WETTEST SPOT DESCRIBED

25,000 Cases of Beer Cross Into U. S. Weekly

DETROIT.—(Special)—It is a winter night on the lower Detroit river. For a mile or more the Canadian shore is but a quarter of a mile from the American side. Save for a narrow channel, the ice is solid as an asphalt pavement.

Scattered houses on both shores are enveloped in murky darkness and apparently deserted. Reflection of the lights of Detroit on the American side and Windsor, Canada, opposite, eight or nine miles away, reveal the only suggestion of life.

A desolate spot, but—This is one of the busiest crossroads of commerce along the entire 27-mile stretch of the Detroit river, with the value of the product—bootleg liquor—equal to it, if not in excess of the total of all other imports shipped elsewhere from Canada.

This location is in the vicinity of George village, U. S. A., and Petite Cote, Canada, the wettest spot in the country.

Official figures from the Dominion government for the one "recognized" wharf in Petite Cote used exclusively for "exporting" purposes show an average weekly shipment of 16,000 cases of Canadian beer or approximately 400,000 bottles a week of beer alone.

How much beer and whisky comes from the other "unofficial" wharves nobody knows. Prohibition authorities say at least 25,000 cases of beer reach the American side every week.

Whistles govern the flow and ebbs of contraband liquor. Rum runners are organized like an army.

Outposts warn of danger and tell when to go ahead, all by means of whistles, in a code known to the bootlegging fraternity alone.

You are standing in the darkness when a whistle pierces the silence. In a few minutes men swarm from the Canadian shore pushing conveyances resembling boats, but mounted on rafts.

"SLED-BOATS" USED
The men are beer smugglers. The objects they push are "sled-boats," boats fitted with runners so when they are taken from the water they may be pulled on the ice.

When open water is reached the "sled-boat" is pushed in and rowed to solid ice again where it is pulled up and the journey on runners resumed.

Once firm land is reached, waiting trucks are loaded for trips into Detroit, Toledo, Grand Rapids or any other town within a day's haul.

This means practically every crossroad within 200 miles is accessible to booze-laden boats.

On Jan. 10, 1923, Judge J. J. Coughlin, Essex, Ont., handed out a decision which says Ontario juries, probably will render it possible to dump every bottle of liquor distilled in Canada into the United States unless the decision is reversed.

Judge Coughlin acquitted the Walkerville Brewing Company on a charge of transporting liquor on a public highway other than a rail-road.

Magistrate W. E. Grunly of Walkerville had convicted the company on this charge, holding the concern violated the Ontario liquor carriage act, which prohibited use of the highways for liquor shipments to export docks, but permitted rail shipments.

This decision makes every Canadian highway leading to the waterfront a liquor road with its terminal in the United States.

On Jan. 12, two days after Judge Coughlin's decision, figures were announced by the Canadian government concerning "export" of bottled beer which made American prohibition enforcement officials gasp in astonishment. It showed thousands of cases of liquor were being shipped daily.

This quantity was shipped by rail alone, it must be remembered, before it became legal to use the highway.

With Canadian officials powerless to stop booze-laden trucks, American border, how great is the increase since Judge Coughlin's decision in water of conjecture. Some say the liquor import has practically doubled.

WANTS HISTORY PUT ON ALL MARRIAGE LICENSES

ATLANTA, Ga.—Marriage licenses in the future will contain the entire marital history of both parties, if the recommendations of Dr. W. J. Young, of Emory University, to the Methodist Ministers' Association of Atlanta are made into laws.

"Much embarrassment would be saved by the Georgia legislature would pass a law requiring that it be stated on all marriage licenses whether or not either or both parties had been previously married, widowed or divorced," Dr. Young told the ministers.

AID FOR SCOUTS TO BE ASKED

Simonton Will Lay Plan Before Luncheon Clubs

Preparations for the annual solicitation of funds for carrying on the work of Lima Council of Boy Scouts will be started this week by local officers.

J. E. Simonton, president of the Lima council, will carry the message of the organization to the three luncheon clubs and to the members of the Elks lodge this week.

Rotary will be visited Monday, Kiwanis on Tuesday, Lions on Wednesday and Elks on Thursday. Simonton announced Saturday. A plan whereby it will be possible for the business men of the city to aid the work will be outlined.

Each organization will be asked to appoint five members to the Lima Council Boy Scouts of America and 10 additional members will be chosen from other lines of activity irrespective of their connections with any outside organization.

The final campaign will be made during the week of February 12. This week has been selected because it included February 15, the anniversary of the day when the scout movement was started, Simonton said.

Other officers of the Lima council are Judge Fred Becker, vice president; E. M. Bolkin, secretary, and C. E. Malzen, treasurer.

1,200 EXPECTED TO TAKE PART IN EISTEDDFOD HERE

At least 1,200 persons will take part in the Eisteddfod to be held in Lima February 22. Mark Evans, corresponding secretary, predicts. Entries are being received from cities all over the state.

Recent entries have been from Dayton, Van Wert, Findlay, Delphos, Venedocia, Gomer, Youngs,ville, Bellefontaine, Bluffton, Leipsie and Pistoria as well as Lima, he says.

In Lima interest is growing at a rapid rate. Mrs. Irene Harritt Klinger is directing a female chorus of 40 voices, R. R. Mikosell will direct the mixed chorus of 60 voices and J. R. Longworth is attempting to reorganize the Mendelssohn male chorus.

Rev. William Surdival, a nationally known eisteddfod conductor will be in charge of the program. It is possible that another adjudicator will be obtained to assist D. A. Kippinger, Chicago, in the testing of the voices.

MOONEY SLATED FOR WASHINGTON POSTMASTER

WASHINGTON.—William M. Mooney of Steubenville, Ohio, chief clerk of the federal postoffice department, is scheduled to become postmaster of Washington next June, it became known Saturday.

Mooney, an influential friend of President Harding, with high grade social and political connections in Ohio, has been in the postoffice department 20 years. He was made chief clerk when Harding took office. Prior to that time he was considered a prospective postmaster general.

RECEITAL PLANNED
Miss Edna Sutter, pianist, of Toledo, will be presented in a recital Monday at 3 p. m. by the Crusaders of the First Congregational church at the church. Selections from the various better known composers and several pianologues will feature the program.

REBELLION KEPT ALIVE BY WOMEN

Wage Relentless Fight Against Irish Free State

ACTIVE WITH GUN AND BOMB

Work Wonders in Bolstering up Republican Spirit

LONDON.—(United Press)—Months of comic opera warfare against the Republicans, seasoned with ambushes and murders of Free State soldiers and civilians, have culminated in a thrust by the Irish government at the heart of the De Valera movement—the "black women."

Headed by Mary MacSwiney, sister of the Lord Mayor of Cork, who died in Brixton prison after a record hunger-strike, the "black women" of Slon Fein have kept the cry of "Up the Republic" ringing in the ears of the Free State government and the Irish people.

They, not the men, and particularly not Eamonn De Valera, head of the phantom Republic, have kept alive the rebellion. By speeches, written propaganda and even with rifle, pistol and bomb, they have registered their protest against the Irish Free State.

Heretofore the Free State government has directed its operations solely against the will of the wisp Republican heroes.

Now the Free State government has started on against the women. When De Valera passed the treaty with Great Britain, the six women members unanimously fought, tooth and nail, against peace. Mary MacSwiney, Countess Markiewicz, Anglo-Irish wife of a Polish count, and Mrs. Maude MacBride—herself not a member of the Dail—became the real heads of the Republican movement.

During the fighting with British troops and Black and Tans they had done wonders to keep up the spirit of the Irish Republican army and government.

BEGINNING OF FIGHT
No sooner had the treaty been passed than they began the fight against Irish troops. Almost to a man, as it was expressed in Dublin—the Sinn Fein women went against the Free State government; daughters, wives, mothers of men who had been imprisoned, wounded or killed during the fight with the British; sixteen-year-old girls, with their hair still down their backs, white-haired, gentle-looking mothers and grandmothers of sixty.

They helped to form the rival fighting force plotted with them and the girls became couriers for them, or even "soldiers" with them, despite, probably, rather than because of their knowledge that the chivalry of the Irishmen on the other side rendered them secure from intentional harm.

The Free State government's campaign against the women started when, in a raid on one of the rebel hiding places in Dublin—a house in a fashionable street—several women were detained, instead of, as heretofore, being released after a few hours or days under arrest.

Free State authorities believe that if they can arrest all the important women in the movement, it will be easy to handle the less belligerent men.

OFFER PRIZES TO MASKERS IN TORCHLIGHT FETE

Bal Mask Procession On Wednesday To Be Brilliant Revelry

WHOLE CITY WILL MASK

Special Festivities To Begin At Six O'clock In Afternoon

One of the most spectacular features of the Pageant of Progress and Mardi Gras Festival will be the Bal Masque street spectacle through the heart of the business district on Wednesday night at 6:30 o'clock.

On Wednesday, from 6 until midnight, masking will be permissible throughout the city and a general scene of revelry is expected to be enacted.

Of course the parade will be the big feature of the evening. It will form with its head facing west, at Union and E. North streets. Then it will proceed, promptly at 6:30 o'clock, west on North street, south on Elizabeth, west on High, south on McDonnell, east on Market, north on Elizabeth, east on High, south on Main across public square and thence to the Ottawa river bridge, where it will disband.

ALL INVITED
Every masker in the city is invited to join in the procession. Brilliant fumes, bathing the night in brilliant red glare, will mark the line of march. In the hands of the marching maskers will be red and green torches, casting a carnival blaze of glory over all.

At the Elks' club the balcony will be decorated in bunting and flags of gayest hue, and brilliantly illuminated with vari-colored electric lights, the king of the pageant and festival will review the procession.

At the Lima club, where the balcony also will be festooned and decked in gala attire, the queen of the pageant and festival, with her ladies in waiting, also will review the procession.

DOUBLE FILE
The maskers will march in double file. Torches will be distributed among them by members of the special bal masque committee of the pageant and festival organization. Of this committee, Dr. J. H. Blumentberg is chairman. With members of his committee, he will be in charge of the parade.

At the Elks' club, two of a committee of four impartial judges, will pick likely prize contenders from the ranks. These will fall in line behind the regular maskers and will proceed to the Lima club, where they will join another group of maskers to be picked from the maskers at that place by two more judges.

Then the likely contenders for prizes will proceed to the tabernacle, where they will be placed upon the stage. Members of the audience will decide who they think should receive the awards.

EIGHTEEN PRIZES
There will be four first and four second prizes for the men and an equal number for the women. After awards to reach chess-men and women—have been made, the contestants will unmask. Then the audience will designate the most beautiful girl among them and the handsomest man.

ARTISTIC SETTING TO BE FELDMAN STORE FEATURE

Latest Models To Be Exhibited In True Metropolitan Fashion

An artistic setting not frequently seen in local stores and one that is used in many of the display rooms of the larger city shops will add materially to the showing of the latest models in spring wearing apparel by the Feldman and company at their booth during Pageant week. The setting which will take the form of a scenic background and interior decoration is being planned by C. E. Lones, display man at Feldman, and is to be as elaborate as a Marshall Field setting.

Two buyers from the firm are now in the east to obtain the special models which will be used exclusively for display during Pageant week.

A splendid and varied assortment of afternoon and evening, gowns, suits and dresses, as well as millinery will be used to advantage in the display, as will also a special line of children's wear and novelties carried by Feldman and company.

A special lighting arrangement to display the frocks to proper advantage is being arranged in the booth.

VAPO STOVE TO SHOW OIL-GAS RANGES IN BOOTH

Assortment Of Best Sellers To Fill Exhibit At Pageant

The Vapo Stove company will show a few of its best selling stoves and burners in its booth at the exhibition of local stores and business firms at the Pageant of Progress the week of February 5.

An assortment of Vapo oil-gas ranges, carried by the local concern, which have been big selling numbers during the past few years, as well as several of the three and four-burner ranges, and built-in over-type and several one and two-burner heaters will be exhibited.

Mr. Kettler has just received a number of the newest styles in occasional tables for early spring display, and will put them on exhibition for the first time during Pageant Week. Gate legged tables, consoles and library tables are among the various styles that will be shown, and in addition there also will be a number of mahogany and polychrome finished work, and lamps for both table and floor.

The Pageant of Fashion

As Seen in The Feldman Shops

Neckwear

That much desired touch of refined dressiness may readily be acquired from our attractive assortment that makes inviting appeal to the woman who would be correctly dressed. Fashion says new paisley collars or smart berthas are chic.

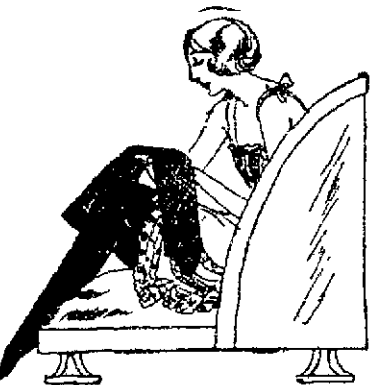

Ribbons

Are shown in the most beautiful patterns and color combinations. You couldn't wish for more narrow and wide ones for all Misses' uses. Those two-toned satin and tinsel ribbons in narrow widths are quite the thing, for they lend themselves to so many different uses. Don't forget Feldman's is the ribbon store of Lima.

Hosiery

In keeping with the daintiness and exquisite fineness of all spring accessories is the new Silk Hose. New Slippers appear their smartest when surmounted by ankles clad in full fashioned hose. Such well known brands as 'Gotham Gold Stripe' 'Notaseme,' 'Kayser's,' 'Waldrest,' 'Onyx,' etc.

Hand Bags

Those in search of the unique, beautiful and different in either purses or hand bags will be delightfully impressed with the assortment to be found at our Bag Shop. You will be pleased with the new vanilla and swaggar bags in patent leather, suede, ozz cow hide, tooled leathers and various colored silk bags. The prices are very reasonable.

Gloves

Feldman's Glove Shop is becoming more popular every day—and why shouldn't it? When women who know quality and style select their gloves here—and is not it a pleasure to know you are fitted correctly by competent saleswomen? Wide search will not reveal a more satisfying selection at moderate prices than is here available.

Corsets

Women are admired not only by their smiles but also by their clothes, but in order to wear clothes correctly one must be properly corseted. For the high school miss we show clever styled girdles—for the matured woman—corsets of renowned makers—Blüner, R. & G., C. B., etc. Let our corsetieres help you select your new corset. A fitting is no obligation if you are not pleased.

Child's Wear

It is Springtime in the shop with alluring new frocks, coats and hats for dress, school and every young occasion. Here are shown Fashion's latest creations for girls up to 16 years.

Lingerie

Silk underthings for Spring are here in beautiful array. Daintily colored and prettily trimmed they are so appealing to those of exacting taste. Handsomely fashioned Negligees are also shown in a great assortment of colors.

THE Fashion wires are fairly hot with News---Spring, Paris and the Master Designers of the Universe have agreed on this length skirt, that fabric, this turn of sleeve, that curve of neckline, that intriguing detail and fascinating new color. The vogue is settled---The Smart Spring Styles are made---And we must tell the News first.

THE DRESSES—

Introduce flat crepes, in soft draped lines. Paisley effects in wonderful colors and 3-piece costume dresses of tulle or crepe.

THE WRAPS—

show a decided tendency toward the sport type just now, but there are lovely wraps of precious, man-made and other soft fabrics—note the one sketched.

THE SUITS—

Two and 3-piece models are equally present. Box and jacquette styles are interesting as to necklines, sleeves and waists.

THE SPORT SKIRTS—

To complement the many clever spring sweaters are here, cameis, hair, knife pleated flannels and others in good looking blocked patterns.

THE NEW SWEATERS—

"Swagger Coats" in angora models, art silk sweaters, in many a gorgeous spring shade and the fleeciest of wools.

The correct Styles for Spring 1923 will be displayed on living models on the board walk. Besides this there will be a fascinating display of the "unusual" in feminine apparel at our booth at the Mardi Gras Festival.

PIONEERS, OLD SETTLERS, AND FARMERS TO MEET

Special Day At Pageant And Festival Is Being Planned

PRIZES TO BE GIVEN

Old Fiddlers Invited To Compete For First Honors

Farmers, pioneers and old settlers are expected to gather by the thousands on Friday—their day—of Pageant and Festival week, while scores of Old Fiddlers are looked for.

Through the Allen County Farm bureau, the Panama Grange and other agricultural organizations of Allen and adjoining counties, virtually every farmer, pioneer and old settler has been informed of the big event.

Special features of Friday—Farm, Pioneers', Old Settlers' and Old Fiddlers' Day—will be the awarding of prizes at the Tabernacle to the oldest farmer, in point of age, the oldest woman, the oldest pioneer and the oldest old settler.

FIDDLERS' CONTEST.

Then, afternoon and night, on the stage of the Tabernacle, it is planned to have an Old Fiddlers' contest.
Then, at the evening performance, handsome loving cups for the best, second and third best, will be awarded.

The audience will be the judges of the merits of the old fiddlers, expressing their preferences by applause.

In charge of arrangements for the special ceremonies, Friday is a committee composed of Thomas Grubb, justice of the peace, in Amanda township, Allen county; W. R. Pease, president of the Allen County Farm bureau; J. B. Binkley, of Lafayette, president of the Allen County Panama grange.

BIG ATTENDANCE.

Through the efforts of this committee, which has worked consistently for several weeks to arrange the details of Friday's festivities and to arouse enthusiasm probably the largest attendance of the Pageant and Festival week at the Tabernacle is

GAS COMPANY TO GIVE MODERN STOVE AWAY

Pageant Visitors Have Chance To Acquire Household Need

A splendid opportunity for any gas consumer in Lima or Allen county, Van Wert, Auglaize, Mercer counties as well as all sections dealing with the Lima Natural Gas company, is being offered by the company during the Pageant and Festival week—the week of Feb. 5.

A stove equipped with the most modern improvements will be given away the closing night of the Pageant.

The officials have not decided the exact make of stove that will be given away, but it probably will be one of the splendid line of gas ranges carried by the company. The stove will be on exhibition in the Lima Natural Gas company booth all during Pageant Week.

In addition a splendid assortment of radiant electric heaters, hot plates, gas lights and hot water heaters carried by the company will be on display.

MAUS TO SHOW ADVANCEMENT OF RADIO APPARATUS

Crude Set Used Ten Years Ago To Be Exhibited
Along Side Of Latest

A comparison of the crude radio apparatus in use some ten years ago when this now popular branch of service and entertainment was in its infancy will be made in the booth of the H. P. Maus Piano House and Radio department, during the week of the Pageant Feb. 5 to Feb. 10, inclusive.

Mr. H. H. Huesten of the radio department of the Maus company has been at great pains to improve the radio service at their house, and concerts will be received daily at the tabernacle from all of the large broadcasting stations including New York, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Atlanta, Ga., Newark, N. J., Davenport, Ia., and others. Exceptionally good service is to be received from Schenectady.

To show the advancement in radio during the past decade one of the old sets in use about eight or ten years ago with the crude apparatus then used, will be shown alongside the latest receiving set.

In addition to the radio display, new developments in reproducing planes which give the artist's technique and expression the same as though the living pianist were seated at the instrument; and the latest improvements in Brunswick phonograph service will be explained by a competent member of the musical

IMPROVEMENT IN SCHOOL SYSTEM TO BE SHOWN

Rhoda Brothers To Exhibit
Miniature Depicting Advancement

The vast improvement made during recent years in rural school education will be shown in miniature by Rhoda Bros. Body Works at their booth during Pageant Week. The added facility of motor bus services to all centralized schools in rural districts during the past several years, as well as the improvement of the schools themselves over the little old brick schoolhouses of a quarter a century or more ago, will be demonstrated as well.

The company has built a small motor chassis on which they will place the miniature of the school buses seen so frequently in rural districts conveying the students to and from school. A small reproduction of the centralized school, and near it a min-ture of the old brick schoolhouse with the children hurrying along country roads to school as was the case for so many years, will show to itself the advances that have been made with the addition of up-to-date motor bus service.

The slogan of the company "No Better Bodies Built" will be used on clever little souvenirs which will be given to all visitors at the booth.

In addition to the miniature reproduction, the new up-to-the-minute service car of the company, as well as several of the best commercial bodies, will be on display.

The House of Bluem's
1888 1923Pageant of Progress
Week of Feb. 5th.

George Washington---Feb. 22nd.

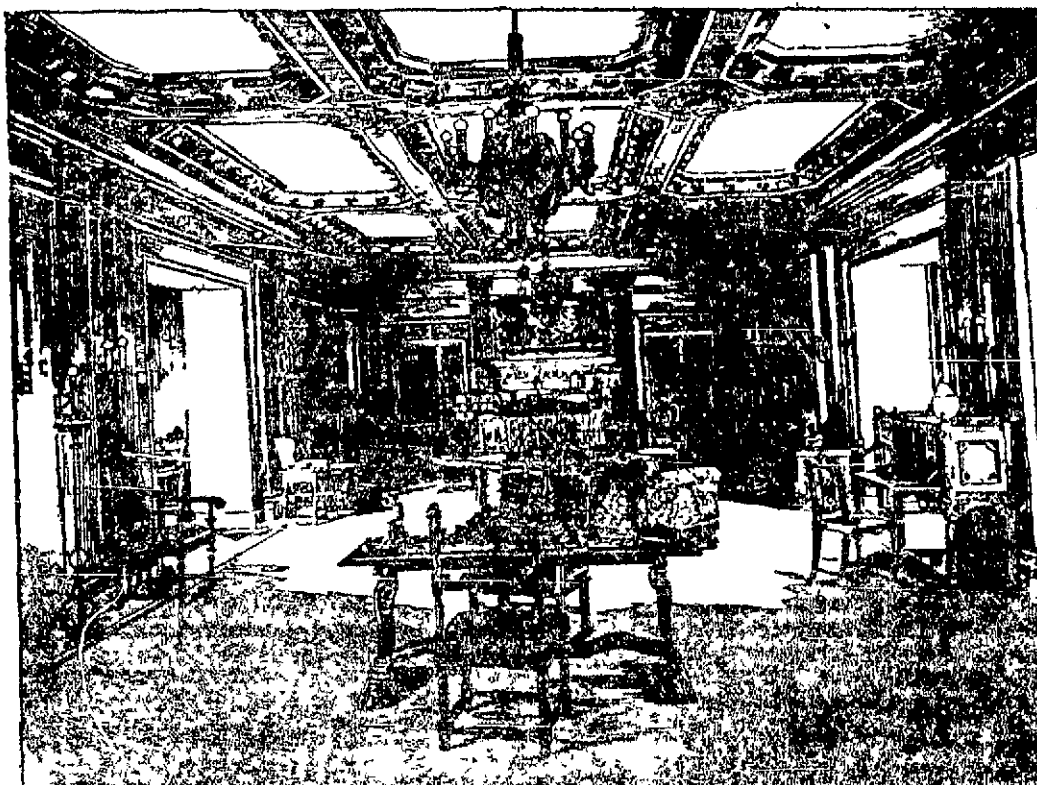

The House of Bluem

A peculiar, home-like atmosphere pervades this entire store. Perhaps one of the most distinguishing features of this great store is the very apparent lack of unnecessary noise commotion and distraction with which our great daily business is conducted.

On the busiest sections during special sales, wherever and whenever usually large numbers of people are attracted, there is that noticeable that prompt, courteous attention—that composure on the part of the salespeople whose every thought is directed toward ascertaining exactly what the customer wishes, then supplying that need in the most orderly, most expeditious and the most satisfactory manner.

It is the peculiar characteristic of "trading comfort" which in a very great measure disseminates that home-like feeling throughout this entire store.

The Hoover Sweeper and the Home Beautiful at The Pageant of Progress

Hoover Sweeper Exhibit

You want to purchase the most satisfactory electric cleaner.

You want the one that will remove the dirt. Then take the trouble to investigate thoroughly. There is a big difference in electric cleaners. Learn how they differ and why. Attend our exhibit at the Pageant where we will have a factory representative from the Hoover factory who will tell you all about it.

BLUEM'S HEADQUARTERS FOR HOOVER SWEEPERS

The Arrival of Spring Goods

The wealth of beautiful Goods that pours daily into this store, fresh, from the style centers, are amazing. Everything the newest, fresh as the verdant Spring.

The House of Bluem is a store for everybody—a great institution. It is permeated with an atmosphere of style—a characteristic that not only covers the more elaborate merchandise—or garment—but reaches even to the most inexpensive lines we sell.

Indeed, it is an atmosphere of style—correctness in everything in which style is concerned; and style of necessity is linked to quality. There is another feature equally as important as style and quality—high prices.

This store is your store! Its policy is dictated and directed by your demands. It will grow and become greater only by pleasing you. Your every dollar weighs a full hundred cents of value at all times. This Spring will find us better equipped to serve your fancy than ever before. Again, we say, keep in touch with Bluems on your shopping tours and you'll find his store of real service to you.

Visit Bluem's daily and you always find the newest things first.

WONDER PIANO TO BE FEATURED IN MUSIC DISPLAY

Chickering Reproducing Ampico
To Be Exhibited By

RE-ENACTS ARTISTS WORK

Masterpieces Of Greatest Living
Players Made Available Through This Instrument

The Chickering Reproducing Ampico Piano which ranks among the foremost inventions in connection with music since the invention of the piano itself, will be featured at the display of musical instruments by Fisk-Pursell Piano company during the Pageant.

This instrument re-enacts the playing of the pianists who have recorded for it so minutely and with such extraordinary perfection that it is impossible to distinguish it from the actual performance of the living pianist. On many occasions the Ampico has been subjected to the test of being heard publicly in the same concert with the artists themselves, repeating immediately after the performance by the living pianist, the same piece from a recording previously made at the Ampico Studios in New York.

The Ampico not only faithfully renders the letter of the virtuoso's playing, but catches his spirit. In addition to classic masterpieces, can be heard the finest artistry of contemporary artists who contribute the lighter classics, operatic selections, wild songs and masters of syncopation whose playing of current popular rags, musical comedy and music for dancing is of the highest order.

The roster of artists whose playing may be heard by means of the Ampico is a remarkable one. In the classic masterpieces of music the interpretations of the greatest pianists in the world are offered. Of these Godowsky, Rachmaninoff, Hamburg, Ornstein, Levitzki, Carreno, Copeland, Rubinstein, Yoland Mero and others have all made their records in the Ampico Recording Studios.

In addition to the above named piano, a Guthrie player, and Chaney and Capitol phonographs also will be on display and an attendant will demonstrate for all visitors.

ITALIAN DINING SUITE WILL BE DISPLAY FEATURE

Costly Work Of Cabinet Maker

One of the most effective as well as attractive furniture displays at the Pageant will be an Italian Renaissance dining room suite, which will be shown by the Hoover-Roush company. This suite consisting of ten pieces, five floor chairs, one host chair, all handsomely upholstered in Genoese Hungarian cloth, buffet, china closet and serving table are a combination of Italian and American walnut.

Details of the Italian Renaissance period are employed conservatively in this suite, in keeping with the taste of early Florentine cabinet makers, using the finest of walnut, and finished to represent the "Tadina" that was employed so effectively on antique Italian furniture.

Genuine inlay or Marquetry is used on all of the pieces being an unusually good model and exact reproduction of the early Florentine goods of a better class which was originally used.

Lifelike figures of wax wearing new spring apparel, also will be used in the display, as will buffet lamps and table adornments of latest pattern.

If It's In Print
It's Fashionable

By ELOISE.

Gowns are hurrying into print again. It seems as if everything were printed, skirts, blouses, entire frocks, hats, parasols, in fact everything but shoes. Perhaps before this is out even shoes will be in print. Prints acknowledge the lure of the east and every new material boasts fantastic designs in rich oriental colorings. The costume of the hour which is held in highest esteem is the separate blouse and skirt.

The skirts may be plain in color or printed, but they are usually accented with whatever the fabric. Over them is worn a simple overblouse which is a riot of color and a maze of intricate designs. The ornamentation is confined to the elaborateness of the printed material, the style being severely plain with kimono sleeves and loose lines. This costume is representative of many others now being shown in smart shows. Here the skirt is printed and shows a border. The blouse, however, merely blends in with the colors shown in the skirt and is of an entirely different print. It is a lovely costume for informal afternoon wear.

GASOLINE PUMP ACCURACY WILL BE EXPLAINED

Lilly White To Prove Short Measure Charge Untrue
Through Exhibit

Refutation of the charge that gasoline pumps at the stations of the Lilly White Oil company are inaccurate, will be made during Pageant and Festival week by this concern in its exhibit booth at the tabernacle.

Demonstration of the positive mechanical accuracy of Bowsher pumps in measuring the gasoline dispensed at Lilly White stations will be in the hands of an expert from F. Wayne, brought here especially to show Pageant and Festival visitors that they are not being cheated when dealing at any of the stations conducted by the Lilly White Co.

It was decided to make these demonstrations the predominant note in the Lilly White exhibit at the tabernacle because of certain agitators and propaganda tending to create the suspicion of many motorists that they were being short measured and should look askance upon all pumping stations. The Lilly White company expects to convince all who will stop and listen that honesty in measuring the exact quantity purchased is the unflinching policy of this concern.

In addition to the accuracy demonstration there will be on display in the Lilly White booth samples of two full line of oils and greases handed by this concern.

DEISEL-WEMMER PLAN SURPRISE BOOTH EXHIBIT

Nature Of Display To Remain Secret Until Pageant Formally Opens

A surprise for all visitors at the Deisel-Wemmer company booth is being planned by Walt DeWeese, advertising manager of the company, who has complete charge of the decorations for this booth.

Mr. DeWeese stated that he had a novel form of arrangements worked out, but does not care to announce his plans previous to the opening of the Pageant. The display undoubtedly will be among the finest, as Mr. DeWeese's ability along decorative and artistic lines is unexcelled.

Through the courtesy of the Deisel-Wemmer company, Mr. DeWeese's services as decorator, have been given for the Pageant to the Lima Druggists association and the Elks' lodge, and he will have charge of both of these booths.

ELKS TO SHOW PRIZE AUTO IN LODGE BOOTH

Local Artist Engaged In Arranging For Attractive Exhibit

The prize winning Cadillac car to be given away May 12 by Lima Lodge 64 B P. O. E. during their spring festival will have the place of honor in the Elks booth during the Pageant and Mardi Gras Festival. Artist Walt DeWeese is busy engaged in planning decorations for the booth which will be very simple, carrying out the Elks colors of purple and white.

Negotiations are under way to obtain from Indianapolis a life sized stuffed elk, which will be placed in front of the car. On the rear wall an elk head will be suspended, and from this head streamers of purple and white satin ribbon will radiate to the front of the car, enclosing it in a spiderweb effect.

A subdued lighting effect will be used throughout.

Several young women will act as hostesses at the booth both afternoon and evening, and will welcome all visitors.

FORD PROGRESS TO BE SEEN IN FESTIVAL DISPLAY

1906 Touring Car To Be Exhibited With Latest Models

A comparison of the progress made during the past eighteen years in the improvement of Ford automobiles over the machines of the early part of the twentieth century will be made in the booth of the Timmerman Sales company at the Pageant festival. A Ford touring car of the vintage of 1906, and one of the oldest Ford automobiles in the city will be placed alongside one of the handsome 1923 Ford sedans which are sold by the company. The vast number of improvements and refinements that have been added to both interior and exterior of the cars during the past dozen and a half years can easily be seen by all interested visitors. Leaflets with cuts of the up to date salesroom and storage departments of the Timmerman Sales company will be presented to all visitors at their booth. Other lines of machinery carried by the local firm will also be on display at the same booth.

OPERATOR TO BE ON HAND

Old Time, New Switchboards To Be Features Of Exhibit

A comparison of the advances made in telephone service during the past decade will be shown at the Lima Telephone company booth, according to H. E. Sumonton, commercial agent of the Telephone company.

One of the regular telephone operators with desk, and specially installed automatic switchboard showing the ray of calls and the excellent manner in which they are put through, will be enclosed in the booth. This operator will handle the regular daily service the same as though working at the telephone plant on South Elizabeth street, and visitors, many of whom are probably unfamiliar with the manner of service, will have this opportunity of seeing how the Lima telephone service ranks as among the foremost in the country.

An old time switchboard in use previous to 1914 when the automatic system was installed will be placed in the booth to show the comparison between old and modern telephone service.

MORRIS BROTHERS TO USE UNIQUE DISPLAY SCHEME

Booth To Represent "A Masterpiece In Large Picture Frame"

A complete line of men's wearing apparel will be displayed by the Morris Bros. Clothing company at their booth during Pageant Week. The interior decoration will take the form of a large gilt picture frame, five by eight feet which will be built back about four feet from the entrance of the booth.

A "Masterpiece" will be the foundation above the picture while enclosed in purple and white cloth lining the sides and back will be the display of apparel. Baskets of flowers will adorn either side of the frame.

OHIO POWER TO SHOW TWO NEW LINES BUILDING

Map In Tabernacle Booth To Chart Roads Heading For Lima

To give the people of Lima and adjoining towns and cities an idea of the service conducted by the Ohio Power company, formerly the Ohio Electric Railway, a large map, eight by ten feet, will be displayed in the Ohio Power booth at the Tabernacle during Pageant and Festival week. The map will show the various towns connected by the electric railway service.

Canton, East Liverpool, Steubenville, Newark, Fostoria and Tiffin are among some of the larger towns where lines are now operating. On the map also will be shown the two new lines now under construction by the company, the first of which is being built from Fostoria, connecting with Lima, and which is due to be completed and ready for service by Sept. 1st of this year.

The second line is being built from Philo, a village a short distance below Zanesville, and also run into Lima, and will greatly facilitate electric service in the central and southeastern part of the state.

At the present time, work has been started on the foundation of a power house at Philo, but it is not expected that the road will be completed and ready for service until the autumn of 1924.

MAKE FORD LOOK LIKE PACKARD IN BODY DESIGNS

Lima Sheet Metal Products Company, Answers New Demand

"How to make a Ford look like a Rolls Royce" will be shown in the exhibit of the Lima Sheet Metal company during the Pageant of Progress and Mardi Gras Festival, to be held in Lima the week of February 5.

Every one interested in automobiles, or machinery, will be interested in the exhibition of the "Limaco," a new motor car locally built, that made its appearance in Lima during the past two weeks. It has the Ford motor and chassis, is understung and has a special body designed and built by the Lima Sheet Metal products company.

The body is manufactured in two units entirely of sheet metal, assembled by the welding process over frame or base plates of fourteen gauge sheet steel. Instrument board and seat back supports and dash boards are made from sixteen gauge steel. The body is finished in two coats of gray baked enamel.

Provision is made in the rear of the car for the gasoline tank, an extension filler cap being furnished. Back cushion, mounted on removable board, affords easy access to the large rear luggage compartment. Seat cushion is of the conventional Ford type.

Floor boards have well froned slots around the pedals. Special fittings are furnished for lowering the steering gear and attaching to instrument boards. The hood is of the three-inch type with the new semi-exposed top hinge, the same as used on all high grade cars.

Underlugs fixtures include a drop forged underlug axle of the very best grade of steel, heated and treated together with the very best fixtures for lowering the frame at the rear end. It is not necessary to remove the springs from their original position on the Ford chassis.

LIMA DRUGGISTS TO SHOW NEW, OLD METHODS

Association Takes Tabernacle Booth To Educate Public In Confidence

A comparison of present day methods in the most modern drug stores, with the methods used in stores of a quarter of a century or more, ago, will feature the display of the Lima Druggists association, which will be among the most interesting and instructive booths at the Pageant and Festival.

Through the courtesy of the DeWitt-Walker Co., the services of the advertising manager, Walt DeWeese, well known local artist, have been offered to the association. DeWeese will have complete charge of the decoration and booth arrangements.

The purpose of the druggists display, according to M. M. Keitner, chairman, is not a commercial one, and only those standard articles which are carried by every reliable firm of druggists will be used in the booth. No special line of goods or articles will be exploited.

To further the education of the public in the work that is being done by druggists, 5,000 leaflets have been donated to the association by Eli Lilly and Co., Indianapolis, for distribution to all visitors. The recently adopted slogan of the National Druggists association, "Your Druggist is 'More Than a Merchant. Try the Drug Store First.'" will be displayed prominently. The leaflets also will explain, briefly, the advances made in recent years by druggists for the betterment of public service.

A novel form of decoration, portraying the old fashioned drug store, painted on a scenic background, will be used by DeWeese and will show a prescription room, with scales, bottles and jars used a number of years ago. Many of these relics have been loaned to the association by the Fort Wayne Drug company, including chemically colored jars of water, in use some twenty years ago by druggists and before the day of electric sign display, to guide patients to drug stores, at night.

The druggists emblem, the "mortar and pestle," together with the adopted emblem of the Lima Druggists association, two clasped hands, with the inscription "Confidence" will top a monumental mass effect of simple articles carried by practically every pharmacist.

DEMOCRATIC SHIP HEADED TOWARDS STATE CONTROL

Governor's Message To Assembly
Creates Consternation
Among Followers

FOLLOWING COX IDEAS

See Attempt To Restore Commission Form Of Government
In Attack On Davis Code

COLUMBUS, Feb. 3.—The message of Governor Donahay to the general assembly on last Thursday has been the cause of considerable apprehension among the governor's followers and democratic leaders generally that the chief executive is driving the Democratic machine into the morass of state ownership and the quicksand of economic folly, that has engulfed many democratic administrations, in state and national.

The recommendation of the governor for the rehabilitation and improvement of the state brick plant and the acquisition by construction or purchase of a cement plant, has not only the economic losses and inefficiency that has so generally attended the state's efforts to conduct the state brick plant in a small way, and the contemplation of a more substantial embarkation in the field of commercial competition has caused the visualization of such financial disaster and loss to the state as would compel liberal appropriations of the tax payers' money to salvage the socialist wreck.

The construction and maintenance of cement plants are attended with even greater financial hazards than that of the brick plant. Both of them are technical in character and their successful operation calls for the most scientific and expert knowledge as the maximum of executive ability.

CALLS FOR TECHNIQUE

Coupled with the recommendations the governor already has made, come the rumors that he is being led into a program of state ownership that embraces the erection and operation of gravel, sand and stone plant for road making operations, as well as that of coal mines for supplying coal to institutions and for all state purposes. The successful conduct of business of this character requires rare technique, practical experience and high class executive and administrative ability. When undertaken by the state and directed by one with the little experience it has been the opportunity of the governor to enjoy. They are destined to ultimate failure and become expensive experiments.

LACK OF SPACE LIMITS DISPLAY OF BUICK CARS

Popular Line Will Be Able To Show Only Two Models

On account of limited floor space the Lima Buick company can only show two models of their complete and popular line which consists of fifteen distinctive models on both the six and four cylinder chassis.

The six cylinder sedan is a closed car suited to every kind of motoring. Business driving during the day—social motoring in the evening, week-end tours and vacation trips—are all equally enjoyable in the Buick five passenger touring sedan. It is rich in the luxury of its Fisher built body and has every refinement for year round comfortable and convenient driving. A sturdy trunk carried on the rear affords luggage space for touring and adds a distinctive smartness to the appearance of the car.

The new four cylinder five passenger sedan which is also well equipped in every particular will be shown at the National Auto shows in New York and Chicago.

The Buick has occupied first place at both national shows for five consecutive years which is a nation's tribute to Buick.

with the taxpayers footing the bills.

That part of his message embodying an attack upon the reorganization code is taken as an indication of his endeavor to restore the Cox commission form of government, increase the number of high salaried commissions and positions for deserving Democrats and facilitate the building and perfecting of a Donahay political machine.

MORE HIGHLY COMMENDED

The adoption of the Jenkins resolution in the senate and the Herbert resolution in the house, pledging to President Harding the fealty and confidence of the general assembly in the foreign policy of the national administration, and conveying the unqualified affirmation of the legislature that the president and the department of state were wisely, sincerely and courageously carrying out the mandate of the American public against entangling European alliances as conveyed in the solemn referendum in November 1920, has received the commendation of patriotic citizens generally, irrespective of party affiliation.

The resolutions, unanimously adopted and following closely upon the defeat of a senate resolution seeking to advise and direct the foreign policy of the country, not only express what is manifestly the overwhelming sentiment of the American public, but are indicative of the businesslike manner in which the Republican majority is handling the business of the state, as reflected in proposed legislation.

BEAUTY IS BEAUTY, DRAPED OR UNDRAPE, SAY FRENCH ARTISTES

Paris Dancers Hit At Yankees Who Frequent Front Row Seats Of Theaters On Successive Nights And Who Are "Purists" At Home

PARIS, Feb. 1.—Criticism from the United States that French theatrical art frequently is nude to the point of indecency have aroused scores of the profession whose livelihood depends upon their ability to present nudity in such a fashion that it is attractive. As a result, they have stirred up a discussion in the French press as to whether nudity really comes under the classification of "art" and are filling columns with apologetic expositions of stage philosophy.

Of these the views of Jane Myro and Edmonde Guy, whose transparently clad forms have long been the joy of Parisians, to say nothing of even the most puritanical Americans who have succumbed to the stimulus of a few bottles of champagne, are characteristic of the attitude of the French stage on this immortal question.

Mlle. Myro says that censors of naked beauty invariably are those whom nature has not provided with neither limbs agreeable to look upon, in other words, those who are "mal fichus." This translated into good American, means badly built which is not exactly synonymous with beauty. "Moreover," says Mlle. Myro, "it has usually shocked men who take their lives home with loud protestations of our nude indecency, but who are found in the first rows on many successive nights."

Edmonde Guy takes a more artistic view, insisting that it all depends whether an agreeable picture is presented, for instance, by inclusion in some pastoral or ancient scene. "In other words," says Mlle. Guy, "indecency ends where beauty commences. If Phryne before the judges had not presented an artistic vision, do you think she would have been acquitted?"

The same introspective philosophy does not affect a few male dancers who rely upon semi-nudity to earn exceptional salaries in some leading French music halls. Van Buren, one of the best known of these, admits openly he prefers nakedness because it enables him to earn higher wages and so far as indecency is concerned, "as long as the feet are clean there is no ground for what has long been one of the characteristic features of French stage art."

O'HIGGINS PLANS RESTORATION OF IRISH CIVIL LAW

Government Faces Serious Problem In Refusal Of People To Pay Their Debts

Home Secretary Places Much Hope In Large Force Of Unarmed Police

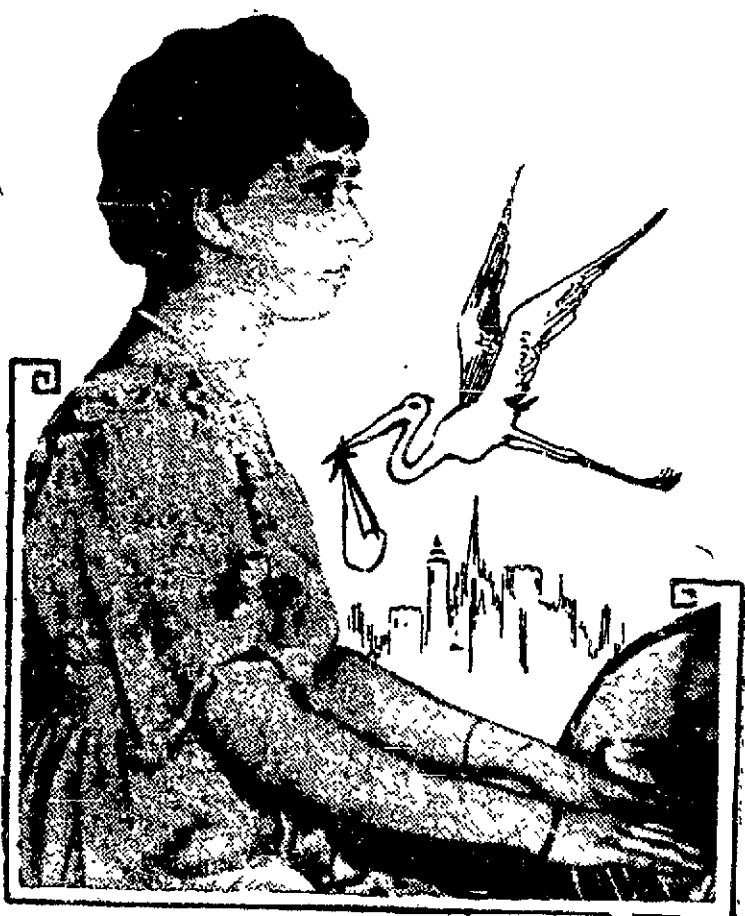

DUBLIN, Feb. 3.—Ireland is not only sick with armed strife but is suffering from widespread demoralization and the dissolving of the common sanctions of life. While the irregulars are bombing troops and wrecking trains many normally decent people are refusing to pay their debts. They are sued in the courts and decrees obtained against them but these decrees are often waste paper and the sheriffs in many districts have sheafs of them which they are unable to execute.

Putting down the rebellion is the work of Gen. Mulcahy. The restoration of civil law is the task of Home Secretary Kevin O'Higgins, who has given an interview as to his plans. O'Higgins is well under 30. He is a nephew of Gov.-Gen. Healy and grandson of T. D. Sullivan, once famous as the poet of the home rule movement. He has shown remarkable ability and unflinching courage. He is President Cosgrave's chief assistant in the government and would be capable of taking Cosgrave's place if circumstances necessitated it. Hence he is especially hated by the enemies of the Free State and has to live permanently in the shelter of the government buildings.

TO ENFORCE CIVIL DECREES

Secretary O'Higgins asserted that it was his intention to enable all sheriffs to enforce civil decrees. Everybody who can pay his debts will be forced to pay. He is giving each sheriff an armed guard of 50 picked soldiers to protect him in making seizure of the goods of defaulters. Even seizures when accomplished have hitherto been fruitless to extract money because in

ENGLAND AWAITS STORK'S VISIT TO HOME OF PRINCESS MARY

LONDON, Jan. 31.—This city today is all agog over the probable arrival of a royal baby soon. Princess Mary has arrived at Chesterfield House, her London residence, accompanied by Viscount Lascelles. Queen Mary has arrived in London to be near the Princess until the arrival of the royal baby.

All the pomp and splendor which is the prerogative of royalty accompanies the preparations that are being made to give the new member of Great Britain's royal family a tempestuous welcome. All England is anxiously waiting for the news of the happy event, young women and old are busy making little gifts for the royal child, and even the hard-boiled London burgher takes an interest in the news.

Many places the goods seized could not find buyers.

Therefore, O'Higgins said he is taking power to sell seized goods anywhere, even outside of Free State territory, and this obviously means that seized cattle could be sold in Liverpool or in Belfast. He be-

The christening robe the new-comer will wear possesses considerable historic interest, since it was first used for the infant Albert Edward, later Edward VII. Queen Victoria later gave it to Queen Alexandra, who used it for each of her children, and in turn passed it on to Queen Mary, who utilized it at the baptism of the Prince of Wales. It is a beautiful garment enriched with old lace which is almost priceless.

London society is making extravagant preparations to celebrate the expected event with a series of brilliant balls and other festivities. When the royal babe arrives there will be waiting for it untold riches and the interest of England, as well as the world.

Heaves that extreme measures on a large scale will not be necessary and that once the defaulters are convinced by effective demonstration that the government is in earnest they will pay up without further trouble.

O'Higgins expressed great satisfaction at the efficiency of 26 new magistrates he had appointed for the local courts and said that they were functioning with popular sympathy. He has great hopes of his new police. The old constabulary was a semi-military force fully equipped with rifles and thereby obstructed in its civil duties. Hence he has sent out the new police force entirely unarmed.

When asked whether he thought it safe to expose these men to the risk of armed attacks by irregulars he replied that the irregulars, he was convinced, would prefer to see them armed. They would be encouraged to attack them in the hope of capturing the weapons and would try to justify their attacks as acts of war.

The police, according to O'Higgins are standing up courageously to all intimidations. They are mostly men who proved their mettle in the fight against the English when many irregulars showed no fight. The principal task of the police will be to check illicit drink traffic. Not only are the licensing laws in many districts disregarded and drink sold at prohibited hours but the manufacture of moonshine has become a flourishing industry. O'Higgins attributed some of the recent terrible outrages to frenzy, caused by this powerful drink. Four thousand police are enrolled. Most of them are at work with the rest in training and he expects that they will succeed in checking these evils.

O'HIGGINS IGNORES THREATS

Secretary O'Higgins, like other ministers, receives many threatening letters and must be conscious of extreme risks, but he ignores them and goes ahead. He has as the sole picture in his room a memento mori in the shape of the last portrait of his friend Michael Collins laid out in death. In referring to the suppression of the rebellion, he said it was a military matter, but within his own department he would do all possible to restore Ireland to normal conditions.

But everybody in Dublin realizes that all betterment plans must fail unless this rebellion is stopped, and as yet there is no prospect of a speedy end to the conflict. Each week seems to bring a heavier toll of damage than the last.

UNIFORMITY IN MARKING MAIL MATTER URGED

Poorly Addressed Publications Undeliverable, Albert E. Gale Says

CHIEF SENDS ORDERS

Clean Type, Good Paste and Wrappers Needed To Insure Deliveries

Postmaster Albert E. Gale requests uniformity in the addressing of copies of publication mailed as second class matter at local post offices. Lack of some uniform addressing leads to much undeliverable second class matter, W. Irving Glover, third Assistant Postmaster General, informs Gale.

The most noticeable trouble arises from: Lack of uniform position of addresses; mutilation of addresses when cut from mailing strips; blurred too faint addresses from lack of ink; addresses when too much ink is used; blurred addresses from unclean or too small type; lack of sufficient paste, or use of poor quality paste allows addresses to fall off; too much paste binding copies together and mutilating addresses when pulled apart for sorting.

SHOULD CLEAN TYPE
"Addresses should be in long primer or 10-point type, as Assistant Postmaster General Glover recommends," said Gale. "Addresses prepared by the needle-point process are not plain, and the use of such addresses is to be discouraged."

"Type should be cleaned frequently. Black ink, or a color which strongly contrasts with the color of the periodical should be used. Too often the address is stamped over reading matter. This makes it difficult for postmen to locate the address, and is also unpleasant for the readers of the publication."

"Publications mailed in single wrappers should be so wrapped that they will lie flat; never should they be rolled. It is too difficult to find the address, and the little delay made by each package soon amounts to a big delay, when multiplied by the large number of copies of publications sent by second class mail."

DON'T USE NEWSPAPERS
"The most convenient wrapped size for handling is not larger than 9 by 12 inches. Of course all publications cannot be kept within this size, but whenever possible it is recommended. Small publications should be placed in envelopes. Old newspapers should not be used as wrappers."

Hundreds of copies of second class mail matter are undeliverable from the local postoffice each week. These copies are kept for 30 days, and if not called for are thrown away. This large quantity of reading matter is expected by subscribers to the different publications, and as Gale points out, the non-delivery causes ill feeling toward the publisher. Subscribers will be benefited if more care is taken in the addressing, as Gale says.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Theodore Roosevelt left a net estate of $801,171, which was distributed to his widow and children May 31, 1922, according to a report filed in the Supreme court yesterday by John F. Conway, referee, appointed to pass upon accounts of Edith Kermit Roosevelt, Jr., and George Edwin Roosevelt, executors.

The referee approves the accounts submitted and recommends that the court disallow the claim of Mrs. Edith R. Roosevelt for $69,000. Mrs. Roosevelt filed suit against the former president's estate, alleging he had induced a note given to her by Charles J. Shunson. The note was dated Jan. 21, 1912. The suit was dismissed in Supreme court a year and a half ago.

Col. Roosevelt's personal estate composed chiefly of railroad and municipal stocks and bonds, was $687,376 when he died, Jan. 6, 1919. Its value had increased to $752,215 by May 31, 1922, according to the report. Out of the personal estate the executors paid $5,011 funeral expenses, $11,894 debts, $12,739 for expenses of administration, $77,997 inheritance and transfer taxes and $24,890 commissions to executors, leaving $620,000.

Transportation A Means to Progress

Makes Neighbors Of Us

Inter-city and Interurban Motor Coaches, used as "Feeders" to existing City and Interurban Car Lines, and as substitutes for proposed extensions, provide flexible transportation within and to the larger and more populated centers.

Further Educational Possibilities

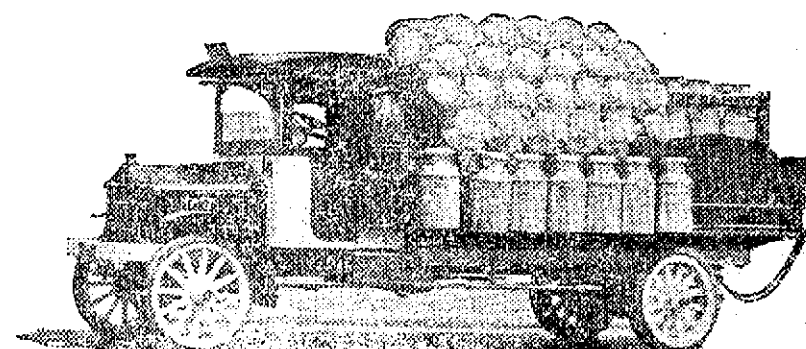

The days of the one-room country schools are numbered. Centralized or Community Schools with the same educational opportunities as the city high schools, have been made available with the aid of dependable school-bus transportation.

In the progressive movement of its community, the Garford Motor Truck Company has kept pace by supplying modern units for the most recently developed transportation problems. Such items as Fire Protection, Passenger Transportation, Centralization of Country Schools, Greater Efficiency in Food Delivery Systems and Building Extension are included in the program of Garford's progress. Facilities for providing units these particular transportation demands have been brought about by Garford's recent plant extension. Modern manufacturing methods are employed throughout the entire Garford plant, giving to Truck Users at a low and reasonable investment—a quality product.

Now!—An Income Tax on Excess Profits of Beauty

But Baltimore's Most Beautiful Girl Claims Exemption on the Grounds that She Is Not Offering Her Charms for Sale

"If the goddess
Diana were alive to-day," Declared Miss Griffin, "I suppose she'd be taxed as an animal trainer."

The Line Drawing of Diana
of the Statue by Anna Vaughn Blount.

Two Photo-

Maybelle Griffin, Baltimore's Charmingly
Indignant Prize Beauty.

DRAT that income tax! Here it is picking on pretty Maybelle Griffin, belle of Baltimore, and for no reason at all except that she's beautiful!

Miss Griffin won a beauty contest in Baltimore. The prize was $500. A department store gave her a $1,000 gown as an additional prize. And then the Government came snooping along and said, "Tax, please!"

When Miss Griffin recovered from her amazement she wanted to know why.

And the Government told her. It was this way, said the Government: A few years ago there was a war, and during the war Congress imposed an income tax to help pay for it. Perhaps Miss Griffin had heard about the tax?

Oh, yes, Miss Griffin had! She'd heard a lot about it, especially from her men friends. She remembered—it was last March, wasn't it?—they mentioned it so frequently. Also so wrathfully. One of her men friends defined it for her: "You work hard for a year to make all the profit you can, and then the Government comes along next year and takes the profit away. That's the income tax, see?"

The Government collector coughed. He admitted Miss Griffin knew about the income tax, though her definition was rather bald. He said, however, that Miss Griffin was wrong if she thought it was a tax for men only. It applied to everybody and everything.

To society girls, for instance, as well as to working girls. To the beauty business as well as the coal business, and the ice business and the plumbing business and the bond business. Miss Griffin's income was richer by $1,500 by reason of her beauty, wasn't it?

Well, then, the tax on that—

"But I'm not in the beauty business," objected Miss Griffin. "I'm not in any business. I didn't work for the prize or the gown. I—I just was! You can't tax my face because I was born with it, can you?"

The Government collector went back to his chief and made Miss Griffin's point. And the chief thought a bit and said he couldn't see it that way, and sent the Government collector back to Miss Griffin to restate the Government's argument.

The Government's argument was exactly what it was before, only more emphatic. Miss Griffin was a resident of these United States, wasn't she? She was. She had an income, didn't she? She did. The income included that aforesaid $1,500, didn't it? Why, yes—so to speak. And there was an income tax law, eh? There certainly was! Well—there you were.

And there Miss Griffin was. But there she was with an argument, too. The Government seemed to think that owning a face was like owning a building. If you got rent from the building you paid an income tax on the rent. If you got profit from the face, you paid income tax on the profit.

That was all very well, pointed out Miss Griffin, but suppose one's face was not for sale? Here, for instance, was not. She wasn't an artist's model. She didn't pose for painters or photographers, for the movies or the clothing store advertisements, or the posters proclaiming the merits of somebody's dental cream or face powder.

Her beauty, in short, was not her business. (And it wasn't the prying old Government's, either!) She went into this beauty contest as she might have gone into a game. She didn't care for the $500 prize particularly; it was the excitement of the thing. As for the $1,000 gown, that was given to her outright. She didn't ask for it, she didn't hint for it. The department store man came to her. He wanted her to wear the gown, because on "Baltimore's most beautiful girl" it was good advertising for his store. But he didn't pay her to wear it. He merely offered it as a gift. Was she going to be taxed every time she accepted flowers from a man—or books—or candy—or perhaps an engagement ring?

"Why," exclaimed Miss Griffin, "if the goddess Diana were alive to-day and living in this country, I suppose the income tax office would class her as an animal breeder and trainer because she kept hunting dogs and doves and got a lot of fun out of them and a stag or two! They'd tax Venus, too, for bringing Pygmalion's Galatea to life. My favorite picture shows that famous scene. In one corner of it is a Cupid fondling some pearls. At least, I always thought it was a Cupid. Now I know better. It's an income tax appraiser—he's waiting for her to come to so he can get to work."

Such an outburst from an indignant young woman would be enough to overwhelm the average collector. But apologies failed to spring to the lips of the Government agent. He stood pat on his own argument—beauty or no beauty, gift or no gift, Diana or no Diana, Miss Griffin's income was larger by $1,500 than it had been before, and therefore her income tax must be larger, too. That was the Government's last word.

It wasn't Miss Griffin's, however. She would fight the case, she announced. She couldn't give back the $1,000 gown if she wanted to. It was worn out months ago. Neither could she return the $500, if such a thing could be considered for a moment, which it couldn't be. She had spent it—oh, weeks and weeks ago! She, like the Government, would stand pat.

And so, in Washington, the people who decide the knotty problems of when income is not income have a new problem before them. And it appears to be the knottiest of them all. The job of ruling on an author's contention that all rejected manuscripts are work done and not paid for, therefore deductible from income, is child's play beside it.

The question is, When is beauty commercialized and when isn't it? And it resolves itself down to another question: Where to draw the line?

For a line must be drawn somewhere. Clearly there is beauty that is commercial, that is a business to its owner, that wins her big profit, that pays a taxable dividend. Mary Pickford pays one of the largest income taxes in America. And her beauty is chiefly responsible for her income. So do Marion Davies, Norma Talma, Gloria Swanson and other picture queens. There is no contention on their part that they, as beauties, should be tax exempt.

But just as clearly, at the other extreme, beauty is not always taxable when it is a workable asset. Pretty flappers are not taxed on the basis of the number of presents they receive from boy friends; yet they have cashed in, so to speak, on their charm. Their older sisters may get diamond rings galore—and keep them, as older sisters frequently do. But thus far no income tax collectors have called to demand why the sparklers weren't included in the March 1st return. Nor are wives paying income tax on that extra pocket money adoring husbands occasionally distribute.

Will it come to that? Miss Griffin, after her experience, seems to think it will. As she says, "If they can put me in jail for making a false return, then nobody is safe. Income tax? It sounds more like a tax on beauty to me!"

Byron Chandler, the "Millionaire Kid" and His Third Wife, Grace La Rue, the Actress. They Were the Object of All Eyes at the Grand Prix Races in France.

The Dreadful Embarrassment Of Being the "Millionaire Kid"

"Everywhere I Go the Whisper Follows Me: 'That's Byron Chandler'" Laments Broadway's Spectacular Spender, Off for Europe to Dodge the Reputation He Won and Couldn't Lose Here

THE "Millionaire Kid" must put the Atlantic Ocean between Broadway and himself in order to make life worth living!

Every time he strolls into a restaurant, heads turn and tongues clack. "There he goes—the Millionaire Kid!"

Every time he walks down a theatre aisle, whispers pursue him, "It's the Millionaire Kid!"

He can't stop his car on the Avenue, he can't light a cigarette at Longacre Square, he can't buy a paper or a shave within radio distance of Broadway without hearing the hail of "Millionaire Kid!"

And Byron Chandler is sick of this nickname; sick of his life as spender, good fellow, sun dodger, fun plunger; sick of the gaudy role, partly self-made and partly wished on him by a republic that delights in celebrities.

"That's why I'm going to England," says Byron Chandler. "I can live there just as Byron Chandler. I can't here. I'm a 'man who.' I'm the man who married four stars and was sued by a fifth he didn't and couldn't marry, or the man who blew a million, or the 'Millionaire Kid.' I might add that I am the man who has nothing to show for his fun but a rep he can't shake off, a bale of checks he can't cash, and a barrel of I. O. U.'s he'll never collect."

"And there's something else"—Byron Chandler paused and his face was very wistful—"my mother. She doesn't know anything about Broadway. She doesn't know anything about millionaire kids. She wouldn't understand if she did know. I'm not a 'man who' to her. I'm just Byron, her boy. And that's what I'd like to be if Broadway would let me."

The way in which Byron Chandler spoke of his mother—the silvery-haired old gentlewoman living far away from Broadway in the green hills of Vermont—gave a picture of another Byron Chandler, his companion of Manhattan's "frisky forties" would have a hard time recognizing.

Byron Chandler is the son of a multi-millionaire family, but a family steeped in the Puritan tradition. The father of this boy, who was to paint a golden trail from Columbus Circle to Herald Square, was a Governor of Vermont. His people were all church going, God fearing, rock ribbed in the faith of their fathers. Byron had a New England conscience as a youngster. And then he came into his money.

"That started me—too much money," he confesses. "I had an allowance of hundreds of dollars where other boys had dimes and quarters. I won the name of the 'Millionaire Kid' when a kid was exactly what I was. I was proud of that name then. I tried to live up to it. I guess I did. Anyhow, it stuck."

Young Chandler sprang on to the front pages of the newspapers when he was a freshman in college. He has been there, chronically, ever since. He owned the first automobile ever seen in Boston. Crowds waited for him outside his hotel. Cheers followed him as he bumped away in his car.

The adulation and notoriety went to his head. He began to spend, as the saying goes, like a sailor on a spree. He admits the analogy. Only a sailor's extravagances were kindergarten size compared to Chandler's. He said it with champagne, huge "parties," fifty-dollar-bill bouquets for whole choruses, "loans" to any and every good fellow who slapped him on the back and called him "Millionaire Kid." The New England conscience was stifled under a riot of exultant largesse. Broadway "got" the Governor's son.

Byron Chandler's appearance from the first was against him—or for him, as you choose to look at it. He seemed so much the perfect type of "good fellow" with his jovial face, his snappy eyes, his dapper dress. Once seen, the "Millionaire Kid" was never forgotten. Head-waiters could pick him out of a crowd of hundreds waiting for tables. So, unfortunately, could other "good fellows"—hangers on, sybarites and parasites of both sexes—and the "Millionaire Kid" was always willing to be picked out and "on."

When the check came, Byron Chandler always signed it. When a chappie was pushed for change, he could always get it from Byron Chandler. When a party lacked pep—or shekels—Byron Chandler was called on to supply both. And the "Millionaire Kid" never let down. He lived up to his title.

"Gold diggers?" asks Byron Chandler. "I wonder why they tie that name to women. The way some of my money went, my 'friends' might as well have worn a mask, shoved a gun in my side and robbed me for it. 'Good old Broadway!' The man who first wrote that into a song must have lived in Des Moines and never have been east of Chicago."

Byron Chandler has been married four times, divorced three and sued for alleged breach of promise twice. He is still married to his fourth wife, though they are now formally separated.

"My marriages, like the rest of my career, went in cycles," remarks Chandler. "Each lasted between five and six years. Each love was a totally different sort of love, but no love endured."

The first Mrs. Chandler was Miss Alice Booth, a girl living in his home town. She divorced him because of his Broadway escapades. The second Mrs. Chandler was Miss Grace Stetler, a society beauty of Brooklyn. Chandler wooed and won her in a whirlwind romance at Bermuda. But this marriage went the way of the first.

The third Mrs. Chandler was Grace La Rue, the actress.

Miss Joan Sawyer, the Famous Dancer, Who Sued the "Millionaire Kid" for $100,000 When She Was in the "Hurdy-Gurdy" Chorus, Later Withdrawing the Suit.

At about the same time he married her, Chandler, who had gone through one fortune, inherited another million or so. He took his bride to London and Paris.

There Broadway's "Millionaire Kid" started a systematic startling of Piccadilly and the Bois. His pet stunt was to drive to the race in a wine colored automobile especially made to look like an old-fashioned racing coach. With the tonneau loaded down with cheering bohemian friends, with his conspicuous wife beside him at the wheel, and with a uniformed coachman tooting a tally-ho, Chandler was in his element. Then he brought her back and starred her as an "angel."

But a few years later he was advising his friends. "Never marry an actress!" His

Luella Gear (the fourth Mrs. Chandler) was not on the stage. That was one thing, declares Chandler, that made her so attractive. He loved her because she was the exact antithesis of everything "Broadway." They were married in the autumn of 1919.

"To-day I don't know even where my wife is," admits Chandler. "We were happy for a while after we were married. And then Luella began to dabble in the theatre. She made a lot of theatrical friends—some of them, I dare say, I made for her. She wanted to 'do something.' She wanted to have a career. She began to get small parts in productions whenever she could. And the first thing I knew she was just as crazy about Broadway and the stage as I was opposed to them. After all, I had married another actress! To-day I don't know where she is. My friends tell me she joined the 'Elsie' company. I don't know anything about it except it's somewhere 'on the road.'"

And so the "Millionaire Kid" his fourth marriage smashed by the same Broadway that smashed his third and second and first, is living in seclusion, as far as possible, at a country home near New York. But occasionally he has to come to town. And then what happens?

"Everywhere I go the whisper follows me: 'That's Byron Chandler, the 'Millionaire Kid'! Every person I meet wants me on a party. Even the newsboys on the street know my face and point me out. The one thing I want is to live my own life in my own way.'" happiness with Grace La Rue was over. They were divorced, and a third ex-wife was added to Chandler's alimony list.

Mrs. Byron Chandler No. 4, Formerly Miss Luella Gear, Whose Separation from the Millionaire Kid Followed Their "Ideal" Wedding.

"They were not gold-diggers, though," Chandler insists, when he refers to his wives. "That name he prefers to apply to men. He bars it when he speaks of the breach-of-promise suits in which he was defendant."

One of these was filed by Joan Sawyer, the famous dancer, in the days when she was comparatively unknown in the chorus of "Hurdy-Gurdy." She asked the courts to award her $100,000. Chandler refused to settle for any amount, and Miss Sawyer withdrew the suit before the date set for trial.

"When I was divorced from my third wife," says Chandler, "I decided to get away from Broadway. I couldn't so long as I was single. I was still the 'Millionaire Kid.' I knew too many good fellows, had too many 'friends.' And then I met Miss Gear and was sure I would be happy with her."

How the 400 Revolted Against the "Cake Eaters"

"My dear," said a New York society matron at her daughter's debut dance early this Summer, "I don't know half the young men at my own party. I'm told there are fifty boys here who weren't asked at all!"

"Gents," said a large and brutal doorman at the last debutante ball at the Ritz-Carlton, "you'll have to show your invite cards. Nobody admitted who ain't on the list!"

And there you have the cause and effect of the latest upheaval in the Junior Four Hundred—society's rebellion against the "cake eaters."

The cause was the way the "cake eaters"—in droves—"crashed" the exclusive dances. The effect was that Mrs. H. Edward Manville, Mrs. John A. Manson and other society mothers daringly closed the doors to "crashers."

There was a time, in the memory of everybody, when it was considered most glaring bad manners to go where one wasn't invited.

But the cataclysm of 1914, which turned the whole world topsy-turvy, did not stop with uncrowning kings, slaughtering armies and wiping out nations; it yanked up conventions that had been rooted for years and smashed ideas and ideals that had endured since Caesar.

In the fever of patriotism which swept the whole country during war days, the uniform was a universal passport. No where was this truer than in New York, America's gateway to the trenches, swarming monthly with division after division of young men on their way to die for the flag.

New York society "did its bit," and its "bit" consisted largely of teas, dances, lawn fetes—entertainment of every type—to which buck privates were even more welcome than generals. They didn't have to be invited. They just went. And they had an uproarious good time. So did society.

A great many of the young men of America went to war—and came back again—with new ideas about society. They hadn't "lost their manners"; they had merely taken on new manners. They had lost a certain fear, or respect, or what you will, for old conventions. It was all right to breeze into a dance during the war, whether one had ever heard of the hostess or not. Why wasn't it all right to breeze in now? Thus entered the "cake eater crasher," and, until Mrs. H. Edward Manville, of Westchester and East Seventy-second street, threw her doorman (so to speak) into the social arena the Miss Estelle, the Debutante Daughter of Mrs. H. Edward Manville.

"cake eater crasher" had things pretty much his own way at New York dances.

Mrs. Manville is not an old resident of New York. In her own words, "We have only been here about six years. Our family has always lived in Westchester County, and my children were brought up away from the city. We did not move here until a few years before Estelle, my eldest daughter, was to make her debut."

It is believable that Mrs. Manville, accustomed to the conventions of her own community, did not approve at all of "crashers."

"It won't do," her New York friends told her. "It's impossible to keep them out. Why, my dear, the girls adore them! There's something romantic in the idea of 'crashing' to the sweet young things. I tell you, young people are different nowadays. They look on us as 'old fogies' when we get horrified at the notion of their dancing with uninvited guests."

"And, anyway," added Mrs. Manville's advisors, "it isn't so bad as it sounds. They are nearly always perfectly nice boys. They just don't happen to know you. But they know the other boys, and the other girls, and not infrequently the girls ask them without saying anything about it to the hostess. I tell you, it's the custom!"

But from other quarters Mrs. Manville heard different reports, as—

"It's not only a nuisance, but a menace. There are so many uninvited young men at some parties that it's almost impossible to dance. It's all very well to have plenty of 'stags,' but things have reached the stage where the 'stags' outnumber the girls three to one. And who are they? Heaven only knows! I tremble when I think of my daughter in the arms of some impossible boy who may be a plumber's son or—anything!"

Mrs. Manville resolved no plumbers' sons should dance with her daughter, and with that resolve uppermost in her mind she issued five hundred invitations to her now famous "Green Ball" at the Ritz-Carlton which should formally introduce Estelle to society. The word was passed among the younger set that whoever was planning to attend the "Green Ball" had better be able to identify himself at the door.

Came the night of the ball. Out of 1100 couples, runabouts and taxis tumbled the guests. Laughing and chattering, they drifted through the lobby of the Ritz toward the ballroom. At its entrance they paused—then most of them drifted on. But, as 11 o'clock approached, first one and then another black-suited figure joined a little knot of his fellows to one side.

After some discussion three spokesmen of the delegation approached the large and brutal doorman. They argued, they pleaded, they begged. The doorman shook his head. He had his orders—and his list. And not one of the "outside" young men was on the list.

At last he granted one concession. They could appeal to Mrs. Manville in person. A moment later the hostess, a glowing picture in her ball gown, appeared at the door. She counted them rapidly—fifty or more.

"I'm so sorry!" she said, and gave them her most charming smile. "I'm so sorry, but my ballroom is overcrowded now. Won't you please go?" They went.

Since Mrs. Manville's rebellion was such a success others have rallied to her flag. At Clarence H. Mackay's costume ball for his debutante daughter, Miss Katherine Mackay, all guests were required to raise their masks, and it is said that several "crashers" were gently asked to depart. Mrs. John A. Manson gave a dance for her daughter, Miss Margaret Sloane Manson, and used Mrs. Manville's plan of a printed list and a doorkeeper.

Thus far the war of Mrs. Manville and her supporters against the "cake eaters" has resulted in no casualties. But, in the words of one of them, "Engraved invitations are old fashioned. The old folks have got to succumb to new ways. And the younger generation says 'Crash!'"

Who Left the Forged Finger Prints?

Counterfeit Rubber-Stamp Impressions on Stolen Silver Have Given Scotland Yard a New Problem, the Latest

Masterpiece of Crime Camouflage

Below, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth ("Billie") Wells, Former Chorus Girl. Prints of Her Fingers Were Sought for on the Gun with Which Captain J. S. Pettit Was Shot Dead.

"FORGED finger prints!" By the exposure of this latest crime trick Scotland Yard has just solved the mystery of a baffling burglary in London—and at the same time has introduced a new problem to tax the wits of police and detective forces throughout the world.

A short time ago the Mayfair home of the Hon. Francis Lederer was burglarized while the family were on a shooting trip in the Scotch highlands. The wall safe had been rifled of jewels and a quantity of valuable silver plate had also been stolen.

The thief, in his apparent haste, had dropped a silver soup spoon under a table in the dining hall, where he had evidently sorted out the loot before "bagging" it, and on this spoon the detectives found finger prints.

"An easy case," said Scotland Yard, and it seemed that it was going to be even easier than they suspected when the enlarged and photographed prints were identified as those of a certain Joe Breuille who had previously served a term for burglary.

A "drag-net" order was telegraphed to police agencies throughout England. Scotland Yard felt that the case was closed. It had simply to fold its hands and wait.

Sure enough, in less than twenty-four hours a wire came from Liverpool, saying they had Joe Breuille safe in Walton jail.

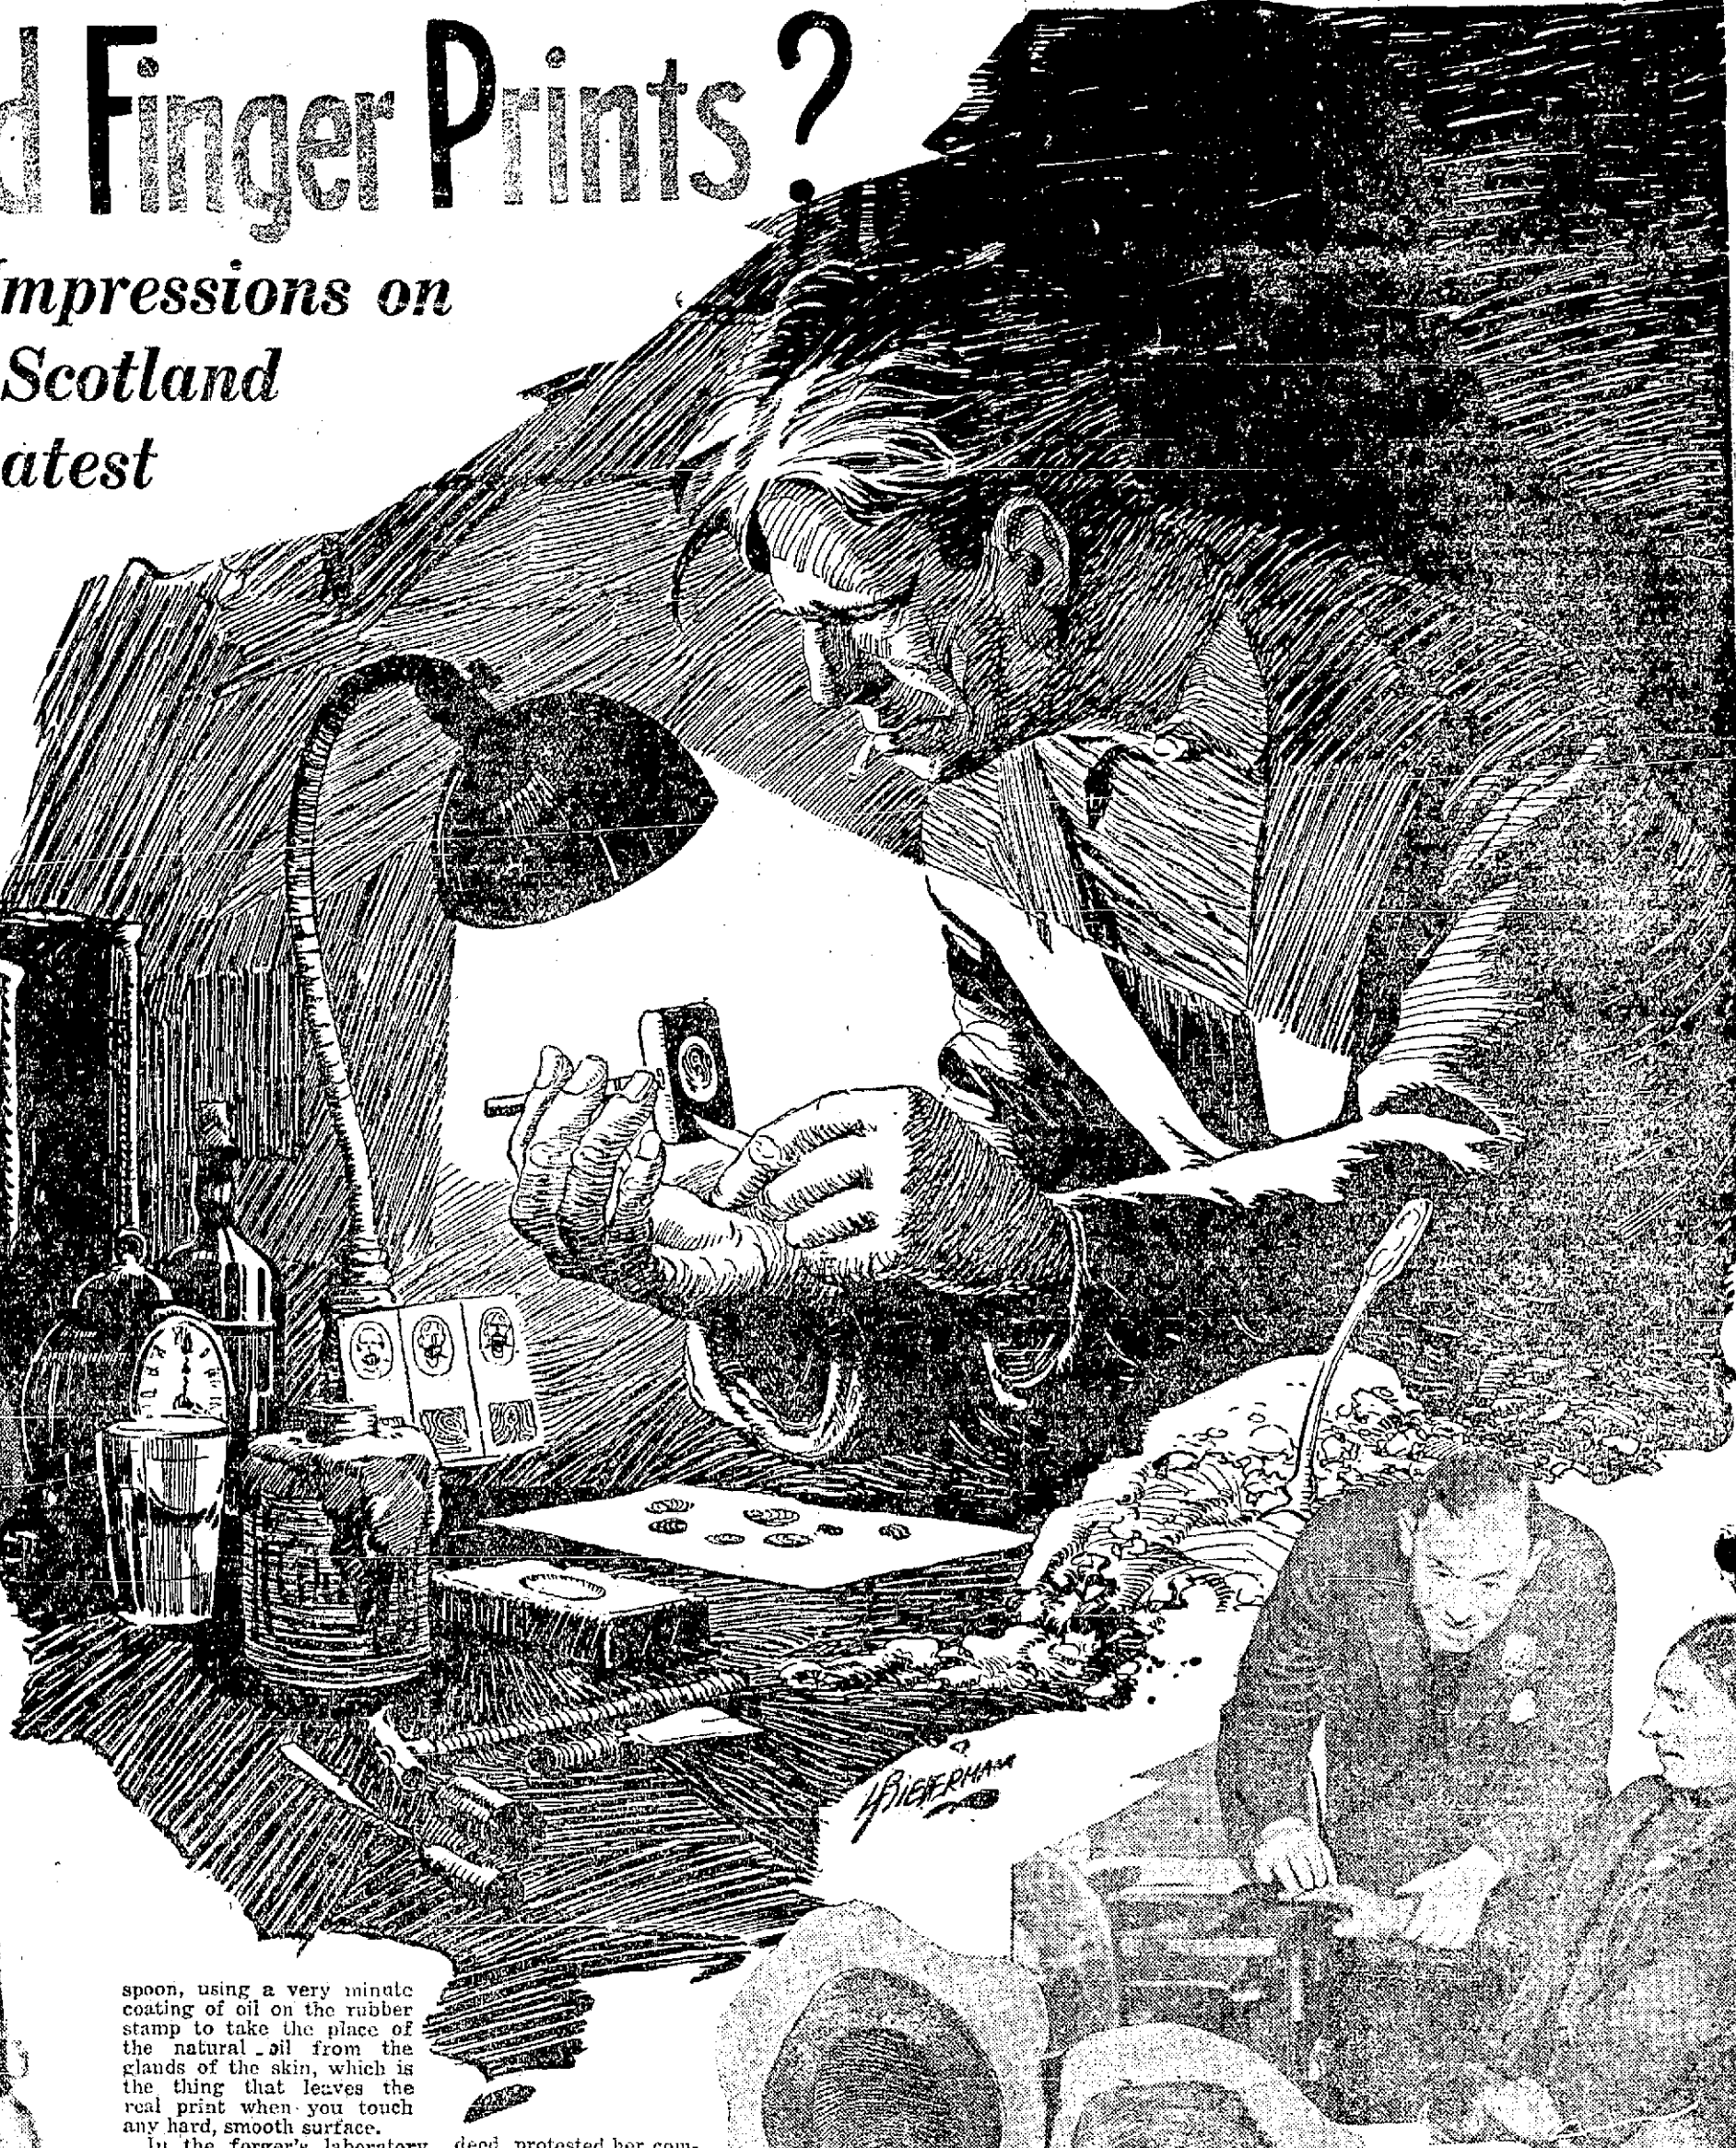

That seemed to settle it—but then came the big surprise. Further communication proved that Joe Breuille had been "gathered in" by the Liverpool "lobbies" three days before the Lederer burglary, on an entirely different charge, and that on the night the Lederer home was burglarized Breuille was under lock and key in a cell in Liverpool.

Scotland Yard was certain at first that it must be a case of mistaken identity on the part of the Liverpool police. Otherwise the thing savored of the miraculous, for it is a fixed dictum of the police the world over that "finger prints never lie." But Liverpool had the real Joe Breuille, while Scotland Yard had his real finger prints, and as Scotland Yard didn't believe in miracles its biggest brains sought a practical solution.

They finally decided that Joe Breuille's finger prints must have been "forged." They didn't yet know how it was done, but by a process of elimination they figured it was the only possible solution.

So the sleuths went out on a new scent. The trail led to the Soho den of a notorious forger, whose name, for reasons of their own, they have not yet disclosed, but they got their "man" and solved the Lederer mystery.

A group of clever thieves, working with the forger, had gotten Joe Breuille's finger prints by the simple process of inviting him into a "pub" to drink a glass of beer. These prints were "developed" and photographed by the regular process—which spoon, using a very minute coating of oil on the rubber stamp to take the place of the natural oil from the glands of the skin, which is the thing that leaves the real print when you touch any hard, smooth surface.

In the forger's laboratory they also found clay models of finger prints that were used for a different method of forgery that will be described further on.

Except for the accident that their "dupe" had a complete alibi, established by the police themselves, the real criminals would have gone scot-free and the other man would have been convicted.

The far-reaching importance of this discovery lies in the fact that it introduces an entirely new element of uncertainty into the hitherto infallible finger-print method of identifying a criminal—if he leaves finger prints.

Instead of placing complete faith in the old dictum that "finger prints never lie," the crime experts may find many a new case complicated by the question of, "Who left the forged finger prints?"

When Mary Elizabeth ("Billie") Wells, former chorus girl and beauty, was recently arrested in a Long Island suburb of New York, suspected of the murder of Captain James S. Pettit, proprietor of a road house where she acted as hostess, the newspapers reported that "the main evidence against Mrs. Wells was given by Charles H. Hansen, a finger-print expert, who had discovered finger prints, apparently a woman's, on the stock of the shotgun with which Captain Pettit had been slain."

It was not testified that they were the finger prints of Mrs. Wells (and she, indeed, protested her complete innocence), but up until this new discovery by Scotland Yard such testimony, if it were adduced, might have been advanced by the police as conclusive evidence of her guilt. But now that the possibility of forged finger prints has become a reality, complications and uncertainties might arise.

To what extent this new difficulty is a reality may be gathered from an article on the subject just published by J. C. Goodman, in a British scientific magazine, in the course of which he says:

"The forging of finger tips is increasing so rapidly that it has already become a practical rather than a merely theoretical problem with Scotland Yard."

"The criminal must first obtain specimens of prints of the dupe on whom he intends that suspicion should fall. This he does by arranging that the dupe leaves his prints on a glass, or a polished piece of furniture, or other polished surface, after which the prints are photographed."

"One method of forging involves the use of a rubber stamp, where a facsimile of the original is reproduced on the rubber by means of transfer paper, and the surrounding rubber deftly cut away with a sharp knife."

"A second, more difficult, method is to get a cast of the finger to be forged, by getting the victim to touch a mold of soft wax, plaster of paris, clay, or even soft bread. A 'positive' is then made by pouring some substance into the hardened mold."

"A third process involves rephotographing a photo of the prints on a reversed plate, clamped to a duplicate plate of chemically treated gelatine, which gives a result in bas relief which can afterward be used like the rubber stamp."

How is it that finger prints have come to be regarded as an infallible method of identification?

Simply because no two in the world are exactly alike. You may conceivably find somewhere in the world a man or woman who is your exact facial double; somewhere there are certainly a number of people who look so much like you that your own mother would be deceived by the photo. But nowhere is there any one who has the same finger prints.

Stop reading for a moment and look closely at the tip of one of your own fingers. You will see that the skin is formed of a series of little ridges, separated by grooves. It will appear to you at first that these ridges are a set of irregular concentric circles, but if you look closely you will see that some of the lines form loops, like horseshoes or part of circles, and that others form "whorls" or spirals, curving in opposite ways, like the stem of the letter S.

The possibility of complete identification lies in the fact that in all fingers the size, shape, contour and relative positions and distances of these "loops" and "whorls" are different, and that in an individual they never change.

In every big police and detective office there is an enormous card-indexed "library" of finger prints made by them of all criminals and suspects who have ever fallen into the hands of the law.

When finger prints are found on any smooth object on the scene of a crime they are "developed" by an interesting process.

At first, to the naked eye, the object on which the print has been left either shows a faint smudge or nothing at all. The utmost care is taken to keep anything from touching the surface until it is ready to be "treated." This treatment consists of spraying on it very delicately, with a dry air brush contrivance something like a bulb atomizer, a very fine, dust-like powder.

This dust-like powder is sprayed over the whole surface. The finger print, as previously explained, is originally made by the oil from the little glands in the skin. Some of the particles of the powder are caught by this oil. The others are blown away—again with a bulb, because the breath from the lips is not sufficiently regular and soft—and by repeating this many times the perfect finger print appears, outlined by the particles of powder held by the oil against the surface of contrasting color. This is then photographed and microscopically enlarged.

Experts study it and are immediately able to draw certain conclusions. Finger prints are classified by various methods, in the same way the types of faces and shapes of skulls are classified by experts in that line, and after the loops and whorls have been measured with scientific instruments and their forms charted out the search for the "owner" of that particular finger tip immediately narrows down to a small group.

If it is some one who has never been finger printed by the police, as is necessarily often the case, they are able to tell with a reasonably definite degree of certainty whether they are looking for a man or a woman, a white man or a negro, a heavy, coarse person, or one of a more refined type.

will be described later—and then the forger went to work on the new "trick."

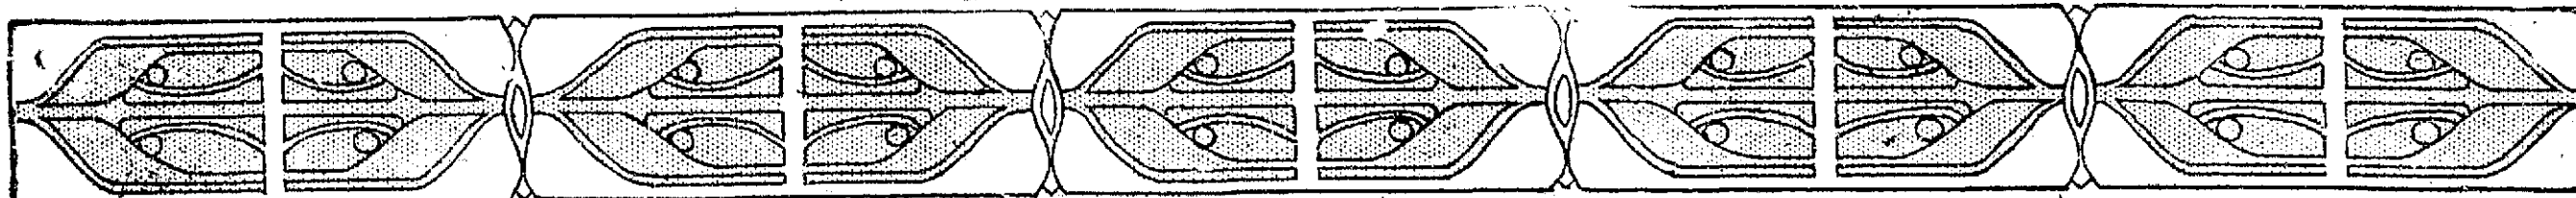

By means of transparent photographic transfer paper a facsimile of the original finger print, natural size, was transferred to the surface of any ordinary rubber stamp, such as you may have on your desk for stamping letters.

The surrounding rubber was then deftly cut away by the forger with the razor-sharp point of a knife. Equipped with this rubber stamp, the real burglars worked with gloves and then "planted" their damning evidence against the other man by "stamping" his finger print on the

LEGEND OF HOLY GRAIL FEATURE

Women's Federation Will Hear Explanation of Mural Paintings by Edwin A. Abbey, In Assembly Planned to be Held February 4

L ENTEN meeting of the Federation of Women's clubs on February 24, promises to be most interesting and unusual. "The Quest of the Holy Grail," a series of mural paintings in the Boston Public Library, by one of America's foremost artists Edwin A. Abbey, will be shown. Abbey took his sketches from the legend of the Holy Grail by Tennyson and just before undertaking the sketches he traveled through Europe assembling ideas and attended the opera "Parsifal," which was also based on the legend.

Abbey, a native of Pennsylvania, painted the famous historical mural in the capitol building at Harrisburg. He also painted scenes of the coronation of Edward VII. As a result he was knighted and is known in England as Sir Abbey. This is one of the greatest honors ever bestowed on an American artist.

He was a member of the American National Academy of Design, British Royal Academy and the National Art societies of France and Bavaria.

Mrs. Lester Pratt will tell the legend of the Holy Grail from the story by Tennyson and will explain the slides. Interspersed with the readings will be music from the opera "Parsifal."

Colored slides are being secured from the Copely Print company by the Art committee of the Federation, which includes Mrs. W. R. Daniels, chairman; Miss Martha Roby, secretary; Mrs. M. P. Colt, Mrs. Phil M. Crow, Mrs. Charles D. Gambis, Mrs. Roy B. Gregg, Mrs. W. H. Harper, Jr., Mrs. P. M. Hulsken, Mrs. L. A. Larsen, Miss Frances Moore, Mrs. Lester B. Pratt, Mrs. Charles E. Schell, Miss Edith Simpson, Mrs. E. P. Statford, Mrs. H. H. Starrett, Mrs. E. A. Williams, Jr., Miss Brumby and Mrs. Lush M. Bytler.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the American Legion will entertain with a euchre party Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock in the Legion rooms, Harper block. All friends of the legion are invited. The committee in charge includes: Mrs. L. A. Johnson, Mrs. E. I. Bailey, Mrs. H. C. Mowery, Mrs. R. B. Tolman, Mrs. Ethel Kiser, and Mrs. Harry Eger.

Monday Evening Bridge club will hold a meeting with Mrs. J. C. Atkinson, W. Springfield.

Bay View club will meet Monday afternoon with Mrs. T. P. Thomas, State-st.

The Rambler club will meet with Mrs. Frederick Thirkfield, 325 N. Washington-st., Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. R. R. Moorman, 330 S. Cullett-st., will welcome Hester Temp members at her home Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Alexander and daughter, Eileen, Lakewood-av., left Tuesday for Pasadena, Cal., where they expect to make their future home. They will visit with relatives in Topeka, Kansas and Denver enroute.

John Finley, 200 S. West-st., has gone to Florida to spend the winter months.

Opal Meckling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Meckling, 419 E. Second-st., who underwent an operation recently at the City hospital is improving.

Mrs. H. J. Munz, Calumet-st., entertained the Rambler club members at her home Wednesday evening. Mrs. Arthur Miller and Mrs. John Swenson were high among the members and Mrs. H. F. Clausung was successful among the guests.

Guests were Mrs. H. F. Clausung and Mrs. Elmer Roberts.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. J. M. Steiner, N. Elizabeth-st.

Miss Mott A. Thomas, W. Wayne-st., will entertain the Colonial club at her home Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Binkley, Faurot-av., opened their home Friday evening to the members of the Ohio Five Hundred club. Mrs. R. B. Ransbottom and Stanley Herr held high at the close of the play. Refreshments were later served.

Club members in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Mullenhour, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Ritenour, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Stanley Herr, Miss Ruth Harzog and Albert Weisner.

The next meeting will be held with Mr. and Mrs. Heri, S. Main-st.

"The Ladies' Aid and Missionary society of the Zion Lutheran church will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Mrs. Alva Spencer, 351 S. West-st.

Miss Mae Rhoades, W. Spring-st., entertained members of the "Bright light class of the First Christian church. Music and games were the diversions of the evening and at a late hour the hostess served refreshments. assisted by Miss Agnes Parkins.

Members in attendance were Mrs. Paul Krick, Catherine Callahan, Mae Rhoades, Lillian Hentze, Mary Jane Mowery, Mary Dornin and Albee Ralston. Agnes Parkins was the only guest.

The Board of the Day Nurse will hold a business meeting Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Avalanta club members will meet with Mrs. N. F. Hall, 676 W. Springfield, Tuesday afternoon.

is proof of the result of evolution. For this year's frocks, all the charming "little" that have distinguished milady's frocks for the past hundred years have been singled out, and used to good advantage to make background for the modern garment. The result is adorable. Ruffles from our grandmothers, basques from our great-grandmothers, and so on back, form fashionable features for the new gowns. With a Fanfare of Fashions NOTWITHSTANDING snow, it's time to think of Spring apparel! For, of course, no fashionable woman ever waits until the first day of Spring by the calendar to don new costumes. The sooner the smarter is her belief. That is why she will be interested in this premiere showing of Spring styles which have been assembled from fashion's foremost centers so that she might choose from authentic sources no matter how early. The mystic gorgeousness of the East modernized by the piquancy of Parisian interpretation, strikes the keynote of the new mode. Come and view this smart array if nothing more.

Inklings

Printed descriptions of indescribable frocks—some new ones just arrived in the "Frock Shop"

Sophistication--

Is portrayed in the draped mode which is well represented in flat crepe frocks, and those of figured crepes in brilliant colorings. Such as a particular black flat crepe with long drapes at right—to give a slim silhouette—with maroon sleeves embroidered in large motifs with quarter inch flat silk braid in a black color. From Peggy Paige—$45.

Youth--

Is the inspiration of the taffeta mode—well represented by a basked navy taffeta with tiny straight sleeves, bortha of gold lace and skirt hand embroidered in large flowers of navy silk floss, with gold thread centers. $29.75.

Quite out of the ordinary are the frocks of the third group. One very striking model of new one and flat crepe is soled, with a hint at sleeves—a dome round collar, and double grade. From Peggy Paige—$25.

Wraps and Suits--

Youth will choose one of the new creamy tan ulster-like sport coats if she is a sportswoman, a trim tailored costume suit, with blouse of figured crepe, if she is business-like, and a picturesque cape of deep pile fabric if she is a butterfly. New tailors, wrappy coats, and capes are submitted for the approval of the matron.

CHEESE PUDDING

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH

1 pound mild cheese
3 slightly beaten eggs
1-2 cups thin cream or top milk
2 tablespoons butter
1-2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon mustard
Few grains cayenne
Several slices buttered bread.
Line a butter baking dish with the bread, cut into strips, touching each other. Fill dish with cheese and eggs mixed with milk and seasonings. Bake 30 minutes in a hot oven and serve immediately. With light green salad, rolls and coffee, makes a delicious luncheon or supper combination.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart:

I AM a girl of 16 and lead a miserable life. I have been beaten and chased out of the house more than once.

My mother always finds fault with my friends no matter how nice they treat me. She gives me permission to go visiting and to parties, and I always get back by 10.30, yet she beats me and throws me out when I get home. She used to treat my sister that way, but now I am the one to suffer.

I am considered very good looking and behave the right way, no matter where I go. Do you think I should stand for all this beating and scolding? I would leave home, but I am afraid to do that because I am not very healthy and I know I will always need my mother's help and care. Sometimes I just sit and cry and go to bed without eating my supper or going out anywhere. Is there any place where they would treat me better?

SWEET SIXTEEN

Very seldom happens that a mother severely punishes a daughter as old as you unless she feels that she has serious cause. Are you sure you have told both sides of the case? Surely you must often be wilful or disobedient or your mother would not be so harsh with you.

You state that your friends treat you well, but you do not say that they are young people of good character. And that, doubtless, is what your mother desires your friends to be. A girl of your age should choose her friends subject to her mother's approval.

And your letter suggests that you think it is right for you to be out every evening until 10.30 o'clock. If you think that, it is not strange that you and your mother have differences of opinion. Except on special occasions you should be home before midnight.

If your mother really is unfair, appeal to your father.

Dear Miss Smart:

We live in a small city and our boys, 14 and 15 years of age, have a paper route and in the summer they mow lawns.

Through my encouragement each one decided to have a bank account, and they always divide equally what they earn. Now my husband does not consider this right. He thinks they should put their earnings into the family bank account. This is not because we need their earnings, for we don't, but for the reason that he wants to give each boy an equal start in life—give each one so much when they are ready to marry or to go into business for themselves. He thinks this better than for them to bank their own earnings.

Which do you think is the better plan to interest them in learning good business and not spendthrift?

A MOTHER.

Of the two plans you mention, the one which permits them to manage their own money, seems to me far preferable to the other. It gives them actual training in budgeting and saving. And it gives them something definite to look forward to in return for their work.

The plan you describe, however, seems to me to have one fault. That is the practice of dividing their earnings evenly. By the present plan, the younger brother at 14 will have as much money as the older one has at 21—in other words, the advantage of a two years' start.

Furthermore, this plan is not the best one, according to industry. If either is inclined to slack, he will perhaps feel free to do so, knowing that his brother's earnings will in a measure make up his losses. Let each manage all his own earnings. The competition may be good for them.

Miss Smart.

My girl always keeps her waiting when we have an engagement to lunch together. This is annoying to me, as I am very busy and seldom feel that I can take unlimited time for lunch. She has nothing special to do and there really is no reason for her being late. I care too much for her to scold about this, but I am beginning to think that she isn't reliable and will always not make luncheon engagements with me. I don't want to contend with her often. It isn't pleasant for me to look forward to. Is there any way I can break her of this?

WORRIED.

You might wait 10 minutes for her next time, then leave if she has not appeared. This plan has proved effective in other cases. If not, do not make luncheon engagements with her often.

However, if she is naturally lacking in promptness it is not likely that she will change much marriage.

Since you care for her so deeply, you doubtless will overlook this fault if you must, just as you doubtless expect her to overlook your faults.

What is the Optical Guild of America

The Optical Guild of America is an association of leading optometrists of the nation.

It is an exclusive organization—membership being solely by invitation. The purpose of the Guild is to promote the highest ideals in optical science.

When, therefore, you see the emblem of the Guild used by an institution, you know you will receive from that institution services of the following character:

1. Your eyes will be examined by a person ably trained in Optical Science, including the mathematics of refraction work and the use of modern apparatus.
2. The formula for the lenses will be computed with precision and the lenses ground under the direction of those versed in Optical Mechanics.
3. Mountings for your glasses will be designed and adjusted by one who is skilled in such work. Minute accuracy in these details has much to do with efficiency and comfort in the use of eyeglasses.

GOOD MANNERS

OFTEN it is a moot question as to who should write the first letter in the event of a separation between friends. Generally speaking, it is the one who has gone away rather than the one who remains at home. However, if the friendship is very close, there is no necessity for standing strictly on formality.

MOTHER, MOVE CHILD'S BOWELS WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels

*A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" now will quickly start liver and bowel action and in a few hours you have a well, playful child again. Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Fig Syrup" because it never fails to work the sour bile and constipation poison right out of little stomach and bowels without cramping or overacting. Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother, you must say "California." Refuse any imitation.—Adv.

CINEMA fans will be regaled with many delightful offerings the forthcoming week, each of the leading theatres having announced unusual presentations, combining famous novel adaptations and prominent stars in a bill par excellence.

The picture all Lima has been waiting for opens a week's engagement today at the Sigma theatre, it is "Oliver Twist" starring Little Jackie Coogan and including a host of other stars.

Romance, adventure and frivolity are offered in the comedy-drama "Slim Shoulders," starring Irene Castle, which appears at the Quilna theatre today and for two following days. For the last half of the week the Quilna presents "Free Air," introducing two new stars to theatre goers.

"Lights of New York," the latest William Fox special photodrama, is the Lyric's attraction for the first half of the week. Datto Taylor and Marc McDermott have leading roles. Starting Wednesday "Society of Paris" will be seen for the remainder of the week.

The Majestic offers for two days beginning today "The Storm," with House Peters and a noted cast. Tuesday and Wednesday "The Stroke of Midnight," with an all star cast, will be shown. Thursday, Friday and Saturday Garth Hughs in "The Hunch" is the weekend offering.

At the Quilna

THE Quilna introduces you this week to two pictures of extraordinary merit, one a comedy-drama of romance, adventure, fashion and frivolity in the famous Florida winter resorts with graceful and gracious Irene Castle as its chief exponent, and the other exactly the reverse, for it takes you on what is practically an auto camping trip to the glorious wilds of Glacier National Park and makes you acquainted with a couple of players that you probably never heard of before, but whose personality and ability will not soon be forgotten.

"Slim Shoulders," in which Irene Castle opens a three-day engagement this afternoon, introduces the famous international star in a series of whirlwind events. She dances, rides, swims, and wears a number of stunning wraps and gowns that will no doubt be the envy of every woman in town. The action of the story, which is written by Charles K. Harris, takes place in New York City and picturesque Palma Beach, and the picture was filmed in the exact locations described therein. The supporting cast includes such eminent players as Rod La Rocque, Warren Cook, Marie Burke, Marie Carillo, Anders Randolph and Matthew Betz. Other items on the program are the Quilna News and Aesop Fables.

In addition to a rattling good story, many exciting incidents and some of the most magnificent scenery you have ever seen, "Free Air," which comes to the Quilna on Wednesday, brings two players that you will take to your movie hearts. These are Tom Douglas and Marjorie Seaman. Douglas is a "dead ringer" for Charlie Ray in his earlier and unregarded days. As the proprietor of the Glacier Trail Garage in Montana he performs minor services for Miss Seaman and her film father, who are on their way from St. Paul to the wonders of Glacier Park. He is so smitten with the New York beauty that he follows them all the way, turning up at the right times when they are threatened with dangers and difficulties and participating in a whole of a climax. You are going to like these two fresh young players immensely, you'll like their efficient supporting cast and you'll revel in the stirring incidents of the story and the glorious scenery in which it is set. "Free Air" will be accompanied by the Quilna News, the Pathé Review and a new Christie comedy, "Twas Ever Thus," which features Viola Daniel.

The Majestic Pictures

"THE STORM," the Universal-Jewell attraction which has won widespread commendation as the outstanding screen success of the year, comes to the Majestic theatre today for a two days engagement. An all star cast, headed by House Peters, makes the screen version of Langdon McCord's world famous play an artistic triumph that holds the spectators spell-bound. Virginia Valli and Matt Moore play the chief supporting roles.

With the action of the storm laid in the northern Canadian woods, exceptional opportunities were offered for intense dramatic scenes and Director Reginald Barker took full advantage of each chance to build up the suspense element. The forest fire scene in which the flames sweep along in leaps and spurts is magnificent and exceeds the thrilling mechanical forest fires given in the stage presentation.

Peters plays the part of Burr, the stage characterization of which was in the hands of Edward Arnold, one of the most noted actors of the day while Miss Valli has the part in which Helen Mackellar made such a striking success. Those who fail to see the stage play will find in the film the identical story that took New York by storm.

Photoplay critics in New York, Chicago and other metropolitan cities have been unanimous in their praise of the greatness of this Universal-Jewell production.

The Lyric Pictures

"LIGHTS OF NEW YORK," the latest William Fox special photodrama, which opens a three day engagement at the Lyric theatre today, is a graphic study of conditions in the great city that are daily enacted among its millions of men and women. The author has not put in a special plea for any individual class of persons, but he has opened several pages of metropolitan life and permitted his audience to see things as they really are.

The author turns the searchlight of his keen understanding of human nature upon both sides of life as it is lived in New York City. One of the unique episodes of the story deals with the average metropolitan family life, the temptations and evil influences which the youth of New York must meet and overcome. Clarence Nordstrom, a juvenile of exceptional ability, portrays the role of the young chap whose reckless dash down the wrong path leads him into difficulties which the average American youth, away from the big city, seldom encounters.

Another episode of the story opens at a bachelor dinner held on the eve of the wedding of a youthful scion of one of New York's wealthiest families. The failure of one of the invited guests to attend the dinner left only thirteen at the table, and inasmuch as the host was inclined to fear the result of the unlucky number, it was decided that the entire group of guests should go to the door and invite the first person who passed to take the place of the missing guest.

The first one to pass was an old man and he was prevailed upon to fill the empty chair. Under the influence of the bright lights and friendly spirit of the crowd, he was induced to tell a story. What he tells, which is the true story of his life, provides a drama of unique interest. It is a story of strange adventure, of good luck and bad, of the highlights and shadows of "Lights of New York."

This character is enacted by Marc McDermott and he has never done anything with greater artistic finish in his long histrionic career. "Lights of New York" was directed by Charles J. Brabin.

"OLIVER TWIST" SEEN AS "MILESTONE ON HIGHWAY OF ART"

OPENING TODAY AT THE SIGMA

Jackie Coogan, Star Child Actor, and Galaxy of Favorites
in Cast

HERALDED as a "milestone on the highway of art" and one which bears the highest recommendations in its own right, is the picture "Oliver Twist," starring that adorable child actor of the screen, Jackie Coogan. It will appear at the Sigma for the first time today and for the remainder of the week.

The picture is described as the most ambitious in which the juvenile star, Jackie Coogan, has ever appeared, and in it he has registered an appeal that strikes the hearts of young and old and of all classes of picture patrons as well as those who are not usually enticed to the theatre. It is the appeal of innocent boyhood, the medium of one of the greatest stories ever penned—Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist."

You all know the plot of the story, which has been followed with unusual fidelity and the characterizations will satisfy the most enthusiastic of Dickens' readers. Lon Chaney's characterization of the role of Fagin will add laurels even to that much and honorably bedecked actor. Many will claim it to be his most vivid and imaginative creation. Gladys Brockwell, Lionel Belmore and a host of other favorites will be seen in the cast.

According to Frank Lloyd, reproduction of the scenes in "Field Lane" are photographically accurate. It was in this disreputable quarter of London that Oliver Twist was held captive by Fagin and his evil band. This place still exists, although much of the wickedness rampant there in Dickens' time had been wiped out. But the landmarks remain, and any student of Dickens' works will find them and identify them beyond any shadow of doubt.

Frank Lloyd prepared the script of the story from the novel and directed the production. Mr. Lloyd is perhaps the best posted director in Dickens' lore. He has made a thorough study of Dickens, and has put into screen form several of his greatest works, principal among which, until "Oliver Twist" was "Tale of Two Cities," starring William Farnum.

The Rialto Pictures

EDWARD (Hoey) Gibson comes to the screen of the Rialto today in "Kindled Courage," the story of a boy everyone that was a coward, and who actually believed it himself. One thing that makes him realize that he isn't naturally a coward is a great which is said to be one of the most amusing and entertaining incidents ever seen in a Universal picture starring Gibson.

Opposite Gibson will be seen, pretty Beatrice Burnham, leading actress of many Universal attractions of a year or so ago, who returned to the scene of her first training to play the role of Harold Goodwin, promising juvenile leading man who has an important role in the all-star screen version of Booth Tarkington's "The Fifth Hour" plays the secondary role of "Kindled Courage."

MUSICAL HIT ON ORPHEUM BOARDS

HOYT'S Musical Revue, heralded as the musical comedy event of the year, begins its week's engagement at the New Orpheum theatre today matinee.

For its opening play, Hoyt's Revue will present a big song and dance revue entitled "Spice of New York," a musical comedy in many scenes produced with unique and novel scenery, wardrobe and electrical effects.

"Spice of New York" has all the elements of a good musical play, a funny book with laughs galore, excellent lyrics, a tuneful music score, a talented production and novel costumes.

Each individual member of the cast of Hoyt's Revue is afforded exceptional opportunity for the display of his or her talents in "Spice of New York." Lew Brem, as comedian, never lets a laugh elude him and the offering is replete with good, wholesome comedy. Miss Alice Melvin, Frank Soper, George Brown, Peggy Walsh, Bob Akerman, Fred Wheaton, Bob Roby and Madeline Boland all are at their best in this opening show of the engagement.

There will be three reserved shows today starting promptly at 2:30, 7:30 and 9:15. Manager Shaw announces special arrangements for his out of town patrons. Entire change of program Thursday with the same company.

KEITH BILL IS ONE OF MERIT

Five acts of unusual calibre have been corralled by Manager Clark to please patrons for the first half of the coming week. Without exception, the acts are of superior merit, presenting several notables.

The Werner Amoros Trio will offer a musical divertissement and comedy in a novel method of presentation. All are artists of ability with a thorough European training and experience that few acts of their kind enjoy.

A decided touch of artistry will be added to the bill by the presence of David Quilna, famous Spanish haritone, who recently appeared as a soloist of the Cincinnati symphony orchestra. Aside from orchestra and concert appearances, he has added to his fame by appearing in "The Hotel Mouse", "Look Who's Here", "Princess Pat" and "Going Up". With numerous popular ballads in his repertoire, Quilna will be heard with some Spanish numbers, which he will render while attired in full dress of his native country. Frank West will accompany at the piano.

The two Ramsdells, brother and sister, and Miss Deyo, combined, will make up a dance act that is unusually colorful and clever. All are highly trained and expert in their steps; they have handsome costumes and effects and their presentation is one of note.

Browne and Le Velle, the well-known young juvenile and former screen and stage stars have joined partnership in a new offering this season. They will present "Izzatso," an original comedy oddity with music. Miss Le Velle is a comedienne of renown, having played opposite Charlie Chaplin in several of his comedies. Mr. Brown is a clever musician, while talent he exhibits in his act with Miss Le Velle.

Niobe, America's Aquatic Marvel, is the mermaid of this age. In her huge glass aquarium she disports herself like one of the flimsy tribe, doing many things under water that even a fish never attempts. While under water she talks and her voice is quite audible to the audience. Niobe is remarkable both from a scientific and amusement point of view.

"As a whole the Faurot's scintillating program should prove a fine entertainment for theatre goers who like good, high class vaudeville.

K. P. MINSTREL

More than 100 people will participate in the Pythian Minstrel Follies which will be presented at Faurot Opera House February 13 and 14.

It is announced to comprise the most beautiful scenic effects and wardrobe ever used in a local production and is headed by that peer of all local minstrel performers, J. W. Beal. A splendid cast consisting of local talent has been assembled for the attraction.

PURE OIL TO HAVE NEW HOME

Company Completes Plans Saturday For Erection of Buildings

TO BUILD MORE STATIONS

Will Be Able To Handle 35 Cars Of Gas Weekly At New Plant

To take care of the rapidly increasing business, The Pure Oil Company, now with temporary headquarters at E. Kibby-st and the B. & O. tracks, is completing plans for a fine new home to be erected at St. Metcalf-st and the Erie tracks. Here also will be located, beside the general offices, garage, and a drive-in filling station, the company's storage tanks.

This announcement was made Saturday night by A. W. Butler, local manager, who had just completed a conference with E. L. Hager, construction engineer for the company. Plans are now in the hands of Ora Green and the Lima construction company for the erection of the buildings and putting in the storage tanks. The property will be ready for occupancy about June 1.

There will be four storage tanks of 2,000 barrels capacity each; four of 500 barrel each and four of 400 barrels each, with additional room for ten more tanks.

Facilities are arranged here for taking care of thirty-five cars of oil and gas a week.

The property is to be terraced three feet above the sidewalk, with concrete floorings to the nearest building, forty feet away. The three foot embankment will be graded and flowered with the company's name.

All of the buildings will be of brick construction.

There will be a warehouse 60x100 feet, with a garage built in addition 50x150 feet, where storage is provided for fifteen trucks and the garage work shop. In front there will be bookkeeper's office 20x20 feet and a private office of the same dimensions.

Plans are now being completed for the erection of five more filling stations. The company now operates two stations, one at Central and E. Market-st and one at Pierce and Market-sts.

CLEANUP WORK OF OHIO BONUS BEGUN

COLUMBUS — "Cleanup" squads from the state bonus department, sent out to dispose of unpaid veterans bonus claims, will be on the job at Cleveland and Cincinnati next week.

Bonus Director Roberts and Assistant Director Kane, accompanied by three examiners, will be in Cleveland Monday to start the "cleanup" work there. Roberts expects to stay there until Thursday when he will take a similar force to Cincinnati. Examiners in Cleveland will have headquarters at the courthouse and will be in charge of Assistant Director Kane after Roberts' departure. Claim Examiner John Yoakum will have charge at Cincinnati.

Bonus department to date has paid 156,000 claims totalling $26,100,000, according to figures given out Saturday.

DORT CLOSED CAR IS POPULAR

Local Distributor Tells About "Yale" Model's Big Sale

When the enclosed automobile first made its appearance on the market, it was available only to those whose purses were deep and fat.

Today 22 per cent of all automobiles built are closed cars. And the percentage is growing rapidly.

When a good thing, a thing of comfort and delight appears the whole American people wants it. And wanting it, they set about to get it.

"It was this spirit of 'There's nothing-too-good-for-an-American' that led the Dort Motor Car company a year ago to start production on its Yale models—enclosed cars at little more than open car cost," said Dan Harpster, local Dort distributor, while discussing the rising percentage of closed car sales.

"There is nothing particularly unusual about the success of these Yale models," he continued, "Americans all want enclosed cars. The Dort merely builds models that combine closed car comfort with moderate price, so that folks who cannot afford higher priced cars may still buy coupes and sedans. "And people have bought them. Twenty per cent of Dort production during the 1922 season was on Yale models. The closed car production percentage of the whole industry scarcely exceeds this. Counting production of Dort Harvard models the Dort company during the season of 1922 sold 30 per cent of closed cars and this is expected to reach 40 per cent in 1923."

ITS AGAINST THE LAW
LONDON — Henry Stearn, 62, has been charged with making false statements to secure a license to wed his stepdaughter, contrary to British law. Stearn told police it was the dying request of his wife, her mother.

BIG INCREASE IN PRODUCTION

With an increase of 100 per cent over December production and more than 375 per cent increase over January of 1922, the output of Paige and Jewett motor cars reached a new peak in January, according to reports received from the Paige factory by D. R. Huber of Huber Auto Sales, local Paige and Jewett dealers.

"To appreciate fully what an achievement this means," says Mr. Huber, "it must be remembered that this radical stepping-up of production was made in midwinter at a time when ordinarily automobile sales are at their lowest point. Furthermore, the factory reports show more than 1000 unfilled January orders on hand which must be held over for January shipment."

This extraordinary manufacturing activity is the most reliable evidence that the Jewett has made a permanent place for itself in the market, for demand is only a reflection of broad public acceptance and a ready sale.

"With more than 25,000 Jewett owners giving daily demonstrations the performing qualities of this car and testifying to its economy and dependability, we have every reason to believe that we will sell double the number of Jewetts this year that were sold in 1922. This is entirely aside from the Jewett Specials we expect to market for the three new models have made a most favorable impression wherever they have been exhibited at the shows. In this city as in every locality, a surprising number of buyers have that these Jewett Specials offer exactly what they want—cars that are distinctive in appearance and complete to the last detail in modern equipment, yet moderate in price."

FORD DISPLAY IS INTERESTING

One of Oldest and Newest Models Are Now in Lima

A STORY OF FORD TRAVELS

When Man Plans Long Trip He Takes His Family in Ford

Demonstrating the greatness of the Ford car output and the rapidity with which this car has spread to every nook and corner of the world, a special showing has been arranged by the Timmerman Motor Sales Company, authorized Ford, Fordson and Lincoln dealers for Lima and vicinity.

In this display is one of the very first cars manufactured by the Ford Motor Company, car No. 176 and one of the latest models, car No. 7,000, 1916, a four-door Ford sedan.

"I'll get you there and I'll get you back," is the tune of the Ford motor as it hums over the roads, good, bad and indifferent, whether it be in Lima or the wilds of India.

In a narrative issued in the interests of good roads, a Ford story is told, according to L. B. Timmerman, head of the local Ford agency, that should interest every prospective car buyer. Here it is.

The National Highways Association has issued a booklet, "Ford or Pullman," in the interest of national road development which tells of a man who, long planning a trip to the magnetic West, sees his dream materialize when he packs his family into the Ford and starts the journey which was only financially possible in this manner. Following are excerpts from the booklet.

"Been planning it for years," announced Smith. "Never could see my way clear before. But this summer I am taking Friend Wife and the kid and lass, and we are going to the Yellowstone and the Grand Canyon and Los Angeles and San Francisco and up through Seattle and back through Glacier and see something of this America of ours."

"Wish I could do it," answered Jones, enviously. "You must have a whole lot of bank role to face all that railroad fare. Let's see—that's about 10,000 miles. At three cents a mile that's $1,200, just for transportation."

"Who said anything about railroad fare? Railroads are for people who have plenty of money and no time. I have some time, and not much money."

"I don't see how you could afford it," replied Jones. "But how are you going to manage?"

"You're right. I can't afford railroad fare. But I can afford the distance," replied Smith. "I'm going to motor my way across the continent and back."

The Ford is simple, easy to understand, light in weight, "motorfool proof."

The Ford wiggles through mud that would stop a heavier car, and goes up hills that stall its bigger brethren. It can and does run the churn, cut the hay, pull the harrow, pump the water and take the children to school. It couldn't do all these things if it wasn't sturdy. Now it must be perfectly evident to any one who has either driven or followed a Ford that it will go over—perhaps one should say through—roads which other cars of even greater weight cannot negotiate. But it must also be obvious to any one that 6,000 miles from tires and 20 miles to the gallon of gas do not come from running over or thru mud-holes, ruts, stonepiles, collection of thank-you-ma'ams, cow-tracks and stream beds, mislabeled roads.

When National Highways and good roads everywhere are a fact we can motor from Maine to California, from Seattle to Florida, from the Gulf to Canada, at less than a cent a mile per person and with more fund and wholesome enjoyment than was ever packed in the best Pullman car ever made!

"When National Highways and

STUDEBAKER SIZE STUPENDOUS

Growth Of Auto Concern From Small Shop To One-of Largest

Seventy-one years ago the name Studebaker stood for a small cross-roads blacksmith shop equipped with two forges and with a capital of $68. Just how enormously this business has grown and spread out since then is shown by the following facts which indicate the huge scale of Studebaker operations today:

The present actual net assets are $2,000,000. The Studebaker plants located in South Bend, Ind., Detroit, Mich., and Walkerville, Ont., are the second largest in the world. They cover 225 acres; the buildings contain 7,100,000 square feet of active floor space, and the investment amounts to $41,000,000.

Inventories of raw material, work in progress, and finished goods amount to $20,000,000. Research and experimental laboratories, unsurpassed in the industry, employ one hundred and twenty-five skilled men. 506,000 tests are made annually in these laboratories.

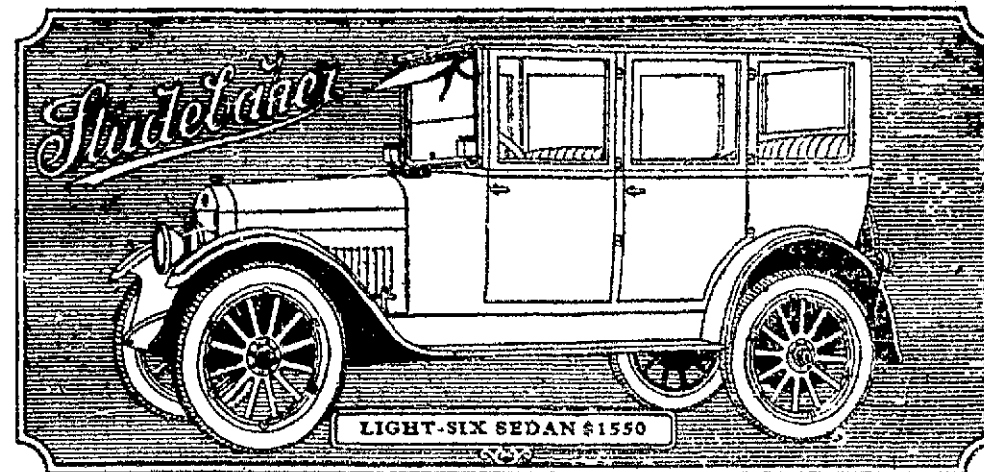

Twelve thousand five hundred machines are used in 500 manufacturing departments. Twenty thousand people are employed, and the annual payroll is $25,000,000.

In the manufacture of the three models of Studebaker cars, 1,120 mechanical operations are accurate to one-thousandth of an inch, and 360 to one-half thousandth of an inch.

One thousand inspectors are employed in the plants; and 30,000 inspections are made during manufacture before cars are passed for delivery.

One hundred and fifty tons of castings are made daily in Studebaker foundries. Some of the annual requirements include 115,000 tons of steel, 185,000 cubic feet of gas, and 7,000,000 gallons of fuel oil used in heat treating and in the drop forge furnaces.

More than 600,000 Studebaker cars valued at $300,000,000 have been produced and sold in all parts of the world.

There is no Substitute for Quality

Automobile bodies, like houses, may be either strong, sturdy and durable, or light, flimsy and weak. Like houses, good bodies are expensive, and make-shifts are cheap. Prices influence sales of automobiles, as they do of houses, but highest quality and lowest price are possible in neither.

There is no substitute for quality.

To cheapen quality of materials, construction and finish is not Studebaker policy. A makeshift product is fatal to permanent success. Studebaker bodies are built to withstand for many years the exposure and use to which an automobile is subjected. Better bodies are not built by any manufacturer nor borne by any chassis. Studebaker's reputation is at stake in body building.

Studebaker body plants at South Bend, Indiana, alone contain 2,700,000 square feet of floor space, represent the investment of $7,000,000, employ 5,000 people, and are the largest body plants owned and operated by any individual manufacturer in the industry. They are, we believe, as experienced and as competent to build good bodies at minimum costs as any plants in existence. Buyers of Studebaker cars get the benefit of this investment, experience and economy.

The broad principle upon which Studebaker business has prospered for seventy-one years, and upon which it is now conducted, insures satisfaction to everybody who deals with the House of Studebaker.

The name STUDEBAKER is your best protection, as it is our greatest asset.

MORE TIME ON WAR DEBTS URGED

Course Advocated by International Trade Commission

HELD ESSENTIAL TO PEACE

Europe Declared on Verge of Armed Conflict

PHILADELPHIA. — (United Press) — "Moratorium" and "amortization." These are the two words that contain the solution of the world's problems, according to the report of the International Trade Commission, which organization spent three months in Europe surveying the economic and business conditions abroad.

"Notwithstanding the treaty of Versailles and the low economic status of European nations, Europe is more nearly on the verge of military conflict than at any period immediately preceding the world war," the report says. "Unless some solution of the problems is reached prior to the expiration of the six-months' period, the condition in Europe will be infinitely worse."

"The fundamental problem is that of the settlement of the war debts and reparations. The settlement cannot be handled piecemeal but must include all parties to international financial obligations. America, as a creditor nation to the amount of ten billion dollars, must secure interest, must see that its interests are protected."

"France and Belgium have their entire program of reconstruction and rehabilitation and the return of exchange to an approximate normal status, upon German reparation payments. They say 'Germany must pay.'"

"Germany with its gold and securities of value out of the country with apparent financial collapse, boldly claims that the treaty of Versailles may be amended, that Germany may be free to compute economically with other countries of the world and claims that Germany cannot pay anything like the sum demanded—not at all, until she is free to export."

HOLLAND WITH GERMANY
"Holland as a neutral observer agrees that Germany cannot pay and plainly says that the economic future of Holland is bound up with the fate of Germany. They say if Germany succeeds, Holland will prosper; if Germany fails, Holland will fail."

"Italy has more nearly balanced her budget and England has balanced hers. These nations do not maintain that their economic future is dependent upon German reparation."

"If a settlement is reached, and settlement must be reached if the peace of the world is to be restored and guaranteed, then two basic considerations must be accepted:

"1. America cannot cancel the debts of the nations, but all nations must ultimately pay their obligations with dignity and honor."

"2. The world war is ended and while hate and anger is still in the hearts of many, the settlement between nations formerly belligerent must be on a basis of mutual respect and consideration.

"Two words contain the solution of the world's problems in this hour of unhappiness and chaotic uncertainty. They are 'moratorium' and 'amortization.' Let no nation ask for its debts to be forgiven; only for time and patient consideration. Amendments to the Treaty of Versailles must be agreed upon giving Germany the opportunity of free competition economically with all nations and France and Germany must have guarantees of freedom from molestation and military attack. MUST HAVE MORE TIME

"A moratorium of a long and absolutely definite period must be accepted. If America acts a creditor nation to the nations of Europe, the result would be disastrous and if the former Allies attempt to force the defeated nations beyond the ability to pay, it would inevitably lead to armed conflict."

"The nations must agree around a table, to an amortization scheme of settlement. America might generously agree to reduce the interest a little lower than four and a quarter per cent and permit one-half of one per cent of the interest agreed upon to go to amortize the loan of ten billion dollars and thus with the payment of the interest and amortization annually, the debts would be paid. It is evident that twenty-five years is altogether too brief a period to amortize debts."

"The American farmer, who under the Federal Farm Loan Act gets his loan for thirty-four and a half years, understands this principle and Germany, the country that achieved most in building internal economic power prior to the world war, accomplished the result by application of the amortization principle. Germany should be given the same opportunity to amortize the reparations as is extended to the countries of Europe by the United States and England in the settlement of the international war debts. Close study of European finances indicates the need for a long amortization period and a low annual payment. It is the principle and not the rate that offers the solution."

"The Commission in its study included Great Britain, France, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland and Italy."

GOLDEN WEDDING EVENT OF DELPHOS COUPLE TO BE CELEBRATED IN LIMA

Golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fremont C. Laing, E. Fourth-st., Delphos, will be observed Tuesday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Thomas D. McLaughlin, S. McLaughlin-st., Lima, Tuesday.

Fremont C. and Inez Rummals Laing were married at East Otto, N.Y., Feb. 5, 1873, by Rev. E. Milward, Methodist minister, at the home of Mrs. Laing's father, W. C. Rummals, in presence of relatives and friends of both families.

Laing was a merchant for 20 years in East Otto and also served as postmaster. For the last 30 years he has been in the real estate business. They have resided in Delphos 13 years, moving there from Lima. They have two children, Cecil D. Laing, Delphos, and Mrs. Thomas D. McLaughlin, Lima.

The honored couple, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil D. Laing and Mrs. Gardner Coughlin, who is visiting in Delphos at present, will be in attendance at the McLaughlin home.

KENTUCKY TOWER UNDER GUARD

SOLDIERS PATROL STREETS

Residents Are Warned To Remain In Their Homes

CORBIN, Ky. — (United Press) — Machine gunners patrolled Corbin Saturday night.

Mayor John Gilliam issued a statement, warning residents to stay off the streets and retire early. "We do not know at what moment the flames of a serious riot may sweep the community," the mayor said.

"It is best to stay at home." A machine gun squadron of national guard-men was rushed here by Governor Morrow Saturday on request of Mayor Gilliam and Sheriff Young.

Feeling is running high as a result of killing Tuesday of a Louisville and Nashville Railroad switchman and a special policeman, the mayor and sheriff reported to Governor Morrow.

The L. & N. employees resented investigation by a trio of special police, it is said, and opened fire. One of the police and one of the surviving railroad employees are at liberty under bond, charged with participating in the battle.

LIVES ENDANGERED
The special police have been stationed here since two persons were seriously injured and a score of lives endangered recently when a railroad rooming house was dynamited.

"Last Tuesday's shooting brings to a head an undercurrent of unhealthful feeling that has sorely threatened this community since the shopmen's strike last summer," Sheriff Young said.

"The special police started resigning and we need protection. I think the one squadron of machine gunners is a square, altho of course, that is up to Governor Morrow now."

Mayor Gilliam refused to make public his reasons for believing a crisis is at hand.

"It would defeat our efforts to preserve peace, if I told you tonight," he said.

Gilliam indicated he had received numerous anonymous warnings of contemplated violence against persons accused of the dynamiting and recent shooting. He said he had made his reasons known to the governor.

DANGER LURKS IN HANDSHAKE

County Healthier Says It Spreads Influenza Germs

"Don't shake hands." This is the warning issued Saturday by J. J. Sutter, Allen-co. health commissioner against spreading influenza.

Sutter says 42 per cent of all deaths from pneumonia occur during the first three months of the year. The peak is reached about the middle of March, he declares. danger of death from pneumonia at this time of the year is six times as great as in mid-summer.

Pneumonia germs are found in many healthy persons, but they are not affected by the disease until some condition develops which lowers the vital resistance.

Deaths from pneumonia usually occur in the extremes of life, persons over 60 years of age or under six years, Sutter added.

In giving advice on how to combat the disease, the health commissioner said: "Persons with colds should be urged to remain at home, preferably in bed, and if the cold does not clear up quickly a physician should be called. No person who has had influenza should return to work or otherwise expose himself until he has regained his full strength."

DECREES ARE WON BY TWO WIVES

Neglect Charged To Husbands Impels Court To Action

Two divorce decrees were granted in common pleas court Saturday to wives who had become estranged from their mates. Neglect by the husband was the complaint made in each instance.

Mrs. Olga Surratt obtained a divorce and the custody of little Margie, 18 months, after she had related to the court an account of James P. Surratt's alleged negligence.

Surratt married her at Huntington, W. Va., April 1, 1921. He is now at Water Gap, Ky., the wife declared.

During their brief marital experience, the defendant did not contribute toward her support, or that of the child, she told.

Testimony showing that Clarence Eugene Dohm, inmate of the Mansfield reformatory, had neglected to provide for Olive Ruth Dohm, 119 E. Eureka-st., won her a decree.

She was awarded the care and custody of her daughter, Evelyn.

Why You Get a Good Car When You Buy a Huber Auto Sales Used Car---

Our most valuable asset is the good will of our customers. Some of them buy new Paige and Jewett cars, others used cars of one make or another. But they are all our customers and it would be folly to jeopardize their good will by making anything but true representations in selling used cars.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

Farm For Exchange

A customer of ours owns an 80 acre farm about 8 miles north of Lima, on main road; extra good soil with a good set of farm buildings; orchard and small fruit. Wants to exchange it for 30 to 50 acres cheap land, poor or no buildings preferred, no matter how rough, as he wants it exclusively for pasture land; he will carry back a mortgage on his farm up to $100 per acre; farm he trades for must not be more than 20 miles from West Cairo any direction; for full information call at

HIGH LEVELS HELD BY STOCKS

Market Strong Despite Disturbed Conditions Abroad

OUTLOOK IS ENCOURAGING

Many Favorable Developments Shown in Week's Review

NEW YORK.—(United Press).—The stock market Saturday closed the week in the upper area of the territory through which it has been swinging back and forth for the past two months. Not since the rise of prices during the recent holidays have stocks reached the good levels that they had reached Saturday.

As the week's trading closes Saturday there was interest as to whether the market will continue its upward course or swing back again. If it does go on upward, it will be taken as a sure sign that business, despite the events at Lamsanne and in the Ruhr, has overcome somewhat at least its attitude of hesitation. If it turns downward, it will mean that the market is still hesitant swinging first this way and then that until it sees some light in the situation abroad.

FAVORABLE DEVELOPMENT There were plenty of favorable developments to justify the market's upward swing at the close of the week. There was the debt settlement with Great Britain, which now awaits only the approval of congress; better news from the Ruhr; the statement of Judge Gary that he looked for continued good steel business, January business review which emphasized that the first month of 1923 had been free from the usual season slump and figures for car loadings which showed them at a record for this time of year.

These events, it was felt, that conditions at home are of the best. Unless the debt settlement is considered part of the foreign situation, developments abroad are far from the same character. The most cheerful things in the cables are reports that attempts are going on in secret to affect agreement between the German and French on reparations.

The present upward course of foreign exchange is the only thing furnishing support for such reports.

PRODUCE REVIEW

The value of cold storage to the producers of the country is still being shown in a report of the United States Department of Commerce and Labor, issued on January 29. Commenting on conditions in Mexico, the report says that approximately forty carloads of eggs a month were shipped into Mexico City during 1922.

The logical explanation for the increasing demand for storage eggs is underproduction and lack of storage facilities," the report says. "Mexico has no produce storage warehouses and cannot conserve its excess production of eggs in the season of generous productivity for distribution when production is extremely light."

The value of the cold storage warehouse in the United States, however, has never been fully appreciated, but its value to the industry is shown during the early spring months when there is such a tremendous excess over consumptive requirements of eggs, the surplus being stored for use later in the year, when production is extremely light.

Receipts of eggs at the principal markets of the country indicate that production is increasing over a vast area and prices are lower, both in consuming and shipping centers.

Due to favorable weather conditions and larger flocks of fowl on the farm, increased receipts are looked for, with gradual settlements of prices until they reach a storage basis.

During the week, one of the occasional abrupt declines in the butter market occurred. The Chicago Market on 90 scores Standards was quoted at 43 1-2c on February 2, as compared with 48 cents a week ago.

In our two previous reviews, we called attention to the comparison of values this year and last.

With more butter reaching the market than was being consumed, it was inevitable that some adjustment would occur to stimulate the demand from the consuming trade. Production is larger than last year by at least 20 per cent, and more than makes up for the decrease in storage stocks.

So far, the receipts of both live and dressed poultry resting at the four great markets have been heavier than last year.

The U. S. Dept. of Agriculture in a report of February 1, shows stocks of poultry in storage as follows, in Chicago, New York, Boston and Philadelphia:

This Year 83,290,000 lbs. Last Year 71,858,000 lbs.

Excess 11,432,000 lbs.

The market trend indicates lighter receipts as the young roosters are pretty well marketed, and on account of egg production, fowl are being held back for the laying season. The lighter movement, if continued, will probably result in higher prices being made at country collecting points.

JULY WHEAT GOES UP TO $1.13

Advance Follows Early Set Back—Market Steady at Close

CHICAGO.—With a cold wave overspreading the winter crop belt and with temperature around zero in the southwest, wheat averaged a little higher in price Saturday during the early dealings.

However, and the continued unsettled foreign political situation counted against a decided advance. May delivery was relatively weak, as compared with other months. The opening which varied from unchanged figures to 5-8 higher with May $1.18 1-8 to 1.18 1-4 and July $1.13 1-8 to 1.14 1-4 was followed by something of a sag for May and a maintenance of strength in July and September.

Corn and oats were firmer with wheat. After opening 1-8 off to 1-8 at 1-4 higher, May 74 1-4 to 74 1-2, the corn market scored slight general gains.

Oats started unchanged to 1-8 up, May 44 7-8 and later hardened a little more.

Provisions reflected firmness of hog and cattle markets.

The wheat close was steady at the same as Friday's finish to 1-2c higher, with May $1.18 to 1.18 1-8 and July $1.13 to 1.13 1-8.

Corn prices closed unsettled at 1-1 net decline to a shade advance with May 74 3-8 to 74 1-2.

VAL OF PARADISE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GO ON WITH THE STORY

These strangers came in unostentatiously and stood in a bunch, somewhat close together. There were nine of them, all clad in good garments, the best that money could buy in a wider market than the rangeland owned. Their soft fine boots were stitched in colors, their hats were very wide and ornamented with much silver after the fashion of their kind across the line.

They stood quietly and watched the dancers, and in their midst stood one who was of a different mold. Tall, slim, fine of feature and form, smiling, his reckless face a-sparkle with the joy of youth in music and motion, this man was not so guardedly alert, and he carried his hat in his hand. Thick black hair waved back from a handsome brow, white with the bleach of the sweatband, sign manual of him who rides much in the sun.

His blue eyes under their black lashes roved over the dancers with a bright bold glance. As the couples drifted out again Lola Sanchez, a living flower in her black and scarlet, came down the room in the arms of a big blond boy, her small face upturned, her coquette's heart playing the old game in her dusky eyes.

And then—the boy swung her past the door and she looked up full into the smiling face of the stranger.

"Velantrie!" she breathed to herself.

"What?" asked the boy, but she did not hear.

From that moment she forgot him utterly.

When the dance ended Lola stopped, as if by accident—some thing about the tiny slipper that encased her light foot—bent and straightened it—close by the door.

As she rose, quick as a willow, she released, she looked into Velantrie's eyes and her own were eloquent.

"What?" she murmured in Spanish, so low that none but he could hear the soft word.

"Who's the chap by the door?" the blond boy asked suspiciously, but Lola looked up innocently.

"A little one," she asked, and the boy smiled.

The newcomers did not dance. They had come because Velantrie gave the word, because he chose to look upon Santa Leandra at her merry-making, and that was all.

Velantrie did not dance either. There was none whom he knew upon the floor save and except the small girl who called him master, and he only smiled with amusement as he watched her.

But Lola Sanchez's quick little brain was working and she meant to change that very soon. Therefore she sent the least of her followers, a sleek brown Mexican, mottled with the cream, to whisper something in the fiddler's ear.

And then the music stopped, the fiddler drifted to the benches, and the fiddler was tuning his fiddle to another key.

He tucked the fiddle in his neck and began abruptly to play—and no one called this new beautiful music it was Spanish to the core.

It drifted and swung and at regular intervals there came a thrum of the bass that sounded like the stroke of a foot upon the floor. And then, softly, swiftly, like a leaf before a wind, Lola Sanchez came drifting down the floor alone. From somewhere as if by magic she had drawn a pair of castanets, and these began to snap and tick as her hands rose above her head.

Ah, she was a beautiful thing!

the figure gracefully toward the far side of the floor, directly before the blond boy, and she was utterly irresistible. Butterflies in the breeze, stars that glittered, fires at night—she was all of them, and men's pulses throbbed drunkenly to behold her.

And then, as the music rose to one last keening, she fled straight to Velantrie, sank backward in his reaching arm, and held up her flower face toward him, unmistakable in its intent its invitation.

Half under her spell the man hesitated a fraction of a second. The perfect action of the steps and the music lost its first beat, in that second's wait. Lola's face glowed deeper and Velantrie bent.

"By—" came a choking whisper as the blond boy, gray as ashes and cold, reached to his hip.

There was a flash of metal, a step forward—and in that second Val Hannon beside him dropped a lightning-quick hand on his shoulder and swung him round in action—as she had so often swung her dad. There was an oath, a shot that went wild and landed in Hunnewell's tray on the platform's edge across the room, and Velantrie, arrested halfway to Lola's siren lips, looked straight past the boy and into the blazing black eyes of the girl who had saved his life.

For one sharp moment the tension held.

Then Velantrie slowly straightened up and Lola slipped from his arm, forgotten as she had forgotten the blond boy. He stood still, breathing hard, his blue eyes fastened on Val's face, a frown between them.

From all sides men crowded in, pushed between and hustled the boy away, while from the other side of the room Velantrie's followers came like a bolt, solid packed, their faces aflame, and keen, their hands on their guns, ready.

"Steady, boys," said Velantrie, "there's nothing wrong."

Then he made one stride to Val, reached out a hand and smiled. It was the brilliant lighting of his face, like fire behind a curtain, that was his chiefest charm.

"I've had many a close call," he said simply, "and have done some sharp tricks to beat them myself, but I never saw a prettier piece of work quick action—they were like a man, a keen man, used to desperate chances, and I never saw a woman before who could think and act like that. If you know me," he finished frankly, "perhaps you would not take my hand. But I want to thank you."

Gravely Val looked full into his brilliant eyes. The light and the laughter of the earlier night were gone from her face, why she could not have told to save her life, yet it was not because of the near tragedy, that she knew.

"Yes," she said as simply, "I will take your hand."

And her firm brown fingers closed around his in a strong clasp. The smile died on the man's face and he looked into her for another long moment.

Then he loosed her hand and turned away.

"I shall not forget," he said. Instantly his men closed about him, they marched across the floor among the crowd which fell back from them, filed compactly out the door and were gone.

The celebration was over in Santa Leandra. Dim shapes rode thru the dust and cool starlight that presaged the dawn, and the denizens of the rangeland scattered for another year.

It was mid-morning when the rodeo into Paradise, and far off Val shaded her eyes with her hand and searched the familiar place.

"Boys," she said at last, "there's something wrong at home. The riders are all in and hanging around the corral. There's dad—he's waiting for us."

There was something wrong at Paradise, indeed.

John Hannon met them at the corner of the great house and his face bore signs of strain. His dark eyes were cold and narrow.

SHAVINGS

Waynesville of Anecdotes About with Mrs. Hume, Folks

Ray, it is the funniest experience that ever happened to me. I wrote it out briefly, and it is to the Short Blue line editor of The Lima News. The best contributed short shavings published in the week. The News will pay $1. Full names and address must be signed.

Melba Brown, 1175 S. Central, tells that a friend of her father's like to boast about his possessions.

"One day," she writes, "the boaster was telling about twin girls he possessed. He said, 'They look so much alike you can't tell them apart, except that one is a year older than the other.'"

Audrey Reams, Adm. R. D. 2, tells that Mr. and Mrs. Bacon were riding in an auto owned by a friend. He drove very rapidly. Seeing a train approaching, he said, "I'll bet I can beat the train to the crossing." The car sped along at top speed and one of the occupants grabbed the rear door to open it, preparing to jump. He said, "I don't care a darn who wins, just so it isn't a tie!"

Dale McPherson, 235 Garfield, tells that one day his mother prepared fish for dinner. She cut off the fins and tails and placed them on the rear porch, for the cat.

Betty, aged five, and her little playmate came in. Irene said to Betty, "What is that?" Betty, who thought Irene very dense, answered, "Don't you know what that are? They're fish feathers."

Pat Waters, 700 E. Market-st., tells that on a certain occasion a family of his acquaintance had a large company for Easter dinner. They served a very elaborate menu, including deviled eggs. Little Betty spoke up and said, "Mamma, will you please pass me those go-devil eggs?"

Pauline Bowman, 335 N. Jameson, writes that after an absence of several weeks from Sunday school her little niece, aged four, went to her mother and said, "If I don't go to Sunday school pretty soon, I'll forget all about my Jesus things."

Berdie Wilson, 224 N. Union-st., was talking about dancing and remarked to a dignified elderly woman that she "liked to dance to three o'clock in the morning."

The woman threw up her hands and exclaimed, "Dance at three o'clock in the morning! What is the world coming to?"

Her consternation was somewhat allayed when she was informed "Three O'clock in the Morning" was the name of the waltz.

Voneta Lewis, 338 N. Jackson-st., tells about a woman who went into a store and asked to see misses' coats.

The saleswoman informed her that Mrs. Coats was no longer employed there.

G. P. Becker, Spencerville, relates an incident in which his son was concerned. The boy, then aged seven, was visiting in the country at the home of his uncle during the holidays.

They had just butchered a calf and were amateurs at the job. One of the members of the family said, "We did pretty well for green-horns."

The boy noticed in a pen another calf. He asked, "When are you going to kill the other greenhorn?"

Miss Martha Partch tells about a little girl who had been playing at the home of a neighbor and was stung by a bee. She ran home crying and said to her mother, "Oh mamma, I stung myself on a bee!"

Miss Margaret Jones, of Gomer, tells that recently it was announced by radio that John McCormick would sing "Three O'clock in the Morning." "Our good doctor," Miss Jones adds, "who is not known to clean, on returning home from a call at three o'clock in the morning, parked himself comfortably to listen to the concert. But John was snoring instead of singing at that hour."

Alice Katherine Hiltner, Venetia, tells that one afternoon her sister was engaged in making artificial flowers. Her little brother came in and asked her to go out and play with him. Seeing her at work, he was disappointed.

"What does she want with those things?" he inquired.

He was told that they were to be used in beautifying the living room. An old bouquet was being revamped.

"What's the matter with that one?" the boy inquired.

It was explained that they had been used for three years and that they were old and shabby.

"I am nine years old," he said, "and I don't look that bad."

LeRoy Wilson, Venetia, R. D. 2, tells that his uncle once asked a colored man if he had ever stolen out on a dark night to get a chicken for his Sunday dinner and found the hen house full of bear traps, spring guns and bull dogs.

"No sir, boss," the colored man replied, "but I do have a 'spicience' just as bad as that."

"How so?" he was asked.

"Well, sah, one time I done married a widder woman for her money!"

Gertrude Link, 575 Haller-st., says that a friend was a visitor in Cleveland for the week-end and while strolling about, his eyes alighted on a sign on the side of a building, something like this, "Do not kill your wife, let us do the dirty work."

He investigated, and found it was a laundry sign.

Mrs. Ida A. Justice, 216 N. Elizabeth-st., tells about a little boy of four who had accompanied his mother to the home of his uncle, a minister.

They were seated at the table and the minister said grace, "Bless this food to our bodies' use," he repeated.

The little chap waited a few moments and then whispered to his mother, "Why did he say bless the goose? There isn't any on the table."

Gladys Link, 575 W. Haller-st., tells that she was returning home from church one evening with a friend, and that frogs were croaking in a nearby pond.

"Hear the crickets," remarked a boy who was passing with a party of friends.

Katherine James, 608 E. North-st., tells about little Mary, who was a pupil in the first grade at school. One day the teacher tried to impress upon the children the lesson of the Bible which says that "If a man sues you on the right cheek, turn to him the left."

When Mary returned to her home she endeavored to tell her mother about it and said, "If a man strikes you on the right cheek, slap him on the left."

Mrs. Clem Crow, 328 S. Baxton-st., had a telephone installed in her home and it was placed on the table in the dining room.

One night after her husband had retired the telephone bell rang and her husband went to the dining room to answer. He picked up what he thought was the receiver. He got no answer. Then he discovered that he was holding a long stemmed glass to his ear.
